50 OF CREW LOST GRIPPE ABATING

American Steamer Herman Frisch, Manned by Navy Crew, Is Sunk

Had Cargo of Supplies for Overseas—In Collision With Another Vessel

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The American steamer Herman Frisch, a small cargo carrier, manned by a navy crew and in the overseas supply service, has been sunk in collision at sea, with a loss of probably 50 of her crew.

The vessel collided at night with the American tank steamer George G. Henry, about 150 miles southeast of the Nova Scotia coast, and went down in seven minutes. She carried a crew of about 13 officers and 76 men, and survivors reported number only 41.

Sinking of the American steamer Herman Frisch, as a result of collision with the American steamer George G. Henry was announced today by the navy department.

The collision occurred at sea several hundred miles off the American coast in latitude 44°06 north and longitude 64°38 west. First reports to the department gave few details. The Henry had her bow crushed but after standing by all night to pick up survivors, resumed her voyage.

Both vessels were cargo carriers in army supply transport service. The Frisch was a ship of about 4000 tons gross, carrying a crew of about 90 officers and men, and the Henry is a tanker. Since only 41 of the Frisch's crew are accounted for, it is feared there was heavy loss of life.

Doctors Reported 127 Cases Today as Against 233 Cases Reported Yesterday

No Services Sunday in Protestant Churches—Funeral Gatherings Discouraged

Lowell doctors reported 127 new cases of influenza at the office of the board of health up to noon today, bringing the total to date to 2798. Thirteen more deaths were reported, making a total of 88.

All the same hour yesterday 233 new cases had been reported and for that reason indications point to a decline in the epidemic. The authorities believe that continued cold weather will have a salutary effect on the disease.

With the exception of brief services in the Catholic churches the city will be closed down tight Sunday. The Lowell federation of churches voted last evening to recommend that all the churches which are members of the organization which includes practically all the Protestant churches of the city—omit all services on Sunday.

Continued Progress in Liberty Loan Drive Is Reported Today

BillERICA Car Shop Employees Subscribe $35,000 to Campaign Fund

Subscriptions aggregating $35,000 from the employees of the Boston & Maine car shops in BillERICA featured today's Liberty loan activities as reported by the local banks.

Canvassers spent the greater part of yesterday at the big shops and when the result of their work was figured out today the above substantial sum was obtained. There is still more to come from this source, it is understood.

In Lowell itself no particularly large subscriptions were reported by the banks but the usual steady stream of small bond purchases was accentuated by the week-end pay day subscriptions of industrial workers.

Several of the towns made their initial reports today. BillERICA has subscribed $39,000 to the loan so far; her quota is $195,000. Chelmsford has raised $75,350 to date out of a quota of $275,000. Groton reported this morning that she had attained $12,050 of her quota of $200,000.

Lowell herself is well on toward the $4,000,000 mark, the figure reported at the closing of business last evening being $3,826,050. A few large purchases will soon push this beyond the $4,000,000 mark.

In the Towns

Dunstable is the first town of the North Middlesex county to go over the top by securing its quota. Frank Hanchett of this town subscribed the committee quota alone when he purchased $55,000 worth of bonds. In Dunstable this, $2200 had been subscribed from other sources, making the town's total to date $27,200. It will receive an honor flag as soon as it enlarges its number of subscribers to 10 per cent of the population. To date only 10 people have subscribed.

The standing of the towns of the northern half of the county who were ready to make reports last evening is as follows:

Action	$35,100
Burlington	3,900
Carlisle	2,000
Dracut	18,000
Dunstable	27,200
Littleton	36,400
North Reading	5,400
Pepperell	11,150
Reading	12,900
Tewksbury	26,350
Tyngsboro	5,100
Wilmington	55,550

Large Subscriptions
Several large subscriptions which were made in Boston and later credited to Lowell were reported last night. The Massachusetts Mohair Plush Co. subscribed for $50,000, the Saco-Lowell shops for $25,000 and the Boston Mutual Life Insurance Co. for $50,000. The United States Bunting Co. employees have subscribed $15,000.

From Lens Northward and From Rheims Eastward to the Argonne, the Allies Continue to Bend Back German Flanks in Smashing Attacks—Great Gains Are Reported Everywhere

(By The Associated Press)
Northeast of St. Quentin the British today are reported as fighting in the open country beyond the Hindenburg line after having pushed ahead five miles since Monday. From Lens northward and from Rheims eastward to the Argonne, the allies continue to bend back the German flanks in smashing attacks.

Bitter German Resistance
The breach driven through the German defenses south of Beaurevoir is on a front of five miles. To the north the British are plunging forward east and southeast from Le Cateau while on the south the French are attacking successfully between Sequehart and Ledins. The German resistance is bitter, but there has been no letup in the strong allied pressure.

In the fighting in this area Thursday, Field Marshal Haig's men captured 400 prisoners.

try northeast of St. Quentin and the cavalry and tanks pouring through the breach, the German positions about Cambrai and Laon will become most precarious. Through the opening in the line Marshal Foch would be able to throw troops to take both Cambrai and Laon in the rear.

Retirement in Lille Salient

There are no indications that the Germans have halted their retirement in the Lille salient. The enemy is still several miles west of the Deule canal which runs from north of Arras northward to the north of Lens and which probably will form part of the German defense system before Lille. It is not probable the Germans will give up Lille without heavy fighting.

Americans in Big Smash

Around Rheims and east of the Sulpice General Berthelot and Gouraud are drawing closer the sides of the German salient east of Rheims. American troops have joined the French in their operations east of the Sulpice and have assisted in the advance northwest of Somme-Py, capturing the strong positions of Blanc Mont and the Moeuch farm. Further east the French have taken Orfeuil and Belmont Chateau. North of Rheims, the French are working their way across the Aisne canal. It would seem that unless the Germans withdraw from the Champagne salient they are in danger of being caught in a trap between the armies of Berthelot and Gouraud.

Austrians in Retreat

FIX CLOTHING PRICES

Chairman Baruch Announces
Plan to National Dry
Goods Men

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Prices and distribution of practically all articles of wearing apparel are to be controlled by the war industries board. Regulations issued prescribing certain fixed prices for shoes constituted only the first step in a general policy for price control of clothing.

This was disclosed yesterday by Chairman Baruch of the board in an address at a special meeting of the National Retail Dry Goods association. Referring to the putting into effect of the agreement between the board and the shoe industry, Mr. Baruch said:

"After that will have to come the regulation and distribution of most all of the things which you gentlemen have to deal with. I don't want you to say it can't be done, because it must be done. It is unthinkable that only the man with the longest pocketbook can get the things that he needs."

The dry goods retailers were called upon by Chairman Baruch to take the product of "the manufacturer, who, to some extent, has his prices regulated and limited amounts allocated to him," with the determination to distribute it "in some fair and equitable way, seeing that, as far as possible, each individual gets his share and gets it at a price that is fair."

Normal Profits "Fair Price"

"When it comes to the question of a fair price," Mr. Baruch continued, "that is very difficult to answer. I should say, roughly, that a fair price is a price something like the normal profits in normal times. I know you will all say that these are abnormal times. They are, and we have got to do abnormal and new things."

atives be named to confer with the war industries board in matters of distribution and price control, the association appointed a war service committee composed of William Mann, Chi-

Tilley, Philadelphia; S. W. Rayburn,
New York; F. H. Rike, Dayton, O.; Oscar L. Webber, Detroit, and Francis Kilduff, La Salle, Ill.

Though no details of the plan to be followed in controlling clothing prices have been announced by the board, it is believed that the general policy adopted in fixing the prices of shoes will be followed. Standard prices for standard grades of men's and women's suits, hats and other articles of clothing probably will be established by agreement with manufacturers and retailers.

More Details of Shoe Plan

By the agreement reached by the board and the shoe industry, additional details of which were made public yesterday, the program and styles of shoes under the regulated price plan will conform to that announced by the board in June, whereby both styles and colors were restricted. A number of manufacturers already have started work on the standardized grades. To prevent loss to manufacturers of high-priced shoes, the agreement provides that shoes retailing for more than $12, the maximum price fixed, which already have been manufactured, may be sold until June 1, 1919. After that date it will be impossible to buy ready-made shoes for more than $12. For loose shoes of the type usually worn in the summer months the maximum price will be $11.

Prices of children's shoes which were no announced yesterday will be as follows:
For the Class A, or highest grade, boys', misses' and youths', $6.50 to $7 and $8; little girls', $5 to $6; infants', $4 to $5, and babies, $2 to $3.50. For the medium and low-priced grades in the four divisions the prices will be accordingly.

U. S. SOLDIERS ARE
HARVESTING CROP

CAMP DIX, Wrightston, N. J., Oct. 4.
—The soldiers are harvesting the crop from the 300-acre demonstration garden planted last spring by the national war garden commission. They are counting 300,000 ears of sweet corn and 450,000 pounds of potatoes as well as weighing 481,000 pounds of hay and measuring up 60,000 pounds of string beans.

The soldier-farmers gave a harvest luncheon, Lieut. Bonner took great pride in showing a field of broom corn from which the reclamation service will make about 2000 brooms. Ask Mrs. Housewife if this is important and she will say yes for brooms are now over the dollar mark at the corner store.

Indications here are that the war department will do big things next year now that this demonstration garden has "made good" with a crop valued at

FRENCH SOLDIER THE MOST UN-

BEHIND THE ALLIED LINES, Oct.
4.—Even though suffering, French soldiers emerging from the ether in the numberous hospitals to the rear have never been known to fail to bestow upon the operating surgeon the French offer of thanks by a sentimental
"Merci."

American physicians have been astonished at the amazing regularity with which the poilus show their gratitude for their services. After the most painful undertakings and the most critical operations, the "Merci" is never forgotten when the soldiers of France
"come to."

"The poilu is an exception when it comes to undergoing medical and surgical treatment," said an American physician. "He is the most uncomplaining and in the same degree the most thankful patient in the hospitals."

65 CENTS AN HOUR FOR LONGSHOREMEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Forty-five thousand longshoremen in New York, Baltimore, Boston, Norfolk and Newport News were granted an eight-hour day, an increase of 15 cents an hour for regular day work and an increase of 25 cents an hour for overtime by a decision of the national labor adjustment commission made public here late yesterday.

The decision, which affects only longshore labor in connection with transatlantic vessels and cargo repair men, and which is made effective as of Oct.
1, denies to the longshoremen their demands for $1 an hour with a 25-hour rate for overtime. They will receive 65 cents an hour for regular day work and $1 an hour for overtime.

Regular work was defined as that done between 8 a. m. and noon on weekdays and between 1 and 5 p. m. on all weekdays but Saturday.

The decision also provides that the men shall be hired in regular gangs before 5 p. m. Saturday, when ordered out for work beginning Sunday morning, and that when men so ordered out do not begin work, except when they refuse because of weather conditions, they shall be paid for two hours at the prevailing rate.

It was also ordered that all differentials in rates of pay and all other terms and conditions at the port named shall be maintained according to agreements now in force.
It was announced that a decision affecting longshoremen serving coastwise vessels would be made public tomorrow when demands of checkers for an eight-hour day and an increase from $3.75 to $6 a day would also be decided.

Longshoremen engaged in overseas shiploading at the port of Boston are disappointed with the wage findings of the commission, but are pleased with the granting of the basic 8-hour day, which is a reduction of one hour from their present work day shift.

HUN RESERVES

Kaiser Hurls General Reserves Into Great Battle on St. Quentin Front

Fierce Counter Attack Fail to Halt Advance of the Allied Armies

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Germany is now throwing in general reserves into the battle on the St. Quentin front. This accounts for the stiffening resistance there and also along the German left flank and marks the beginning of the last phase of the great battle.

Notwithstanding violent counter attacks by the enemy, the allies continue to make gains which although local are none the less important, as they have a cumulative effect on the center of the line.

British armies commanded by General Byng and General Rawlinson continue to press the enemy hard. General Debeney, east of St. Quentin, is slowly pushing the Germans back toward the upper Oise valley. General Berthelot is continuing his advance north of Rheims and has now occupied the whole Aisne line from Vailly to Berry-au-Bac.

Principal interest along the front to the east centers about the operations conducted by General Gouraud in the Champagne sector. Reinforced by the Americans, he has pushed forward until he is now within six miles of Vouziers junction, a base of great importance and is 25 miles from the great railroads connecting the German army with Germany. He is also solidly established at Chalange, which assures eventual junction with the Americans on the other side of Argonne forest. He has added 3000 to the 12,000 prisoners taken since Sept. 26.

Better still are the results along the northern sectors of the battle front. The German retreat over a 17-mile line in the Armentieres section was accelerated yesterday. The enemy is now well east of Armentieres and Lens and the mining region of Bethune is completely cleared.

KEEP HUNS ON THE RUN

Feeling That Foch Will Not Permit Enemy to Rest This Winter

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES IN FRANCE, Oct. 4.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Marshal Foch is the only man who knows just what move he is planning for tomorrow or next week or next month, but there is growing in the fighting armies a feeling that the German is not going to be permitted to rest this winter.

Fight in good weather and dig in for bad has become almost an accepted principle in this war. Men trained in the theory of war prior to 1914 and in its practice since have agreed every year to the uselessness of attempting to drive the enemy from its trenches once the rain and sleet and snow set in, but there are indications that the initiative taken by the allies in July will be retained regardless of bad weather.

If Marshal Foch calls upon his army groups to continue jumping at the Germans they will and they will do it as they did in the early part of the war for, in addition to the reinforcement that America has provided, there is a spirit revived. The French are fighting with a confidence restored and the British are going in with greater en-

Cannot Speak Too Highly of This Remedy

Mrs. Maxfield of Rochester, N. H., Tells How She Built Up Her Blood After Years of Sickness

Many women who have thin blood and whose nerves are unstrung complain of a sensation around the heart that they describe as "smothering." It is an alarming symptom of anemia, or thin blood, and disappears when the blood is built up, as is shown in the following case:

Mrs. E. W. Maxfield of No. 51 Chestnut street, Rochester, N. H., had a general decline in her health due to overwork. She was under a physician's care but received no lasting help until she used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mrs. Maxfield says: "I had a general breakdown several years ago and thought I would never get over it. I was dragging around, tired all the time and fainting often. My stomach was affected and my heart fluttered so that it would nearly choke me."

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me by a friend who had been helped by them. After I had taken three boxes I could see an improvement, my strength returned and my general health was better. They have given the remedy to my son and it has entirely corrected a nervous twitching to which he was subject."

Debility is not a disease of any one organ. It is a general condition of weakness. It must be met by a remedy whose good results will be quickly generalized throughout the entire system. In fact, it must be corrected by building up the blood which, when rich and red, carries renewed health and strength to every part of the body.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic, not a stimulant. They build up the blood and have transformed thousands of sick, grouchy, irritable, tired and nervous people into active, energetic, capable, efficient men and women. They will help you too.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Price 60 cents. Write to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free book on the blood.—Adv.

Mitchell Does the Biggest Business in the History of His Lowell Store

SPECIAL

Experienced Coat Maker and Pressman Wanted—Highest wages for eight-hour day. Steady employment. Apply to foreman, Mr. Andrew Barbers.

In a stupendous rush of old customers, who know I always gave them the goods at low prices, at the same time I demonstrate to an unbelievable rush of new customers that I never carried better goods in the days when goods were known to be lower in price. That I am still standing pat on my old prices, when all around me boldly announce they are compelled to raise prices.

The most wonderful display of classic woollens in Lowell. Hundreds of bolts piled up to the store ceiling, of the most varied assortment of costly, exclusive styles.

The man who always pays $40 to $50 for his suitings or overcoatings will see in my store today, goods that he will admit his $40 tailor is short of today.

Doctors, lawyers, mill men and store men—all crowd elbows in my store these days, for styles they can't seem to get in old quarters during this woolen pinch, while prosperous merchants walk into my store and say to my boys: "Measure me for one of those 16 oz. heavy weight blue serge worsteds at the old price."

Come in—Get aboard this mighty rush.

I'll show you goods that rival Fifth Ave.

in its prime. I'll show you prices that equal my balmy bargain days. I'll show you business that proves Mitchell must thusiasm than had been apparent for many months. They are not merely "carrying on." They are slashing away like one does when he knows there is another one right by his side hitting just as hard.

The Germans are not exhausted. They are not so badly fed. Their clothing is not bad and they probably have plenty of ammunition notwithstanding the enormous stores they have abandoned. But there is something wrong and men who have commanded troops in the recent Franco-American-British offensives are inclined to believe it is the realization by the people of Germany of the hopelessness of keeping up the fight against a foe who obviously is growing stronger instead of weaker.

German newspapers, official and semi-official documents and private letters that occasionally come to the hands of the allied troops no longer contain sneers regarding the American assistance. It is recognized that the American army cannot be disposed of so easily.

Austrians Retreat Continued

large naval center in the Adriatic, that at Pola, although the port of Fiume may be used for this purpose.

Austrians in Dire Straits

The attack comes at a time when the Austrians in southern Albania are in dire straits after losing their support lines eastward through Macedonia. Italian troops launched an offensive there on Tuesday. Military operations may now be begun along the northern Albanian coast on the rear of the retreating Austrians and the situation holds large possibilities.

Germans Continue Retreat

German armies which have been holding the front from Lens to Armentieres are in retreat, and are hurriedly abandoning the region south of the Lys river, where they were in danger of envelopment. This retreat seems to have uncovered the important city of Lille and will probably make imperative a withdrawal all the way down the line in front of Arras.

To Abandon Ostend

North of the wedge driven into the German lines by the Anglo-Belgian drive there are no indications of a retreat as yet, although military critics believe that the Germans hold on Ostend will be short lived. Now that Roulers is virtually in the hands of the allies.

Plunging Through Hindenburg Line

Smashing against the German line, east of St. Quentin, Field Marshal

Haig's army plunged through the east line of the formidable Hindenburg system yesterday. This assault seems to have been a blow at a vital spot in the enemy's defense. Terrific efforts made by the Germans to halt the British were fruitless. British cavalry and tanks reached the open country back of the enemy's front.

Further successes at this point would shake the whole German line from Douai to Rheims. The enemy, so far as known, has no other positions in that region as formidable as those captured during the last week by the allies. Directly behind this front are railroads which are vital to the enemy forces fighting further to the south.

French Advance on Rheims

Near Rheims, General Berthelot's army has made new progress and the time seems not far distant when the city will be freed from German artillery for the first time since 1914. This advance by the French had a close relation to that of the British around St. Quentin, as well as on operations further east in Champagne. Some military experts believe that this drive is of greater strategical value than any other now going on in France.

French Success in Champagne

General Gouraud's army in Champagne has at last cleared the western gate of Grandpre gap, which runs north of the Argonne forest. Chalange has been taken and the Germans west of that village have been forced to give more ground.

East of the Argonne forest, the American forces facing the Kriemhild-Steeling line appear to be held up by the desperate defense of the enemy. This may be only temporary, however, as the nature of the country has made it difficult to move up heavy artillery.

The Sun prints the news of the world when it is news and only such news as is fit to print. It is a clean family newspaper.

BURNING VILLAGES MARKED

TRAIL OF RETREATING BULGARIANS

SALONIKI, Thursday, Oct. 4.—Burning villages marked the trail of the retreating Bulgarian army in Macedonia, according to telegrams received here from the front. Bodies of slain civilians were found in the smoking ruins at many places by the advancing allies. Advice state that this work of destruction surpassed even that which has been reported from districts in France and Belgium from which the Germans have been driven.

KAISER SENT MILITARY MISSION TO SOFIA

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Emperor William sent a military mission to Sofia as soon as the situation there was reported to him, according to the Neuesten Nachrichten of Munich. This mission, it is said, has placed German and Austrian troops at strategic points along the principal Bulgarian railways. Bulgarian deserters reached a point within six miles of Sofia, according to a Zurich despatch to the Journal, but were driven back by Bulgarian contingents.

ALLIED WARSHIPS LEVEL

AUSTRIAN NAVAL BASE

ROME, Oct. 4.—American, British and Italian warships have destroyed the Austrian naval base at Durazzo and the warships anchored there, according to an announcement made by Premier Orlando.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—In the leveling of the fortifications and depots at Durazzo Wednesday, the entire squadron, according to a Central News despatch from Rome, destroyed much material for the Austrian army in Albania.

ADVANCES FOR FRENCH AND AMERICANS IN CHAMPAINE

PARIS, Oct. 4.—French troops in the St. Quentin region have advanced east of Lesdins, says the war office statement today.

North and northwest of Rheims, the French have increased their gains somewhat and improved their positions in the region of Betheny.

American and French troops in Champagne have made further advances northwest of Blanc Mont and Meudon farm.

BRITISH PUSH ON AND TAKE MORE HUN PRISONERS

LONDON, Oct. 4.—British forces pursuing the retreating Germans in the Lens region, have reached the railway east of Lens. Field Marshal Haig announced in his official statement today. To the southeast the British have made progress between Oppy and Mericourt.

More than 4000 prisoners were taken yesterday by the British in their operations north of St. Quentin.

The point of the British wedge in the region north of St. Quentin had been pushed at the end of yesterday's fighting to the high ground a mile northeast of Sequehart. The British are holding this ground, having repulsed a counter attack.

WAS FOUND DEAD

William King, a native of Cape Town, South Africa, was found dead in a room at the old St. James hotel, 513 Middlesex street, late yesterday afternoon. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker Peter H. Savage.

Dr. T. B. Smith, medical examiner, viewed the body and he attributed death to pneumonia brought about by influenza. Very little is known of the man outside that his name is William King and that last year he paid a poll tax in a New Hampshire town. He was about 28 years of age.

URIC ACID IN THE SYSTEM

BY LEE H. SMITH, M. D.

Uric acid is now generally recognized as the cause of more diseases than was heretofore believed. When the kidneys are out of order uric acid accumulates within the body in super abundance. The disordered kidneys do not filter the poisons out of the blood, as they ought to do, and so the poisons remain in the blood and float around until they find a place to lodge, in form of urate salts. The thing to remember is that you may have rheumatism in any part of the body—you may have pains anywhere—your back may ache and your head may be dizzy—but the trouble is not where the pain appears. The trouble is in the kidneys, and what is the first thing to do? You must get that excess uric acid out of your system, which can be done by taking Anuric Tablets, the splendid remedy which Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has put on sale in the drug stores at a low price. Anuric Tablets (made double strength), when taken into the system as medicine, have the peculiar power of dissolving the uric acid deposited there. Drop a bit of sugar or salt into hot water, and it will disappear. In precisely the same way do these Anuric Tablets dissolve uric acid. Of course, after ridding the system of uric acid, it may return again unless you eat the right foods and live the right kind of life, but Dr. Pierce will advise you fully on proper food and correct living if you write and ask him. He makes no charge for such advice. Take Anuric Tablets today, by all means, and get that uric acid out of your system. Don't, don't, put the matter off.—Adv.

Grand Opening

Mme Caron's New Store

512-514 Merrimack St.

The ladies of this city and suburbs are invited to call at the well known department store, formerly Pelletier's, 512-514 Merrimack street, under the management of Mme. Amedee Caron. An entire new stock of millinery and dry goods, and everything to be seen in a large and up-to-date establishment, will be found here. The ladies will find a display that will make it well worth a visit. The store has been refitted and redecorated and a carefully selected stock of the latest of this season's millinery and furnishings will be shown. Do not miss the grand opening Today and Tomorrow. Everybody invited. 512-514 Merrimack street. S. & H. Green Stamps given here.

"EDDIE" MARTIN DEAD

Globe Reporter Stricken While Caring for Wife, Who Died Wednesday

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Edward F. Martin, valued and popular member of the Globe's editorial staff and successor to the late Timothy H. Murnane as American league baseball reporter, died at 4:33 yesterday afternoon at the Massachusetts General hospital of pneumonia. He became a patient at the institution Wednesday and the news of his death was a shock to his friends. His wife died early Wednesday morning of the same disease.

Mr. Martin was taking his vacation after his season's work when his wife was stricken with influenza at their home, 1748 Columbia road, South Boston. Devoted and attentive to his young wife, "Eddie" contracted the malady while ministering to her, and only relinquished his care after he became critically ill and was forced to take to his bed. Conscious and brave until, he insisted upon seeing his wife before she passed away and then consented to being removed to a hospital for treatment.

He appeared to respond to the hospital treatment, but yesterday afternoon his condition became alarming,

Enjoyed Wide Popularity

Though but 34 years old, "Eddie" Martin enjoyed a wide popularity. Modest and retiring, he fairly radiated good humor and wit, but was always thoughtful and considerate of others. Of his career, in writing a sketch of himself, in 1906, for a souvenir book, he said:

"Edward F. Martin, born in Boston (South End), Feb. 23, 1884, the son of the late Capt. Edward F. Martin of the Boston fire department and Mary E. Martin (nee Ford). Educated at the Lincoln grammar and South Boston high schools. Became an employee of the Globe Nov. 30, 1906. For about a month was employed in the vote counters' room, but on Jan. 1, 1907, was designated state house messenger, working in that capacity while the legislature was in session during the years 1907 and 1908.

"In the fall of 1907 was assigned to the night desk as clerk, remaining there until June 27, 1908, when the appointment as a member of the day city staff was received.

"In September, 1903, was assigned to criminal court work, in addition to receiving the permanent assignment as fire headquarters reporter. Only outside interests are my connection with the South Boston High School Alumni club and Pere Marquette council, 271, K. of C."

The sketch, written 12 years ago, now serves as an obituary notice, except that it is incomplete. His activities in the Knights of Columbus resulted in his being elected successively recorder, chancellor, deputy grand knight and finally two terms as grand knight of Pere Marquette council.

Filled Important Posts

His newspaper successes included his being assigned to the important posts of day and night police headquarters reporter, and his acquaintance in the police and fire departments was extensive. It was said of "Eddie" that he enjoyed an intimate acquaintance with nearly every fire and police official in Boston. Prior to the death of the veteran "Tim" Murnane, "Eddie" became his protégé, and an apt one he proved. Blessed with a wonderfully retentive memory in addition to an attractive personality, he was popular among baseball men from the outset, and his original style won him the distinction of being assigned to "cover" the last two world's series. At the time of his death he was secretary of Boston chapter, Baseball Writers' Association of America.

He was married to Della Mulken, a popular South Boston young woman, Nov. 5, 1910. He is survived by his mother and two brothers, John of Brighton and James R. of the Globe mailing room.

Double funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Martin will take place at St. Eulalia's church tomorrow morning. It was intended that funeral services for Mrs. Martin should be this morning, but because of the death yesterday of her husband it was decided to have services for both at the same hour.

MIRON, NOTED SWIMMER, DEAD

ABINGTON, Oct. 4.—Henry J. Miron, long-distance swimmer of national fame, died at his home, Chapel street, this city, late yesterday afternoon. He had been sick but a week with pneumonia.

Miron was born in Abington 21 years ago and as early as 1903 was well known throughout the district in which he lived as the marvel in swimming. He gained fame when he made a new record in the swim from Charlestown bridge to Boston Light in 1916. In this race he defeated several prominent swimmers, although he was but 15 years old.

At this time he attracted such wide notice that the officials of the "L" street baths had a movement on foot to send him to England to swim the English channel. This plan was abandoned when the war broke out.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Miron.

LOCK UP BASEBALL UNTIL AFTER THE WAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Major league baseball, insofar as it concerns the National league, will be officially terminated at the annual meeting of the association to be held in this city on Dec. 16. At the gathering the senior organization will formally wind up the business affairs of the season just closed and enter upon a hiatus which will remain undisturbed until such time as international affairs appear to warrant a revival of the professional end of the national game.

This, at least, is the intention of the magnates at the present time and nothing short of a most sensational change in the war status within the next two months will cause a shift in the plans of the league. It requires a long period of preparation and much detail work, prior to the opening of each pennant race, and it is recognized that in the present unsettled state of baseball affairs it would be impossible to renew the operation of the circuit without ample time in which to formulate arrangements. A declaration of peace coming late next spring would prove of little value to the big league clubs, according to the opinion of prominent magnates.

It has been pointed out that the players of the various teams would be scattered to the four points of the compass; that some of the baseball parks will have been adapted to other forms of business; that problems would arise during the readjustment period which have never confronted baseball managements; and that the best policy will be to make haste slowly. General opinion appears to support the idea that a new and better order of professional baseball will come forth at the proper time but that much of this advantage would be lost if the big leagues rushed blindly back to the game at the first hint of an opening.

It is understood, however, that the magnates will not tie their hands by any definite statements or arrangements but will leave the affairs of the organization in such a fluid state that business can be resumed at the proper moment with as slight a jar as possible. The office of the league will be continued and Sec. Heydler will, in all probability, be re-elected to his present position with full authority to act for the league in all matters which have heretofore been in the hands of the president as well as the other elective officers of the league.

Baseball as played indoors during the winter months in the United States is proving remarkably popular among the allied soldiers in France. It is played, of course, out of doors, but the large indoor ball is used and the rules of indoor baseball adhered to. It seems to be an easier game as well for the British soldiers to learn than the more scientific and technical outdoor baseball. It is quickly learned and its calibre is not too high to admit an amateur. The English soldiers find that any good cricket player possesses sufficient qualifications to feel at home in a few innings.

On athletic fields and aerodromes all over France, one may see scores of British, Canadian, Australian and American officers and men playing indoor baseball with a vim and eagerness never displayed at cricket.

"Indoor baseball knocks cricket into a cocked hat," declared the star cricketer of one of the Guards Regiments the other day. Probably the quicker action, the wider inclusiveness of the game, and the laughs it arouses among the players and spectators—to say nothing of the rooting, appeal more to the soldier in France than the more serious and sedate game of cricket, and the equipment is simpler and cheaper.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

Marie J. Lavoie, of Manchester, N. H., came to this city yesterday in search of excitement and she found just what she wanted, and probably a little more, for this morning she was arraigned in court on a charge of drunkenness. When Marie arrived in Lowell, so it was reported in court this morning, she was under the influence of liquor and her hobby seemed to be a sight-seeing trip through the city, so she hired a taxicab and ordered the chauffeur to drive through the "town." The driver followed instructions closely and when Marie's joy ride was completed he presented her a bill of $3.75, but Marie refused to pay with the result that she was sent to the station on a charge of drunkenness. This morning she promised to foot the taxicab's bill and in order to give her a chance to make good the court continued her case until tomorrow morning.

Carlo Sulgini and Annie Evans admitted their guilt to a statutory offense and both were ordered to pay a fine of $15. Harold Charles and Eva C. Gardner, a young couple still in their teens, who came here from Burlington, Vt. a few days ago and lived here as man and wife, were released this morning on condition that they return to their respective homes at once. The girl was arraigned in the juvenile court, while the boy was arraigned in police court.

Nicholas Introu denied his guilt to a complaint charging him with the larceny of a watch and chain valued at $27 from Emmanuel Papadonis and his case was continued until tomorrow morning. Melvin C. Peacock for operating his automobile last Sunday without having in his possession his registration card was ordered to pay a fine of $2.

Albert Lajoie was arrested last evening on a charge of drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor and this morning he denied his guilt. His case was continued until tomorrow morning.

Cases of drunkenness were disposed of as follows: Frank Ryne, 5 months in jail; Patrick Burke, $5; John Bonfant, continued until tomorrow morning; Daniel Moriarty, $10; John J. Finnegan, suspended sentence to the state farm.

Albert J. Pendergast, a boy, who was arrested in connection with the assault upon Solomon Gaultin with intent to commit robbery, was arraigned in the juvenile court and he was held for the grand jury in the sum of $300.

AUSTRIANS IN ALBANIA ROUTED BY ITALIANS

RÖME, Oct. 4.—Italian troops in Albania began an energetic advance on Tuesday in the sector between the Adriatic and Osum, the Italian war office announced yesterday.

The Italian columns in the evening had occupied the village of Pjeri and the line of the Sement from Sterhaz to the Metall bridge and several heights. The Austro-Hungarian forces are retreating rapidly and are burning their depots. The Italians are approaching Berat. They have captured a number of prisoners and a huge quantity of war material. The situation in Albania holds out possibilities of decisive events soon. The Austro-Hungarian forces now are compelled to hold the line from the Adriatic to Lake Ochrida by themselves, the Bulgarian divisions under Gen von Steuben being no longer available. The text of the communication follows:

"In Albania Tuesday our troops began an energetic advance in the sector between the sea and Osum. In the rapid advance, overcoming the resistance in enemy parties, our columns occupied in the evening the village of Pjeri, the line of the Sement from Sterhaz to the Metall bridge and the heights between Janica and Buvalica, and those at Ziton to the left of Osum. "We are approaching Berat. The enemy is retreating rapidly in an attempt to avoid pursuit, and is setting fire to his depots. We have taken prisoners and a large quantity of material in opposing the Austrian left wing.

ASK FOR WILSON PEACE

Austrian Deputies in Uproar as Socialists and Czechs Discusses Peace

VIENNA, Oct. 4, via Basel, Switzerland.—Discussion of the government's declaration and the question of peace has begun in the Austrian chamber of deputies.

The socialist deputies demanded peace on the following bases:

The creation of a league of nations. No economic warfare.

No annexations.

The restoration of Serbia, Montenegro and Belgium.

Revision of the treaties of Bucharest and Brest-Litovsk.

A settlement of the eastern questions on the basis of nationalities.

The regulation of the Polish question by the Polish constituents.

The establishment of autonomy for each nation in Austria-Hungary.

M. Stanek, a Czech deputy, caused an uproar in the chamber by violently attacking Germany. He reaffirmed the solidarity of the Jugo-Slavs, Poles and Czechs and declared that the only means of reaching peace was to accept President Wilson's 14 points.

The sitting ended with the introduction of a motion demanding an international congress of peace to settle the Polish and international questions.

What "Slow" Accounts Mean

"SLOW" ACCOUNTS mean something more than the mere matter of delay in receiving payment of bills.

THEY MEAN DUPLICATION OF EFFORT, the maintenance of records and additional officework that would be unnecessary if such accounts were paid within the reasonable specified time.

BUT MOST OF ALL they mean that labor which might be devoted to necessary tasks essential to the comfort, convenience and efficiency that you derive from your telephone service, is wasted on what should be unnecessary tasks.

AT THIS TIME IT IS DESIRABLE that unnecessary labor be eliminated as much as possible so that the output of necessary labor may be increased.

Subscribers who pay their telephone bills promptly help to conserve labor at a time when the conservation of all labor is a national necessity.

AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRH OF THE EARS AND NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrh of the Ears, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength). Take this home and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a 1 lb. granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should be open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmit used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.—Adv.

for 500 copies had been circulated that changes be made in references to the reasons for the United States entering the war, but aside from this there was no word of criticism from anyone "until the National Security League wished to make a political attack upon Mr. Creel."

Senator Lodge said he desired to correct any misstatements he had made but renewed his attack on the book. One of its advertising circulars, he said, read:

"Did the Germans warn the passengers on the Lusitania?"

"The answer is in the book. I understand," he continued, "if that is not by indirection or by implication a defence of Germany in one of the very most villainous things she has ever done, and that is saying a great deal, then I cannot understand what extraordinary sentence means."

"The book is now being pressed for sale by the Review of Reviews company and these circulars are going everywhere."

"It seems to me very strange that a book of that sort should have no inhibition placed upon it when the secretary of war most wisely has excluded from the soldiers' libraries in camps books which certainly are no more objectionable than this."

Miss Frances Kelly, the 18-year-old daughter of the late chief of police of Jersey City, who went out for a horseback ride early in July, has just returned, riding her horse all the way. In three months she has visited every county in New Jersey to sell War Savings Stamps, and she has sold $10,000 worth.

FRESNO TAKEN

British Forces Break Through the Entire Hindenburg Defense System

Entire German Positions North and South of St. Quentin Gravely Menaced

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN ST. QUENTIN SECTOR, Thursday, Oct. 3.—(By The Associated Press.)—British forces broke through the entire Hindenburg defense system in the neighborhood of Fresno today. As soon as the break had been made, cavalry forces swept through, being followed closely by "whippet" tanks and armored cars.

According to reports which are considered reliable, the village of Fresno itself was taken soon afterward.

Allied airplanes which have been flying low over the country in the rear of the Hindenburg line report that there are only one or two thinly held and hurriedly built trench lines in front of the advancing British.

This is a perfect cavalry country, and with this force free behind the enemy's lines, the entire German positions north and south of St. Quentin are gravely menaced.

After the cavalry and tanks had dashed into the open country behind the Hindenburg line, infantry and masses of machine gunners poured through the break. This force is taking positions and the Germans who have held this line in the defensive system are in danger of being cut off.

The enemy appears to be in full flight north of the break in the line. Allied patrols have penetrated further into Cambrai, from which the Germans seem to be withdrawing.

There was fighting of the most desperate character before the last line of the system was smashed. Fresh troops which had not been in the earlier fighting here were poured into the battle. Prospect hill, a strong enemy position, was taken by storm.

An immense number of Germans was killed during the fight. Many trenches were turned into shambles in less time than it takes to tell it.

During the afternoon the Germans delivered a terrific counter attack against Gouy and Le Catelet. Unconfirmed reports say that they gained slightly here, but their advance was short lived. New British attacks were launched and desperate fighting is still in progress.

Prisoners from 10 German divisions and 41 battalions were captured today. Regiments which came into the line from Flanders and Verdun had been identified.

Last available reports are to the effect that the advancing British troops are 6000 yards beyond the Neuveville line.

GIRL AND FIANCE DEAD

Brockton Young Woman Went to Camp Upton to Nurse Soldier Sweetheart

BROCKTON, Oct. 4.—Learning her fiance was seriously ill with pneumonia, Miss Naomi Barnet, 20, of 55 Plymouth street, went to Camp Upton, L. I., to nurse him, but when she arrived she was stricken, and within 48 hours both succumbed to pneumonia.

Jacob Julian, 24, of 19 Otis street a limited service draftee who left Brockton only a month ago, was the soldier. He was attached to the 6th Company, Depot Brigade, at Camp Upton. The young couple were to have been married before he started for overseas duty, for which he had volunteered. Miss Barnet died first and her fiance died a half-hour later. Relatives are planning a double funeral in Brockton. Mayor Gleason, Dr. Loomberg and Dr. Barrett of the board of health and Miss H. L. Bridges, in charge of the Brockton nurses, at noon yesterday declared the epidemic was abating and that for the first time in many hours the calls were well caught up.

Sixteen Deaths Reported

All the doctors report the number of serious cases very few, indicating the general public has been educated to the need of extreme caution in every case of illness.

Sixteen deaths were reported officially to the board of health during the past 24 hours, a slight decrease. The number of cases in all the hospital and emergency wards has decreased. The State Guard orderlies are finding few old cases which have developed serious symptoms.

Word was received yesterday afternoon from Senator Weeks and Congressman Olney that more aid was on the way to Brockton. Seven of the nine members of the Visiting Nurses association have become ill and two nurses who volunteered their services, Miss Constance M. Campbell of Montreal and Miss Nellie MacLennan of Providence are critically ill with influenza. The Brockton hospital has a whole ward of nurses who are ill.

The great need for volunteer workers to go into homes where persons are ill and in the hospitals was again emphasized yesterday after Mayor Gleason's appeal to the schoolteachers failed to produce volunteers. The teachers said they were willing to aid in any task, but refused to go into the homes, giving reason in most cases they had been warned they would be forced to get new boarding houses.

Society Girl Aids Doctor

One young society woman, Miss Gladys Hall, aided the doctors in the different homes. All the Brockton factories may be closed and thoroughly fumigated, it was reported yesterday. It is expected the edict will be given Saturday, when all of them have the half holiday. The board of health yesterday afternoon closed all soda fountains. All street cars are daily disinfected.

Four doctors who came to Brockton yesterday were Drs. Davis, of Marshfield, Hammond of Hanover, N. H., Emerson of Boston and Waldie, who came from Ohio. Dr. Scholz of Salt Lake arrived at midnight.

CANADIAN FORCES NOW DOWN ATTACKERS

WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES ON THE CAMBRAI FRONT, Wednesday, Oct. 2.—(Canadian Press)—Beyond question, the battle around Cambrai has been the most savage and sustained in which the Canadians have ever engaged. Only the utmost heroism and tenacity of the infantry, including battalions from Quebec, Central Ontario, western Manitoba and eastern and western British Columbia, enabled them to hold the salient which has been driven into the heart of the enemy's defenses in the face of wave after wave of counter-attacks by overwhelming numbers.

All day long, the Canadian artillery, machine gunners and riflemen had targets such as have seldom been offered to them. The slaughter went on from dawn to dark Tuesday.

The Canadian casualties are heavier in the recent operations than in the battles of the previous seven weeks before Amiens and Arras, and when they went through the Quenest-Procourt line. So far, they have attacked and beaten the enemy out of his prepared positions when he had a superiority in men of three to one and much greater than that in machine gunners. The enemy fought with the utmost resolution, and the gray waves lapping over each other to destruction reached the bitter fighting of 1915 and 1916, when the enemy morale was at its highest.

VOLUNTEER NURSES WANTED

Volunteer assistants are needed at this time, to relieve the suffering in the cases of grippe which are prevailing in and around the city, and those who have taken the course in home nursing would be of special help. Some young women who are familiar with the care of the sick and who have taken this course have already offered their service, but it is impossible to locate every one, as many addresses are not available and it is difficult to get in touch with these people. It is requested that they respond and if unable to devote their entire time to this work, they may be able to give at least a certain number of hours each week, and lighten the tasks of the overworked district nurses. Half-day intervals, beginning either at 9.30 in the morning or at 1.30 in the afternoon, will be gratefully accepted, and if one can give several half-days a week, so much the better. Those who feel desirous of putting their practical knowledge at the disposal of the public good in this emergency are asked to register at once at the Lowell Guild on Dutton street.

A druggist at New London, Conn., had a display of bay rum in his window. Some French sailors, now there, seeing the word "rum" and not noticing the "bay," bought several cases of the liquor and drank a lot of it, with disappointing results. When they had recovered somewhat from their illness, the druggist, who had been congratulating himself on his large sales, had to buy all that was left of his bay rum back again.

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! Is Tongue Coated, Breath Feverish and Stomach Sour?

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness. Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

URGES WORKING MEN TO BUY LIBERTY BONDS

(Champion Liberty Loan Bond salesman of the United States.)

During the past year I have had the pleasure of making talks to several hundred thousands of our country's toilers, workmen and women in industrial plants, munition factories, shipyards and coal mines. I feel that an overwhelming majority of this class of our citizens are genuine Americans, and they are answering the appeals being made to their loyalty and patriotism by giving our country the greatest production in all history.

The red-blooded worker cannot slide-step the knowledge that while he may be rendering valuable service to his country in the production of some war essential instead of shouldering a gun, he owes a great debt to the boys who are doing the actual fighting for him and his country on land and sea.

The wage-earner of today is getting the fattest pay envelope of his life. He owns a flivver, enjoys luxuries and indulges in extravagances. While he and his family are sharing in this war-time prosperity, right down in his heart, if he is of the right makeup, he must appreciate his obligation to our boys who have given up their jobs, left their homes and loved ones, and who are now in France undergoing all the hardships, sacrifices and sufferings of actual warfare.

The man in uniform has no eight or nine-hour day; he does not work by the time clock, nor does he get time and a half for extra work, and when his pay envelope is slipped to him he finds but $30 per month in it. And as the wage-earner reads of the daily deeds of courage and bravery of our boys overseas, many of whom are sacrificing their lives, while a host of others will come back to us maimed, crippled and blinded, all for the great cause of humanity and to protect our country and loved ones against the horrible deprivations and outrages that the Hun has visited on Europe, such American workers who fail to put in their six full, honest days of labor each week, must feel like low shirkers.

The bravery and suffering and sacrifice of the boys in France are of no avail, all go for nothing, unless they have the co-operation of the workers of America. Every time a worker holds up the production of any war essential one day, or one hour, he is keeping our boys over there in the trenches just one day or one hour longer.

War-time wages are not going to last for ever, and the worker should avail himself of the present high wage condition by practicing thrift, and investing his savings in Liberty Loan Bonds, and thus he can doubly prove his patriotism, not only by his toil, but also by backing up his country and our boys by helping our government finance its own as well as our allies' stupendous war activities.

The ringing of American hammers and mallets, the humming of American motors and machinery, the roaring of American boilers, and the snappy sound of the riveter in the shipyards, as well as the clinking of the American workman's dollars pouring into Uncle Sam's Liberty Loan chest, mingle today with the roaring of American cannon and machine guns on the battle front of France, and spell decisive defeat to our foe.

They tell us that the workmen and women of America realize the responsibility resting upon them; they prove their allegiance and loyalty to our cause and country; they carry an inspiring message to our boys in khaki and blue that they are standing shoulder to shoulder with them, in our national determination to put an end to Germany's outrages on the laws of humanity and its desecration of the things that are holy to man and nations.

TO OUST ANARCHISTS

Bill Passed by Senate—Goes to Pres. Wilson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The house bill authorizing exclusion and deportation of aliens who are members of anarchistic or other such organizations was passed by the senate yesterday and sent to the president for his signature.

Pure tin foil—which is rolled thin—is worth 35 cents a pound. It may be distinguished from rolled lead, which is worth only about 6 cents a pound, because it does not make a mark on a piece of white paper. In saving foil for the government it is best to keep it flat.

MAY ALLISON TELLS WHY SHE BUYS BONDS

One—two—three—four! Every Liberty loan is a mighty blow at the Kaiser. Our Yankee boys have put the punch in the war and Liberty bonds put the "pep" in the punch.

Liberty bonds are your way and my way of showing Uncle Sam that we're with him through thick and thin; through poison gas, barbed wire entanglements, concrete pill-boxes, and what is thicker still, German skulls, until the Hun cries:

"Genug." Genug is German for "enough," and it's one word a heaton booke loves to yodel. "Kamerad" is the other.

"I-i-b-e-r-t-y D-o-n-d-s-i!"

The words have a magic ring.

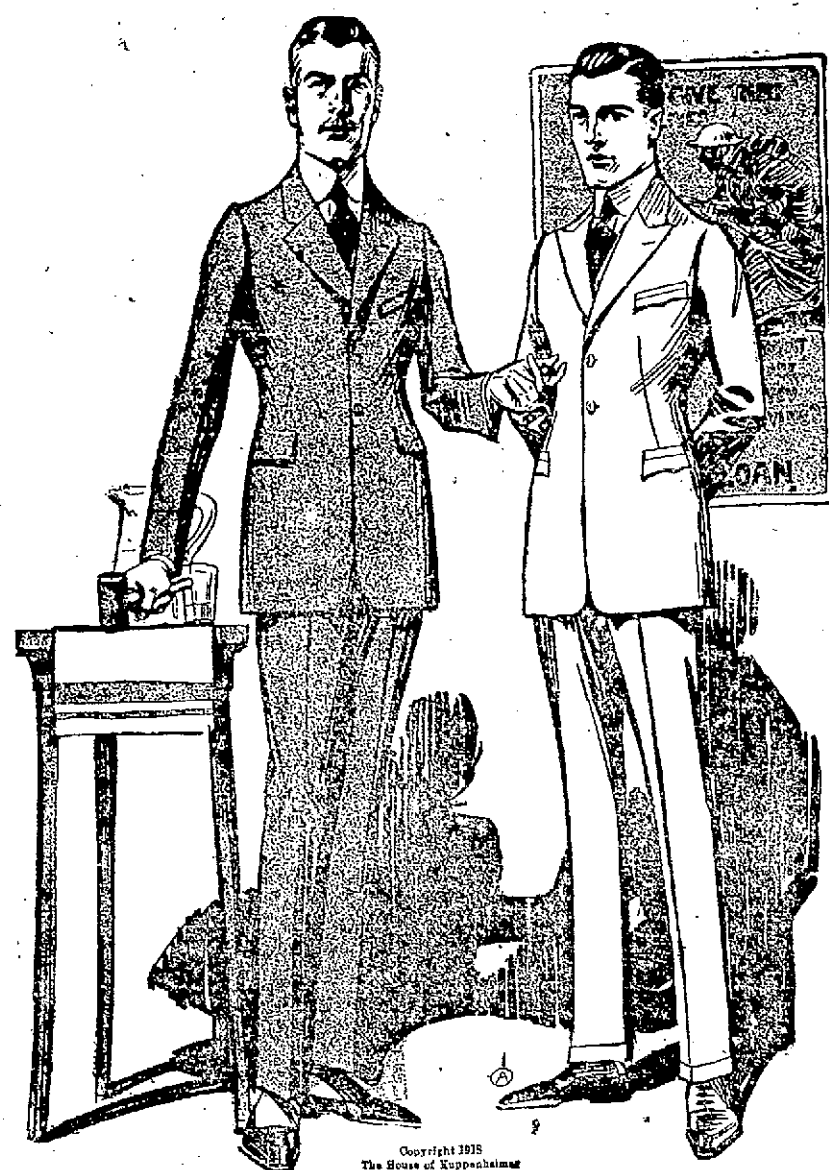

I'm afraid there may be a few among us who don't yet comprehend how blessed, how joyous is the privilege of liberty. "Liberty" and "Verboten" are not in the same dictionary, but if the Kaiser and his safety-first sons had their way, liberty would be forbidden.

Being freemen and the sons and daughters of freemen means that you don't have to bend the neck to any sovereign, who pretends that he gets his power by "divine right." It means you're not obliged to step into the gutter when a uniform passes, lest you receive a kick or a slap with the flat of a sword. It means that you can some day be the president of this country—or the president, for that matter, now that so many of us women have the vote. The same privilege is your son's or your daughter's, if they work for it and prove themselves worthy.

I want to hold fast to the blessings of liberty and independence. So do you, unless you'd rather truckle to a long-nosed madman with a shriveled hand a still more shriveled conscience.

Remember the words of our ambassador to Berlin, James W. Gerard. He told how the vandal of Potsdam, shook a warning finger in his face and said: "After we finish in Europe, America will hear from us." That is history now. And that fend incarnate meant what he said.

Every dollar means bullets and shrapnel and cold steel to hurt at the Huns. And we're not asked to give a penny. We draw interest on dollars that we lend to Uncle Sam. And everything we own, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, is security for our loans. They are the best investment in the world—absolutely gilt edged.

HUN CAMOUFLAGE PLAN GIVEN SOLDIERS

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES IN FRANCE, Sept. (Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—"Deceive the enemy by false tracks ending in woods."

This sentence is from the latest German document on camouflage to reach American intelligence officers having been found on a captured document sets forth: "It is best to distribute the columns irregularly under trees. In villages keep close to the houses, walls, enclosures of gardens and hedges, but if possible, with irregular distribution. The best side is always the north side of houses and walls, on account of the shadows. In small courtyards, the wagons are lined up one beside the other, and tarpaulins joined in order to make a roof. This motionless."

removed at any time, but scatter it immediately. There must be no fresh cuts visible, as marked contrasts result from it between the light and dark surfaces, the latter appearing as deep shadows on the ground. Do not change natural shapes. Positions in hills and embankments must not change the form of hill or embankment. Use the roads, hills, embankments, slopes, sunken roads, edges of woods, to greater extent."

Regarding resting columns of troops, location and nature of halting places for troops on march, the document sets forth: "In broken country, seek the protection of the ground; the north side of embankments, hollow roads, hedges, etc. When there is no cover, irregular distribution is required. "Even at night, make more use of tracks, which are generally dark; the columns can then with difficulty be observed by airplanes. On the other hand, columns on roads which appear light can be seen even at night. Infantry columns will be divided into small groups distributed in depth and advance along the shady side of roads. When airplanes use light projectors at night, keep in the shade of trees or buildings." The article ends with this general rule: "When surprised by airplanes, other by day or by night, use all natural shade provided by trees, embankments, houses, etc., and remain motionless."

Letters From Lowell Soldiers

Capt. James Brosnan of the local police department has received an interesting letter from his son, James, who is now serving on the U.S.S. Mt. Vernon, the vessel which was recently torpedoed. He encloses a special order signed by Secretary of War Baker, in which the latter commands the crew of the Mt. Vernon for their splendid conduct during its debacle. Brosnan has also written to his brother in Lowell and both letters are reproduced below:

Sept. 12, 1918.

Dear Father: I am having a fine time over here; the officers are doing everything that can for us and they are the best bunch in the navy. Don't worry about me; I am having a wonderful time. I am in the best of health and hope everyone at home is the same. You can see what the secretary of war thinks about us from the enclosed order.

Sept. 14, 1918.

Dear Gus: I suppose it was an awful shock to the people at home to hear that our ship got hit. It was only a chance shot, but it got us. The commander of that submarine must have come to the surface and when he saw a ship just closed his eyes and let his gunners loose. He was so close that he couldn't miss us at the distance we were from him.

Don't get the idea that we were asleep; the lookouts saw him as soon as he came up and he got a warm reception. You know it is a lot different shooting at a periscope about the size of a broom handle sticking out of the water than it is shooting at a ship 700 feet long. The paper gave a full account of the accident, I suppose it was nothing more than an accident because we were going faster than a submarine can travel on the surface. This one was submerged.

The people over here gave us credit for bringing in our ship. Some of the fellows saw the whole thing all the way through. I didn't, but I felt it. It felt like the South Lowell explosion.

Tell all my friends that I was well for them. If everything goes well I expect to get home when we get back to God's country. I am in the best of health and hope you are the same. Your brother, JIM.

stag, he criticised the government and attacked Count von Hertling, the leader of the Centerists. In the reichstag in March, 1918, he defended Germany's methods of making peace with Russia at Brest-Litovsk.

Philipp Scheidemann is vice president of the reichstag and the leader of the majority social democrats. He with his wing of the party, while nominally opposing some of the government's war policies, has swung to the government's aid whenever the German arms seemed to be in the ascendancy. This was notably the case when after the passage of the "no annexations and indemnities" resolution of July, 1917, the majority socialists acquiesced in the negotiation of the notorious Brest-Litovsk treaty. Although anything but an international socialist in practice, he has been active through international socialist agencies in efforts to aid Germany's cause by helping her peace offensive as much as possible. He has been called a tool of the Pan-Germans.

The office of Prussian minister of foreign affairs is distinct from that of imperial secretary for foreign affairs, which has been held by Admiral von Hintze, who resigned last week with Count von Hertling.

NEW HUN CHANCELLOR

Maximilian Named Prussian Secretary—To Announce Program Tomorrow

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 4.—Prince Maximilian of Baden has been appointed German chancellor, says an official announcement received from Berlin.

Députés Groeber, Centerist, and Scheidemann, majority social democrat, have been appointed secretaries of state without portfolio.

The official statement adds that Prince Maximilian also has been named Prussian foreign secretary. He will announce his program at a full meeting of the reichstag on Oct. 5.

The official title of the chancellor is president of the Prussian council of ministers, Prussian minister of state, Prussian minister of foreign affairs and imperial chancellor. Prince Maximilian succeeded Count von Hertling, who was appointed chancellor last Nov. 3, in succession to Dr. Georg Michaelis.

Adolf Groeber is one of the leaders of the Centerist party. Recently before the main committee of the reich-

PRISONERS TELL DAMAGE OF ALLIED PLANES

LONDON, October.—The increasing destructiveness of allied air raids is attested to by German prisoners. While statements of this kind must generally be treated with reserve, there is evidence that this particular information is very near the truth.

Valenciennes station was heavily bombed by British airmen recently. A prisoner subsequently stated that for a number of days following the raids trains were unable to pass through Valenciennes as a big engineer dump had been hit and barrels of oil and explosives were burning and blowing up.

A raid was made upon an ammunition dump near Marais Wood, and several photographs taken during the raid showed the explosion. A party of prisoners captured later volunteered the information that the dump blew up and that the moral effect was enormous.

A prisoner is responsible for the statement that not long ago an ammunition train was hit and blew up in Valenciennes, a fact which fully confirms the British official report that direct hits were obtained upon a moving train at Valenciennes on the night of May 31.

Still another report by a recently captured German prisoner records that a saw-mill at Somain managed by a German and employing 150 workmen was completely destroyed as the result of an air raid. Somain was bombed by British airmen.

PORTO RICO WRESTLES WITH DRAFT PROBLEMS LIKE REST OF US

SAN JUAN, P. R., October.—Men exempted from military service after examination by the local boards are being called for re-examination in San Juan and in many other municipalities in the islands.

In San Juan those being re-examined include chiefly those called for the second draft of 15,000 who probably will be called for active service in September or October. In other towns it is said boards are generally going over their lists and calling men previously exempted for re-examination.

This action by the examining boards is said to be voluntary on their part, but comes in response to general criticism that throughout the island men of the better class have not found it difficult to find grounds on which to obtain exemption.

Professor Surrenders His American Birthright in Defying Age-old Edict

(Special to The Sun.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. — On his conviction that patriarchal and scientific precepts against marriage outside the race are ill founded, Professor Percy B. Tripp, minister and teacher at Tien Tsin university, is waging his American birthright.

In his marriage three years ago to one of his Chinese students, he had already hazarded all those other considerations which only a daring few have braved through miscegenation.

Now love of country and its privileges have been added to the sacrifices for love of his alien wife and to his faith in its lasting quality.

Professor Tripp is going to become a Chinese citizen—the first American, so far as known, who has ever taken this step.

Duplicating the domestic adventure of Lucio Hearn in Japan, he explains his action on the ground that it will bolster his family happiness and forgo his wife and child against that ostracism he dreads when he married Ho Su Hsien.

Convinced that love, surmounting "the bar sinister," is stronger and more lasting than any other reality, this former Virginian who has donned the dress and habits of the Orient, is burning his last bridges.

Professor Tripp went to China 11 years ago. While teaching in Tien Tsin he married the sister of one of his student associates. Two years ago a son was born. Together with his family he recently arrived in San Francisco to prepare text books for Chinese schools and to work out a new curriculum for celestial colleges.

Legal considerations will prevent him claiming dual Chinese citizenship until after the conclusion of the war.

"I have cast my life in China," he explained. "I expect to spend practically the remainder of it there. My American citizenship does me no good in my adopted land, where I hope to participate in governmental affairs.

"I am not un-American. I love America, and during my years in the Orient I have tried zealously to live up to the ideals and inspirations of my nativity. But we in America do not think well of the immigrant who refuses to take out citizenship papers here where he intends to live. I feel that the reverse of this is equally unwise and intolerable.

"Inter-racial marriage may not be safe, satisfactory or desirable as the rule, but in our case love and marriage has proven everything that a sacred, lasting union should be. My wife was a Christian even before our marriage, and so our love is anchored in the most lasting of human fundamentals."

"East is east and west is west, but never the twain shall meet!"

Professor Tripp and his Chinese wife who have defied the call of the blood and the warning of the ages, do not believe it.

Love, they say, can bridge and has bridged this greatest of chasms.

HUNLAND NOW HOME OF CRAZY CREEDS

AMSTERDAM, October.—Weird outbreaks of religious mania are reported from many parts of the German empire.

The commander of the 19th army corps at Leipzig has found it necessary to prohibit meetings of a sect known as the "Little Flock," which originated at Meerane. Its head is a weaver named Hain, whom his adherents address as "Holy Father." He poses as the Messiah and pronounces "sentences" from his "judgment seat," from which he "separates the sheep from the goats."

The new "Messiah" has achieved some measure of popularity by his attacks on the established clergy on the ground that they draw stipends, which, he says, the apostle Paul, never did; neither does he, himself. The "Little Flock" craze, it seems, has spread to such an extent in Saxony, especially among impressionable young people, that the authorities have had to interfere.

Many extreme pan-Germans have given way to a kind of headish mysticism. They openly propagate a revival of the pagan worship of the ancient Teutons, including offerings to Wotan.

A more modern offshoot of this queer movement is headed by one Ludwig Neuner, who definitely renounces christianity on the superfluous plea that it is "foreign to the German ideal." Family life, is out of date, says Neuner, and all children should be choruses of the state. For prayer, Neuner proposes the following substitute, which the Roman Catholic Germania appropriately calls a "prayer ersatz" or substitute:

Bodily and mental "uplifts" movements every morning; baths, deep breathing, song and dance, reading of valuable poetry, contemplation of truly artistic objects of art, training of will power by auto suggestion, etc.

ed an omnibus body built on a special design. The driver is completely enclosed by glass doors and windows. Just back of the driver's seat is the entrance door for the main compartment, which is also completely enclosed, with glass windows and strong iron bars.

The chief piece of equipment in the main compartment is a large iron safe, in which the money is securely locked during each trip from bank to bank. But this is not all. Seats are so arranged for armed guards that the men sit facing the windows. They completely surround the safe with its treasure and at the same time have a clear view in all directions.

The car has just been put into use. Owing to the space required, the Dodge Brothers chassis, on which the special body is mounted, was lengthened out by means of a well-known truck attachment. At a glance, the car much resembles an ordinary omnibus, close inspection being required to observe the iron window-bars, as it glides swiftly through the streets.

A private at Camp Meade, Md., entered company headquarters and asked his captain for a pass. It was not his turn. He was not on the list. "Right about face," said the captain. "Forward, march!" The soldier executed the movement with snap. A day or two later a telegram was received which read: "Am in New York; tell me when to halt."

"EYE FOR EYE" POLICY

French Would Destroy as Much Property as the Germans Do

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The French national committee in charge of the reparation and restoration of war damage, a dispatch from France yesterday says, has issued a declaration demanding that the allied governments invoke the law of retaliation against Germany.

The declaration says while the law is repugnant, to the nations fighting for the triumph of justice and liberty, it is the only one that will make an impression on the German mind. All governments which participate in the crusade are asked to resolve to destroy towns for towns, villages for villages, church for church, castle for castle and property for property.

Meanwhile diplomats here are discussing the probable form and extent of the policy of retaliation to be followed if the Germans keep to their habit of laying the country waste as the retreat goes on. The state department is still mum about the ultimatum to Germany promising to match every

Germans Threw Up Hands as New York Troops Advanced to Abri St. Louis

As Yanks Came Near, Huns Dropped Hands and Hurlled Grenades—Paid for It

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Thursday, Oct. 3.—(By the Associated Press)—When New York troops captured the village of Abri-St. Louis on Friday, they were made victims of an act of German treachery, which has been investigated by army authorities. As the New Yorkers swept into the village, a number of Germans came out of their hiding places with uplifted hands and were supposed to have surrendered. When the Americans came nearer the Germans suddenly dropped their hands and, seizing hand grenades, threw them with deadly effect, killing and wounding a number of the New York boys.

The survivors retreated and told the story. Then more New York troops went forward. They were armed with flame throwers and gas projectors and filled the village with flame and gas until not a single German escaped.

Two concrete emplacements for big guns were discovered west of Varenne when New York troops advanced along the eastern edge of the Argonne forest a few days ago. The guns had been removed but engineers believe that they were Austrian 305's.

The emplacements were 100 yards apart and apparently were built more than a year ago. A railroad had been built leading up to them and this enabled the enemy to remove the guns, ammunition and everything of value. French and American heavy artillery battered the enemy positions throughout the entire region along this front, and it is believed that the Germans made haste in removing the big guns as soon as they saw that a serious attack was impending.

The guns were scattered through the Argonne forest and from day to day have been taken by the advancing New York soldiers. Among them were two 150's and several 77's. The forest has been thoroughly searched for these guns by the American troops.

Many of the roads leading from the Argonne forest to Montfaucon and to Malancourt have been found to be barred by concrete pillars as a precaution against the operation of allied tanks. At safe distances behind these pillars anti-tank gun positions have been found. These in many places were built of concrete. The pillars have all the appearance of having been built recently. In many places the wood frames for holding the concrete in place not having been removed. These concrete positions were, for the most part, behind the main line of defensive positions through which the Americans broke during the present drive.

SEMINARY AS HOSPITAL

Emergency Health Committee Accepts Cardinal O'Connell's Offer

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—The emergency public health committee has accepted Cardinal O'Connell's offer of St. John's Seminary in Brighton and will establish a convalescent hospital for male patients there. The young men of the seminary will enlist as lay nurses and Dr. William H. Devine, ex-Surgeon General of Massachusetts, and now head of the medical department of Boston's public schools, has consented to give up immediately his private practice and to seek relief from all his other public duties in order that he may become administrator of the new hospital.

Chairman Henry B. Endicott of the emergency public health committee believes the establishment of such a hospital fills an important need in Metropolitan Boston. The regular hospitals are crowded and they have been able to accept only a small proportion of the patients applying for beds, largely because many patients who have passed the crisis of the disease have not been strong enough to return to their homes.

Ideal Site for Hospital

The establishment of a convalescent hospital at St. John's Seminary, which stands near the crest of the Lake-st. hill, and is, in the opinion of all medical advisers, ideal, both in situation and construction, for the care of convalescent patients, will permit the removal of many male patients from the regular hospitals at an earlier date than has hitherto been possible and the consequent reception of many new patients at these hospitals.

Mr. Endicott has sent the following letter to Cardinal O'Connell thanking him for the offer:

"Since your splendid offer of St.

Lift Off Corns!

"Freezone" is Magic! Lift any Corn or Callus right off with fingers—No pain!

Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. It doesn't hurt one bit. Yea, magic! Why wait? Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of Freezone for a few cents sufficient to rid your feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and calluses, without soreness or irritation. Try it! No humbug!

It was the greatest need for some place where those convalescing from this terrible influenza might be taken and cared for. Now, if the place had been built to order it couldn't possibly be better for the purpose above mentioned than St. John's Seminary. The splendid building, with its light and airy rooms, large corridors and the fine kitchen facilities are wonderful, and the sunny exposures and the grounds are perfect.

"We know that your noble offer will save many lives, because the great danger in this epidemic is that patients will try to get out too soon, and this means weaker men and women in the future.

Will Crush Epidemic

"We can care for a great number of patients, thanks to the generosity of Your Eminence, and I am sure it will be a source of great satisfaction to you to know that this action on your part insures the people of Massachusetts that they will have a great number of healthy, vigorous men who otherwise might have been weaklings all their lives.

"I am sure also that you will be highly gratified to know that Dr. William H. Devine has consented to take full charge of this matter. He has done this at a great personal sacrifice, because, as you doubtless know, Dr. Devine has a large practice, all of which he will have to give into other hands; but he is a man in every sense of the word, who realizes that there is a tremendous chance for doing good, and is glad to devote himself to this cause. "All these things have been made possible by the generosity of Your Eminence. It is hard for me to express my appreciation in words, but I thank you from the bottom of my heart, and I am only echoing the sentiment of the other members of the emergency public health committee."

UPSETS SENATE RECESS

McAdoo Warns Members

Adjournment Will Imperil

War Finance

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Plans of congress to adjourn for a month over the November elections drew a warning yesterday from Secretary McAdoo.

"I am writing in deep solicitation," said Mr. McAdoo, in a letter to Chairman Simmons of the senate finance committee, "to ask your co-operation in averting a grave peril in the successful financial conduct of the war. I cannot disguise nor refrain from directing your attention to the fact that failure promptly to report and pass the new revenue bill will disorganize and endanger the national finance."

Upsets Adjournment Plans

Mr. McAdoo's letter caused the finance committee to take immediate steps to expedite its work of revising the house draft of the revenue measure and upset plans announced to the senate yesterday for an adjournment of congress for a month, beginning Oct. 20.

In his letter to Senator Simmons Mr. McAdoo pointed out that the present war tax bill became operative one year ago today and said that essential revenues would be lost, as well as time required by the treasury in administering the new law and by the public to familiarize itself with it by delay on the pending measures.

Upon receipt of Mr. McAdoo's letter Chairman Simmons and the senate committee agreed to work with all possible speed, but the chairman said he did not see how it is possible to report the bill before Oct. 25, even if then. He added that plans for adjournment of congress on Oct. 20 probably would be reconsidered.

If by that time it is evident, he explained, that the bill cannot be reported or passed by the senate in quick time before the elections, congress might save time by proceeding with an adjournment to begin just before the elections and end in a few days afterward.

Series of 3-Day Recesses

The adjournment program was announced in the senate yesterday by Majority Leader Martin, but he said it was framed on the assumption that the revenue bill could not possibly be disposed of before the elections. The senate adjourned yesterday until Monday and house leaders planned to begin today a series of three day recesses until the $7,000,000,000 army emergency appropriation bill is reported, probably about Oct. 14. The senate also plans similar recesses until the army budget is passed.

To expedite revision of the revenue measure the senate finance committee yesterday decided to meet daily at 10 o'clock, earlier than usual, cut short the luncheon period and work later each day. Even with this program Chairman Simmons said much time will be required for consideration, not only of committee amendments, but also important revisions suggested by the treasury department. Considerable progress was made on sions for individual credits in connection with the bill yesterday. The house providing income taxes, including the exemption limits of $1000 for single and $2000 for married persons, with an additional allowance of $200 for each dependent person under 18 years of age were adopted.

WOUNDED SOLDIERS RETURN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—During the week ending Sept. 27, 654 sick and wounded soldiers from the American Expeditionary Forces were landed in the United States, the war department announced yesterday.

LARGEST AMERICAN FLAG IN HISTORY

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—What is said to be the largest American flag in the world, was hung today in the rotunda of the Grand Central terminal to advertise the Liberty loan. It measures 80 by 180 feet. Its stripes are six feet wide and its stars five feet across. Almost a mile of bunting went into its manufacture, and 250 miles of thread. It weighs 500 pounds.

SENSITIVENESS CAUSES "SHELL SHOCK"

(Special to the Lowell Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Oct. 4.—Few soldiers suffering from what is popularly known as "shell shock" contract the affliction by the nervous jar produced by shell detonation. They become victims more by reason of sensitiveness than by any disturbance caused by the roar of big guns. This statement was made today by Dr. George M. Kline, director of the division of mental hygiene in discussing the question.

"The term 'shell shock' is a misnomer," said the doctor. "The proper name for the ailment is 'war neuroses.' Very few of the boys brought to base hospitals from the front suffering from this disorder contracted it by reason of the detonation of big guns. Of course this helped to a degree but the real cause for their being incapacitated lies in their weak nervous organization."

"Were a study to be made of each case it would be found that many of the victims had suffered from nervous disorders before entering the army. It follows that when they went to the front line trenches the tense excitement, the uncertainty of life, the long hours of activity, the absence of sleep and similar causes sapped the nervous vigor of the soldier and made him an easy prey to neuroses."

Dr. Kline pointed out that many men are in the army who are susceptible to this affliction. "When a registrant tells the examining draft physician that he has been subject to nervous disorders the man is sent to camp just the same, because the officials may believe that he is faking," said Dr. Kline. "This is true of course only in the case of a man whose looks seem to indicate that he is in good health. It is difficult for the physician to determine at once whether his claim to nervousness is bona fide. Not until the soldier is in the front line trenches does it develop that his nervous organization is unsound."

The division of mental hygiene is actively at work completing plans for the taking care of Massachusetts soldiers who may return with unstrung nerves. Dr. Kline states that they will receive the most scientific treatment known and he believes that virtually all can be restored to normal health within a comparatively short time.

STRIKING COLUMBUS DAY PROCLAMATION ISSUED

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Gov. McCall yesterday afternoon issued the following Columbus day proclamation:

"Chapter 473 of the general acts of the year 1910 provides in order 'To commemorate the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus, the 12th day of October shall hereafter be a legal holiday and shall be known as Columbus day.'"

"In view of the striking significance of the holiday the present year I deem it most fitting to direct special attention to it by a proclamation. There are few anniversaries in human history which make a stronger appeal. It recalls the courage and faith of the great admiral who could not be deterred by the ridicule of his associates nor daunted by the terrors of unknown seas."

"It suggests the enrichment of human life which was made possible by the revelation to the peoples of Europe of a vast new continent, fitted to be the home of great nations and where the genius of mankind could develop free from the trammels of those political and social traditions which weighed upon the life of the old world."

"Columbus day, always so significant, was never more so than in the present year. On the banks of the Platte and in battles fought on the heights of the Alps the countrymen of Columbus are giving new proof that the courage and steadfastness which marked his character are the heritage of the Italian people."

"In the conflict which they are waging they are supported by the states which have grown up on the continent which Columbus discovered, and which nobly illustrate in their history the great causes for which they are now contending. The hosts of our country, the veterans of Canada, the battleships of our great southern neighbor, the republic of Brazil—all alike the offspring of the new world—have added their strength to that of Italy and the other allied nations of Europe in the war for the preservation of their own existence, the maintenance of a life of ordered liberty among the nations and the spread of democratic institutions throughout the world."

AUTO LICENSES ARE RESTORED

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Oct. 4.—The highway commission has restored the automobile license of Herbert M. Smith of Lowell. Smith was involved in an accident Sept. 7 which resulted in the death of James Papalagos of Lowell. The commission found that the accident occurred without serious fault upon the part of Smith.

Arthur Sivigny of Lowell was notified that his license would be returned. He was involved in an accident August 3 in which Mary E. Brown of Lowell was killed. The commission was of the opinion that Sivigny was not to blame.

Pay Enough for Clothes

You may expect your clothes to cost more this fall than they did a year ago; but so does everything else. The main thing to consider isn't "How much do they cost?" but "How much do I get for the money?" That has always been the main thing in buying clothes anyway.

"SOLDIER QUEEN" WEPT

Queen Marie in Tears When Rumanian Army Was Demobilized by Hun Order

PARIS. — (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Queen Marie, Rumania's heroic "Soldier Queen," wept when the gallant Rumanian army was demobilized by order of the Germans, but she declared that it would not be for long that Rumania would fight again.

The disbanding of the army of 300,000 soldiers was one of the sternest measures forced upon Rumania by the terms of Germany's humiliating and uncompromising peace treaty. Emperor William of Germany gave Ferdinand of Rumania just one month in which to strip his army of all its power.

In a great open stretch of land at the foot of the rugged Carpathian mountains, not far from the Austrian frontier, the queen, accompanied by the king and the royal family, reviewed the regiments of officers and soldiers who had fought so bravely during the 18 months that Rumania faced the four formidable foes that surrounded her.

As each division passed along the line of march, there were repeated demonstrations, shouts of acclaim, and many marks of affection on the part of the troops for their beloved queen, whom they revered with a devotion almost as fervid as that shown by the French soldier for the memory of Joan of Arc.

On the way to the review every inhabitant of the villages through which the queen passed gave her a demonstration so overwhelming and spontaneous that she herself acknowledged later that it was the greatest single tribute she had received at the hands of the people since the beginning of the war. There could be no doubt even in the mind of the firmest pacifist that Rumania's fighting queen had the loyal and wholehearted support of the entire population in her struggle to stave off a humiliating peace with Germany.

As the men who had fought on the sanguinary field of Marasesti, which is the Gettysburg of Rumania, marched by, each bearing on his breast the coveted "Michael the Brave" medal for gallantry, the queen broke into tears and, turning to the king, who stood beside her, said, in a voice that betrayed deep emotion: "What a tragedy that this magnificent army must lay down its arms! But, please God, it shall not be for long. Germany by her might and brutality may subdue, but she can never crush the spirit and will of my soldiers. With God's help, we will fight again, and I pray that the day is not far off. My soul will never rest until the honor of the country is vindicated before the eyes of our allies."

YANKS STUDY GERMAN

Want to Be Able to Speak Language When They Arrive in Berlin

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES IN FRANCE. (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Many American soldiers in France have taken up the study of the German language. Some say they are eager to talk to the German prisoners, and others explain that they desire to be prepared to speak German when they reach Berlin. Nearly every American company has one or more individuals who speak German, more or less, and the boys study German during spare moments. After two or three months in France many American soldiers are able to speak some French.

REV. PETER C. QUINN DIES OF PNEUMONIA

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—The Rev. Peter C. Quinn, pastor of St. Paul's church, Roxbury, for more than a year, died yesterday after a 10 days' illness with pneumonia, following an attack of influenza resulting from a cold he contracted while visiting sick parishioners.

Owing to the prevailing epidemic the funeral will be private. Requiem mass will be celebrated Saturday morning in the church, but the other arrangements have not yet been completed.

Fr. Quinn was born in Somerville. While still a child his parents moved to the west end of Boston, where young Quinn spent his boyhood days and attended the schools of that district. He became a parishioner of St. Joseph's church on Chambers street, and became acquainted with Cardinal O'Connell, who at that time was attached to that church. The friendship continued through life. He had been selected by Cardinal O'Connell a number of times to do special work in the archdiocese of Boston.

CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

Col. Gaston Spent $1856.—Other Candidates Report

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Representative J. Weston Allen of Newton yesterday filed with the secretary of state a statement of his expenditures in his unsuccessful campaign for the republican nomination for attorney general. He spent $1359. Col. William A. Gaston reports aggregate expenditures by him of $1856 in his contest for the democratic nomination for governor. The colonel reports that $1000 of this went to the democratic state committee and $250 to the Democratic club of Massachusetts.

Gov. McCall filed returns for his expenses in connection with his short-lived candidacy for United States senate. His three items are $9 for printing, $5 for telephone, correspondence, etc., and $50, which he says his manager reported he had spent for him. He adds the statement that he is advised by counsel that no return is required of him under the law because he did not file any nomination papers and was not a candidate at the primaries. But the national law is not so clear, and in order that there might be no question, he filed the return.

DR. RAND PRAISES THE CONVOY SYSTEM

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Dr. Benjamin Rand, philosophical librarian at Harvard, who has just returned from his fourth consecutive summer abroad, declares that the convoy system of guarding ships has made the high seas comparatively safe for allied craft.

"Of the numerous devices now employed to free the seas," he says, "the depth bomb used by the destroyers and airplanes is probably the most effective."

Effect of Depth Bomb
Some idea as to the power of the depth bomb may be gleaned from the following narrative of Dr. Rand: "I was standing upon the deck of a transport one day in the danger zone. The ship reeled as if it had been struck by a torpedo. Below decks the shock was even greater and there was a rush of soldiers from their quarters in the holds. Such was the effect upon a ship in a convoy of a depth bomb dropped by an American destroyer at probably a thousand yards distance. It was easy to surmise the damage done to the German submarine; the periscope of which had been sighted close by. The shell of such a craft would be smashed beyond hope of escape.

"Soon other bombs were dropped in quick succession to make sure of the U-boat's complete destruction. A year ago, before depth bombs were in general use, the American destroyer which accompanied a ship through the war zone, after discharging several shots, ran down a submarine before the enemy craft had a chance to discharge a torpedo.

Convoy's Effective

"Next to the sight of the grand fleet, which I visited last year, my wonder and admiration were evoked by scenes witnessed in the protection of a convoy of troopships. It is due to the effectiveness of such protection that only one troopship and a few hundred lives have been lost in the transport of more than a million and a half of American troops.

"The control of the sea is based upon the eternal vigilance and the naval superiority of the allied powers. Indeed, it may be said that the Germans are not born to the sea, and it would be impossible for such a race to become its masters."

Dr. Rand accompanied a shipload of American soldiers this summer from the port of their departure in America until they reached the front lines in France. Besides seeing the grand fleet last year, he visited the English front in Flanders.

CORSETS

Are

Essentials

It is interesting to note that the British Minister of Munitions has ruled that corsets are essential to the health and endurance of women workers.

That a properly fitted corset is as essential to health and comfort, as it is for a modish, graceful figure, makes its selection highly important. Recognizing this, our corsetieres have provided models for every figure and every purpose—and will assist you in determining your individual requirement.

"NOT A NATION"

By Lucy Jeanne Price

They said that we were not a nation;
Just a medley from various lands;
No national heart and no national soul;
With no hope and no wish to join hands.

Then the word blared forth to the country,
"Close ranks! For the Flag of us all!"
And the faith that brought us together
Shone out at the Colors' call.

One cry came back from the people,
From Latin and Norman and Slay:
"America! Freedom is threatened!
"Take all that we are and have,
"We know what we sought when we came here;

"What we're working for, everyone,
"And that work has bound us together,
"It will hold 'till eternity's done.
"We give you our lives and our dollars;

"We will work; we will fight; we will die;
"For the faith that has builded a nation
"From the four winds of earth,

STRIKE TAKEN TO COURT

2500 Buffalo Carmen Quit—Car Paralysis Will Continue Four Days

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 4.—The strike of 2500 employees of the International Railway company, which has completely tied up the city and interurban street car system along the Niagara frontier, was taken to court yesterday afternoon.

The indications last night were that the court proceedings would require at least four days, and that in the meantime the paralysis of street car traffic would continue. Not a car moved yesterday on any branch of the system.
The court proceedings were begun by Ledyard P. Hale, chief counsel for the public service commission. Under mandamus Justice Marcus issued an order requiring the International to show cause why it should not give the car service as required by its franchise.
Mr. Hale told the court he was prepared to show that the company is earning enough money to operate cars if it stops paying interest on bonds, and he held that the operation of cars was the company's first duty. The railway company was given until Saturday to file a reply.

Officials of the International hold that the company cannot meet its bond obligations and pay the wage scale of 43 to 48 cents an hour fixed by the war labor board for which the men struck. The award would add $1,600,000 a year to the company's payroll, and without the legal right to increase fares to six cents it faced bankruptcy, they declared.
Thousands of persons walked to and from their work yesterday, while other thousands patronized an extensive jitney service which sprang up overnight. None of the large war industries was seriously embarrassed by the inability of employees to reach the factories.

BULGARIA ASKED AID OF PRESIDENT WILSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Stephen Parnareff, the Bulgarian minister, yesterday made public the text of the message from his government asking the good offices of the United States in obtaining an armistice. The message was delivered to Secretary Lansing last Monday, just after news of the signing of the armistice between the allies and Bulgaria had reached the state department. The text, signed by Premier Minoff, is as follows:
"Kindly transmit to the president of the United States and to the secretary of state, Mr. Lansing, in Washington, the following:
"The Bulgarian nation and government were constrained to enter into the general conflict after they had exhausted all peaceful means possible for coming to an understanding with their neighbors and for realizing their race reunion. This fact Bulgaria reiterated in her note of Sept. 26 last in answer to the peace proposition of Count Buriak, given out on Sept. 14.

"If the ideas of the president of the United States are crowned with success and if their realization is that sought for, no more in the old conception of methods of action, but in the path pointed out by the honored president of the American republic for the establishment of a new order of things guaranteeing freedom and justice among the nations, Bulgaria, which feels that the idea and the cause for which she is struggling find place side by side with the principles in behalf of which America interposed in this war, is glad and ready to follow that path in order to secure the fulfillment of justice desired by her.

Gas in the Stomach Is Dangerous

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."
Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart. It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloated right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid, and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion. For sale at Liggett's Riker-Jaynes' drug store and other leading druggists.—Adv.

WHY WE DO THIS

Never in the history of New England has such a distinctive, dignified and high-grade publicity contest been offered, especially emanating from one of the largest exclusive Piano Houses in the East. The fact that this far-reaching publicity contest is launched by this old established concern stamps it immediately as one of the squarest propositions ever offered, and its magnitude precludes any possibility of legitimate criticism. It is a well-known fact that high-grade advertising is the life of up-to-date business methods in any line of commercialism. We want the good people of this vicinity to better know Lord & Co., their fine pianos and their many saving facilities to the buyer. We want to increase our sales this year, and for this purpose we have set aside a large fund for advertising purposes, to bring this house to the attention of every home, old and new.

ONE BARREL OF FLOUR LIMIT TO HOMES

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—A. C. Ratschsky, assistant food administrator for Massachusetts, in response to many inquiries from housekeepers who desire to buy flour in quantities greater than the 2 1/2 pound limit, which was until recently the allotment for a family, yesterday announced that the restrictions by which the dealers are limited to a two months' supply of flour are not imposed on consumers.

"As much as a barrel may be bought by a family," he said. "As to the amount of flour which may be purchased," said Mr. Ratschsky, "the administration has preferred to set no hard and fast limit. It requests only that consumers should purchase in moderate amounts consistent with economy of delivery, and should in every case use at least one pound of substitutes with each four pounds of flour."

"The prohibition against hoarding means that people should not accumulate more than they have been accustomed to in peace times. In order to prevent speculation and the withholding of vital supplies from us, it has been necessary to limit all dealers to a two months' supply, but this limit does not apply strictly to householders. They may buy a barrel, with the necessary substitutes, at a time, but should not buy more unless the establishment is a very large one."

"More important than ever now is economy in the use of flour. The crop of 1917 was exhausted almost to the last bushel before the new harvest became available, but the present prospects are that, if the American people live strictly up to the 80-20 program, and, in addition, make the usual amount of cornbread, with little, if any, wheat flour, there will be a margin of safety to carry over against a possible shortage in the next crop."

Meeting and Drill for Parade at 7.30 Tonight

An important meeting of the O.M.I. Cadets will be held at the armory in the Immaculate Conception school tonight at 7.30 o'clock, and the officers desire that all members of the organization attend. Important business will be transacted, and a drill in preparation for participation in the big Columbus day parade will be held. All members, officers and privates, are urged to wear uniforms, either the blue or khaki, but Col. Ralls warns all to wear heavy clothing as a precaution against catching cold.

SUFFRAGE LEADERS THANK PRES. WILSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—President Wilson yesterday delivered one of the few but interesting presidential addresses which in all likelihood will never find its way into print. He received a delegation of 100 woman suffragists, most of them from the National American Woman Suffrage association, representing practically every state and headed by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt.

They came to express their thanks for his address to the senate earlier in the week and for all his efforts toward adoption of the woman suffrage constitutional amendment resolution. What he said will not be printed because the gathering was private and it was generally understood that his remarks were not to be given out, but it can be said that he expressed his views of the senate's rejection of the resolution in terms which have attracted the world's attention to his rhetoric.

At the conclusion of the reception, he greeted each woman, expressing his appreciation of her visit.

Giant Efforts of Enemy to
Stern Daily Advancing
Tide of Battle

Germans Are Fighting With
the Energy of Desperation
Along the Western Front

LONDON, Oct. 4.—News from all sectors of the western front tells of giant efforts by the enemy to stem the daily advancing tide of battle. The Germans are putting in their best troops and according to all reports are fighting with the energy of desperation. Still there is not a sign of any great retreat, except the withdrawal in the Flanders sector, where the British have occupied Armentieres and Lens and are closely pressing the retreating enemy. The recapture of the great French coal region affords great satisfaction here.

In the Sequehart-Bony sector the Allied breach in the Hindenburg system was extended today and the fighting reached the outskirts of Mont Brehan, where Australian units with tanks are operating. The importance the Germans attach to the retention of this portion of the line is indicated by the Frankfurt Gazette, which states that in order to prevent a frontal break-through between Cambrai and St. Quentin, General Von Boehn's army has been made so strong that it is equivalent to a complete army group. The Gazette declares "there is danger along the whole western front."

It cannot be long before an important enemy retreat from the Hindenburg line is bound to happen, according to the universal military opinion here. In the meantime the Germans are putting forth enormous efforts. They are counter attacking heavily and the battle is swaying back and forth in deadly grapple.

NON-ESSENTIAL INDUSTRIES

That many Lowell men and women who are now engaged in some of the various non-essential industries will soon become part of the country's munitions organization, is the belief of Cornelius F. Cronin, the local "help wanted" man. Mr. Cronin further states, according to directions recently issued to him, that in his opinion the government intends to increase the munition output, and to this end, every available man and woman will be expected to do their bit.

In some cities a census of men and women not engaged in what is essentially war work has already been begun. The reason for this seems to be that the government has begun to prepare for the time when thousands of munition workers will be inducted into the service, and when it will be necessary to know just where others who can take their places may be found.

PAUL J. HARTLEY
MADE SERGEANT

Word has been received by relatives of Paul J. Hartley, formerly of 13 Floyd street, that he has been promoted to sergeant since arriving "over there."

Sergeant Hartley left Lowell in September, 1917, with the second quota from Division 3 for Camp Devens. Later he was transferred to Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga., where he was promoted to corporal. He sailed overseas with his unit, Co. M, 325th Infantry, in April, and received his second promotion during the summer. In a letter recently received here, Sergeant Hartley says that nothing that has been written gives a real idea of the fearlessness, bravery and courage of the American boys.

Sergeant Hartley was formerly foreman for the Sharp Ice Cream Co. in Lowell. A younger brother, Joseph E. Hartley, enlisted last December in the Quartermaster Corps and is now in France.

LOWELL SOLDIER
WOUNDED IN ACTION

Private Aubrey Major Bearsto, Fifth Canadian Regiment of 24 Penn avenue, this city, was wounded Sept. 29 while in action in France, according to information which has been received by his wife. The wounds are in the head and are due to gunshot.

Private Bearsto enlisted in the Canadian forces last January in Lowell and after preliminary training in Canada, went overseas in February. He is 24 years old and had previously been employed as a coal teamster for the Lowell Co-operative Co. Besides his wife, Edith, he has a small child.

Mrs. Bearsto received a letter from her husband a week ago in which he said that his unit had been busy in combat with the Huns.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Payne Whitney, of this city, a son of the late William C. Whitney, secretary of the navy under President Cleveland, and a younger brother of Henry Payne Whitney, has enlisted as a private in the army and will report at Camp Lee, Va., next week.

Mr. Whitney is a director of many banks and trust companies here. He was graduated from Yale in 1895, and from Harvard Law school in 1901.

FRENCH SOON TO GET
GREAT COAL MINES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The German retreat from the Hindenburg line was in full swing yesterday, menaced by French, Belgian and British thrusts at vital points. While official reports told only of the evacuation of Armentieres and Lens, officers here confidently expected that this phase of the withdrawal must be expanded to the south under the threat of the British push northeastward from their lines between the Scarpe and Cambrai.

With the evacuation of Lens, the enemy's hold on the great coal region of northern France is loosened. Nothing has been received as yet to show whether the mines have been fired, but it is regarded as certain that during the years of German occupation the great fuel storehouses below the surface have been worked to the limit.

As evidence of the complete confidence with which the allied leaders have viewed the future ever since it became certain that the United States would succeed in getting a great army to France for the fighting this year, it is now known that re-occupation of the Lens coal fields has been definitely figured on for some months in computing fuel needs and supplies. There also are indications that American coal mining units, equipped with the most up-to-date machinery, even with the means of fighting possible fires in the workings will be ready to enter the mines as rapidly as the armies force the enemy beyond them. Gen. Pershing's forces, no doubt, will get some part of their coal this winter from this source, relieving the shipping situation to an extent.

The force that compelled the German leaders to order the evacuation of the Lens-Armentieres front undoubtedly, in military opinion here, was the wholly unexpected rush in Belgium in which the Belgian army itself, under command of its soldier-king, formed the spearhead that broke the way for swift expansion of the victory by French and British forces. There appears to be little doubt now that King Albert will be able to re-establish his capital on Belgian soil this winter, although officers here are unwilling to predict as yet just how far the enemy will be forced back. Much depends on the weather.

Standing on the flank of the German communication system from Armentieres to the immediate vicinity of Courtrai Gen. Phumer's 2d British army is now believed to hold the key to a wide stretch of territory now in enemy hands. The wide, but rather shallow pocket which is forming between this line along the Lys river and the British forces just beyond the Scarpe to the south includes the most thickly settled area through which the battle lines pass on any part of the front and the numerous towns and villages offer the enemy great opportunity for slow withdrawal and the machine gun rear guard action.

The evacuation of Lens foreshadows the early fall of Douai, already closely pressed from the south. It is now clear that the grand strategy of Marshal Foch contemplated pinching the enemy out of the whole Lille Douai sector and the abnormal quiet that has prevailed along the Lens front up to now is explained. The supreme commander is today realizing the full success of that plan.

SAID HE WAS A
GOVERNMENT AGENT

Mrs. Tessie O'Brien of 399 Worthen street was very much mystified yesterday afternoon, when she received a visit from an unknown stranger in civilian attire, who represented himself as a government agent and informed her that her son, who is serving with the American forces overseas, would arrive home this Saturday. The unknown showed a badge and stated that he came from Washington. He also told her that her son would receive his discharge papers soon after his return.

Mrs. O'Brien has had no reason to believe that her son was on his way back and is inclined to think that this obliging gentleman with his government connections is very much of a fraud. Although his purpose does not seem clear, it is a safe assumption that the government is not using this means to give out information.

ANOTHER WILSON COUP

It was through President Wilson that the unified command was forced upon the allied powers and without which they never could have beaten Germany.

The President has now succeeded in bringing about a similar pooling of the resources of the allies in food, money, ships, raw materials and munitions. It had come to light that there was wasteful competition going on among several of these powers in the matter of raw material and that in other cases, there might have been a great saving as for example in the use of shipping and transportation agencies by having a central body to determine first, the needs of the various belligerents, and second, the general resources at command to meet those needs. Thus there will be perfect co-ordination of effort by the associated governments so as to furnish centralized control in five inter-allied councils covering war, shipping, munitions, food, finance.

These are intended to deal with the economic and industrial phases of the war so that each power may be benefited wherever necessary by the resources of all the others and that there shall be no waste of effort due to duplication in the various allied nations. If England makes enough tanks for the other powers, let these be distributed. If France furnishes a surplus of aeroplanes, under the new arrangement, they will be shared with other belligerents who cannot make them such as Belgium and Italy. If the United States turns out long range guns more readily than any of the other powers, these guns may be distributed along the various fronts wherever General Foch may advise. If the United States has a surplus of wheat, of sugar or other foodstuffs, these will be allotted among the other belligerents according to their respective needs. So with raw materials, ships and money. It might be supposed that the United States would be the loser by such an arrangement, but such is not the case. There are many necessary war materials that the United States can get more readily from the other powers than by having them shipped across the ocean. In this way too, the available tonnage may be used for other essential purposes.

Just as the unified command enabled the allies to produce better results so this arrangement will enable them to make the best possible use of their industrial and economic resources so as to keep all the powers firmly in line and prevent any from weakening or finding reasons for making a separate peace.

This arrangement is one of the most far-sighted and statesmanlike yet proposed in the war. It offers a degree of security that could be reached in no other way. It is another of those very brilliant moves by which President Wilson has proved himself to be the leading statesman and the most accomplished executive of the entire world.

GERMANY MUST PAY

In view of the fact that Germany is burning all the cities and towns she is forced to evacuate, it is proposed that the allies shall pledge themselves to take reprisals by destroying an equal number of German cities and towns of like importance. That would be one method of punishing Germany for her ruthless destruction; but it would be repulsive to the allies to commit such deliberate destruction in a spirit of revenge. Why not notify Germany that for any future ruthlessness of this kind, she will be held strictly accountable at the final reckoning at the end of the war, and made to pay in territory if not in money? Belgium, France and other nations that have suffered from this fiendish ruthlessness authorized by Germany, should be compensated for their loss by Germany. How long will it require the Germans to make reparation for the devastation they have spread wherever they went in France and Belgium?

Death to the Kaiser would be a slight punishment for all the crimes he has authorized; but if he be not put to death, he should at least be consigned to prison for the remainder of his miserable life. The treatment accorded Napoleon in St. Helena would be too good for him; but there can be no real reform in Germany while there is a single shred of the Hohenzollern dynasty left. It must be swept away so that the German people may be free to work out their own national destiny.

For them the new freedom will come as a heavenly gift, releasing them from the bondage of militarism and the periodical slaughter resulting from the wars precipitated by the ambition of the Prussian war lords for extending their domain.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE

We expect that the question of woman suffrage will come up soon again in the United States senate and that then the amendment will be carried. It is somewhat surprising that the senators should hold out against the appeal of the president for the passage of the amendment as a war measure. The opposition may be divided into three classes. The first comes from the south, where there is an honest prejudice against enfranchising colored women. The second is largely located in New England where some of the senators hold that suffrage is a matter that should be dealt with separately by the states, and that the federal action proposed would be an infringement upon state rights. The remainder of the opposition is based upon the republican assumption that President Wilson is influenced by political motives in coming out in favor of the amendment at this time. This view is taken by the hide-bound republicans who are incapable of seeing anything higher than political trickery in the president's war policies. It should be plain enough that to make the world safe for democracy, the nations engaged in that undertaking, should set a worthy example of democracy in the administration of their own governmental affairs. England has granted woman suffrage as a matter of justice to women who are now very largely engaged in doing the work formerly done by men. For the same reason President Wilson believes that the women of the United States should be granted the right to vote on political questions same as the men.

It is to be hoped that after a little illuminating discussion, there will be a sufficient number of the opposing senators converted to the suffrage side to make the necessary two-thirds vote and thus pass the amendment. If it were submitted to the country, it would probably be carried in every state of the union.

PRICE OF SHOES

The government hereafter will fix the price of shoes throughout the country. The price limit will be from $3 to $12. It seems that in some parts of the country the price of shoes had reached the extraordinary figure of $20. To prevent profiteering of this kind, the government has stepped in to control the prices and when the new price schedule takes effect the lowest price at which shoes can be sold, even on the bargain counter, will be $3, while the highest cannot exceed $12. Between these limits there is latitude enough to suit almost everybody.

THE LOAN

The Liberty loan campaign is progressing steadily and the various agencies at work have no reason to be discouraged. Many of the states have already completed their allotted quota but the Bay State is not in that distinguished category. Usually in such campaigns there is a perceptible lull after the boom of the opening guns has died away, but in a few days, the enthusiasm will again come to the front with encouraging results. This is a campaign in which everybody who can spare the money should subscribe. It is a patriotic duty that devolves upon every man and woman to buy bonds to the extent of their financial ability. In this way alone can a complete victory be won by exceeding the allotted quota before the end of the campaign.

WILL STAND BY LONG

It is in order to commend the loyalty of Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan to the democratic party as shown by his course in turning to support the democratic nominee, Mr. Richard H. Long, although in the primaries the fought vigorously and confidently for Col. Gaston. Were he a more selfish wire-puller, he would sulk in his tent and vote for the republican candidate, but Mr. O'Sullivan is not that kind of a democrat. He has pledged his loyal support to Mr. Long during the campaign so that the hopes of the Boston Herald and some other republican agencies for a democratic split in Lowell, will thus be frustrated. There is no reason why Mr. Long should not carry Lowell by a sweeping majority.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

The nearest that the boyhood "crime" of defacing a perfectly respectable brick wall by drawing chalk pictures on it, ever came to be excusable, in my opinion, is in the examples of boy "art" to be seen on some of the brick walls here in our city. First the boy artist has lettered—and goodness only knows when he could do it without being seen—this legend, "Buy bonds and sweat the...". Then comes a long line directing the eye of the passerby down to where the artist has drawn a picture—mistakenly German in all its features and a pretty good likeness at that. To complete his effort, the boy always draws a loop coming out of the German's mouth and inside the loop you read, "The world is mine." I noted three or four of these brick wall drawings on Bridge street yesterday.

I watched a crap game over at First street dump Wednesday afternoon and more than anything else, I hope the woman who now has charge of the Lowell Boys' club, in the absence of her husband who is fighting for his country in France, and the man who is in charge of the boys' department at the Y.M.C.A. will read what is described here. Among others responsible, I regard it as being up to these two persons in particular, to get after these boys and, in the manner known to, and the art practiced by experts who thoroughly understand boy nature, take such measures as will head these boys away from the path that leads towards their being arrested as petty gamblers in future years and having their parents visiting this office to see if The Sun will keep the boys' names out of the paper after they have appeared in police court.

There were five boys in the party, all good and intelligent American boys and it probably wasn't their fault that they could find nothing better to do than shoot craps on the dump field that afternoon. First I learned that it is their habit to visit the dump itself, all five of them, and hunt for brass cartridge shells. They make a long and diligent hunt for these, as cartridge shells, being brass, represent a money value of from 10 to 15 cents a pound and can be converted into cash at the junk man's. Of course it is self evident that while they are looking for empty and discarded cartridge shells on the dump they are exposed to whatever disease germs may be lurking among the city's refuse deposited there. But these boys had pennies to put down in the crap game and I noticed they played it as if they were experts. It seems a little vigilance on the part of the parents, the police or somebody else might turn these boys to some form of amusement that would not lead directly to the gambling habit.

I have noticed that many autoists making the mistake of driving up Wilder street, after passing the intersection of that street and Broadway, in the past two weeks have found that they had to turn around and retrace their way back to Broadway. The reason for this, I learn is, that although the Wilder street bridge has been under repair for some time, and at the present stage is unsafe for travel, there has been no move as yet to post a "bridge closed" sign at the nearby corner, which would save much inconvenience. The contractor or somebody else has evidently slipped up on this little matter of detail.

"SMILEAGE" SENT BUDDY WILL TICKLE HIM

WASHINGTON, October — Seats for the shows cost from 15 to 50 cents, and in order that the families and friends of the men in service as well as the theatrical profession may help to make camp life pleasant "smileage" has been instituted—those books of coupons costing $1 or $5 which may be bought in almost any community in America and sent to the man in camp where he presents them for admission at the Liberty Theatre.

Two of the recent calls for smileage come from Lieutenant Elmer McFadden, chaplain of the 14th Field Artillery at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, who states that there are 450 men in his regiment deserving smileage; and from the Red Cross director at Camp Greene, who asks that 4000 smileage books be sent for distribution to convalescent soldiers.

Enthusiastic over the patriotic and social service to be rendered, the Tobacco Salesmen's Association of America is conducting an elaborate smileage drive in New York City, under the

News From Camp Devens

SPANISH INFLUENZA CASES DROP AT CAMP DEVENS—ONLY 58 NEW CASES REPORTED

CAMP DEVENS, Oct. 4.—Grippe epidemic deaths in camp hospitals dropped to 14 yesterday, a decrease of 19 as compared with the last official report. Medical officers now believe they have the situation well under control.

Pneumonia developed in 23 soldiers in the hospitals and 68 new cases of influenza were reported for treatment.

New Englanders on the official death list yesterday were Joan E. Clogston, Winston, Vt.; Thomas E. Moses, Fitchburg; Edward B. Wilson, Feeding Hills; Karl R. Milliken, Dorchester; Gideon F. Roy, Winslow, Me.; Ayrid C. Johnson, Monson, Me.; Arthur W. Ashby, East Machias, Me.; Leslie J. Wright, South Pomfret, Vt.; George W. Knight, Carmel, Me.; Dennis Hogan, New Britain, Conn.; Verdi E. Whitcomb, Bethlehem, N. H.; Anet Hassan, Providence, R. I.; William Hussey, West Ossipee, N. H.; John G. Ladd, South Brookville, Me.; Michele Fumirela, Fairhaven, Vt.

Believe Widow in Error

Although officers at division headquarters wish to wait for a comparison of the finger prints on record at the surgeon general's office, Washington, of Private Horace D. Springer of Plymouth, and those taken from the body sent to Plymouth for burial, there appears to be little chance that the remains were other than of this private. Mrs. Springer was at her husband's bedside when he died and he was the only one to die in his ward within four hours. His changed appearance is attributed to the mistake of his widow in believing the wrong body had been forwarded.

Maj. Harrison M. Duffill of Boston, assistant division quartermaster, went to Washington to attend the Army War college staff officers' course. He will rejoin the division later.

Two additional blankets issued to soldiers will be rolled in a poncho and looped over the pack, this method having been approved at an inspection this noon. Maj. Gen. McCain, Brig. Gen. Woodward and staff, and field officers, inspected pack arrangements demonstrated by 50 soldiers.

The remodeled buildings are being occupied by soldiers in the Development battalion as rapidly as they can be completed. They are heated with tent stoves and afford more air space than the barracks.

TO SUSPEND THE PUBLICATION OF THE HARVARD CRIMSON

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 4.—The Harvard Crimson, a daily paper, published by the undergraduates at Harvard university, announced in today's issue that publication would be suspended under the present management. The decision followed an order from Col. Charles A. Williams, commanding officer of the Student Army Training Corps prohibiting members of that organization from having any connection with a college publication. All but two of the Crimson's staff plan to become members of the military unit. It was announced that efforts will be made to resume publication later under conditions compatible with Col. Williams' order.

The Illustrated, a monthly, will also suspend after one issue. It was stated. The Lampoon, a bi-monthly, and the Advocate, plan to continue.

FUNERAL NOTICES

PYNE—The funeral of Russell J. Pyne, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Pyne and brother of the late Josephine W. Pyne who died Wednesday morning, will take place Saturday morning from the home of his parents, 65 Kinsman street, at 11 o'clock. Burial will be in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery. Funeral arrangements in charge of Undertakers O'Connell & Fay.

FUNERALS

DEMPSEY—The funeral of Miss Edith Dempsey took place yesterday morning from her home, 124 Beacon street, Brookline, at 9:30 o'clock. At 10 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem was sung at St. Aidan's church by the pastor, Rev. Dr. John E. O'neagh, assisted by Rev. Canon deacon and Rev. Joseph A. Cunniff of St. Patrick's church, of this city, as sub-deacon. Monsignor Hurley of Longwood was present in the sanctuary. The choir under the direction of Miss Mary C. Kent sang the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Miss Lucille Campbell and Miss Philomina Dowd. The bearers were: Messrs. Lawrence J. Harrington of Manchester, N. H., William B. Harrington of Boston, Leo and J. Harry Farrell of Providence, Bart Scannell and Thomas J. O'Donnell of this city. The burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Monsignor O'Brien of St. Patrick's church, assisted by Monsignor Hurley. The arrangements were in charge of Mr. P. Keyes.

James F. O'Donnell & Sons were the undertakers.

CARDINAL—The funeral of Margaret Cardinal took place today at 5:30 o'clock from the chapel of James F. O'Donnell & Sons, and proceeded to the Sacred Heart church where at 9 o'clock a funeral mass was sung by Rev. Fr. Mahon, O.M.I. The choir rendered the Gregorian mass. Mr. John Kelly presiding at the organ. The bearers were: John McMenamin, Thomas L. Latham, James Colwell and John Hogan. There were many beautiful floral tributes and spiritual bouquets. At the grave Rev. Fr. Mahon read the committal prayers and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

MURRAY—The funeral of Mrs. Annie Murray took place this morning at 9 o'clock from her late home, 27 Agawam street and proceeded to the Sacred Heart church where at 9:45 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated by the Rev. James T. McDermott, O.M.I. The choir rendered the Gregorian mass. Solos were rendered during the mass by the sanctuary choir. Mr. John J. Kelly presided at the organ. There was a profusion of beautiful and appropriate floral offerings and numerous spiritual bouquets. The casket was borne by the following bearers: Messrs. Peter McDermott, Andrew Murray, Thomas Mahan, William Whitson, Thomas Higgins and John Flynn. The burial took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery where the committal prayers were read at the grave by the Rev. James T. McDermott, O.M.I., assisted by the Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I. The funeral was largely attended and under the direction of Undertakers Higgins Bros.

DEATHS

CHAMPAGNE—Mary A. Champagne, a resident of Berlin, N. H., died Thursday night at St. John's hospital. The body was taken to the chapel of James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

DRISCOLL—Paul Driscoll, infant son of William and Rose Martin Driscoll, died Thursday night at the home of his parents, 4 rear 25 Cross st.

ENFORCE ORDER CLOSING ALL SALOONS IN PENN.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—Orders of the state health commissioner closing every saloon and place of amusement in Pennsylvania, were enforced today in an effort to check the spread of influenza.

Virtually every large industrial establishment in the metropolitan district of Philadelphia, one of the greatest centers of war activity in the world has been affected. Thousands of employees in the Delaware river shipyards have been stricken and more than 400 men at the great Hog Island yard alone are off duty for this reason.

Grippe Abating

of St. Patrick's church, said this afternoon that the Catholic churches would hold brief services Sunday morning but that doors and windows would be open wide so that the services will take on more or less of an outdoor atmosphere. "They will be of the briefest character possible," Mayor Thompson said today that he expected the isolation hospital in Warren avenue would be opened for influenza patients Monday morning. Everything is in readiness for the reception of patients with the exception of a few minor details. Beds were sent to the buildings today and the charwomen at city hall have volunteered their services to Mayor Thompson to get the building in shape for occupancy. Coal has been put in the basement, heating and lighting fixtures are in first rate condition and all that is needed is a word from his honor to open the building.

The mayor said this morning that he wanted to thank the local hospitals publicly for the splendid cooperation they have given the city in the present emergency. They have postponed many surgical cases, except those where it was a matter of life and death, so that they might devote more room for grippe patients. Every available bed in the spacious hospital has been opened up willingly by the hospital authorities and their own patronage has in many cases been overlooked in the interest of the common good.

Mayor Makes Statement

Mayor Thompson this afternoon made a statement concerning gatherings at homes where death has occurred. His Honor requests that such gatherings be confined to the immediate relatives of the deceased as a health measure in view of the present epidemic. The statement follows:

"Owing to the seriousness of the health situation in Lowell at the present time, I feel it to be most important that all gatherings at homes where death has occurred be confined to the immediate relatives of the deceased. This is strictly a health measure and our health as a community is at stake. I trust that this request will be lived up to strictly until such a time as influenza disappears from this city and vicinity as a whole."

FERRY D. THOMPSON, Mayor of Lowell.

The Red Cross

Robert F. Marden, president of the local chapter of the Red Cross, received a telegram today from James Jackson, head of the New England division, in which he suggested that school teachers be asked to act as nurses' aids during the epidemic in those communities where the schools are closed. The telegram follows:

Robert F. Marden, American Red Cross, Lowell.
Influenza situation growing where schools are closed. Suggest mobilization of school teachers to serve as nurses' aids. Epidemic is spreading throughout the country. No outside help, therefore, available. Necessary each community to look after its own situation. JAMES JACKSON.

FLEES WHILE CROSSING BRIDGE OF SIGNS

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Outwitting a squad of officers who were conducting him across the Bridge of Signs from the Tombs to the criminal courts building for arraignment on a charge of murdering a Canadian soldier, Richard Harrison gained his freedom here today.

He leaped ahead of his guards in the passageway and ran into the trial chamber, slamming its door so hard in the faces of his pursuers that one of them was stunned. Then he scaled the iron prisoners' pen, hurried through the court room to the corridor and there, walking calmly to the street, through throngs of persons going in and out of the building, down a long flight of steps at the main entrance and disappeared.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
The regular meeting announced for this evening at the First Baptist church will not take place and all services at this church announced for Sunday will also be omitted.

FRENCH COMPOSER HEAD OF BOSTON SYMPHONY

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Henri Rabaud, a distinguished French composer and musician, has accepted the conductorship of the Boston Symphony orchestra for the season 1918-19. This announcement was received today by the Symphony trustees in a cablegram from the Ministry of Fine Arts in Paris, which said also that Mr. Rabaud would sail immediately so as to be here early in November. For the past five years, Mr. Rabaud has been one of the principal conductors of the Grand Opera in Paris and has also done much concert work. Among his orchestral compositions, the Second Symphony and "La Procession Nocturne" are regarded as works of high importance, while his operas "Maurice" and "La Fille de Roland" have had much success.

BUY THRIFT AND WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Lowell people are still buying thrift and war savings stamps, as the figures for the month of September will show. During that time the post office reports sales to the amount of $54,575.40. This makes the grand total for the year very close to the half-million mark, $455,104.40 being the exact amount to Oct. 1. The figures for September are slightly below those of the preceding month, when $62,214.88 was recorded for the month's work. James F. Owens, chairman of the Lowell W. S. S. committee, speaking in regard to this falling off, said: "September is usually a dull month in all lines of business, due probably to so many people being on their vacations. I think we shall eclipse these figures during the month of October. With the glorious news of our boys' splendid successes coming daily to us over the wires, I think we will all be found ready and willing to see that the government does not lack funds to keep them well clothed and fed, as they go forward over there for freedom and democracy."

"I hope that the local W. S. S. clubs, of which we have several in the industrial and munition plants throughout the city, will bear in mind that Uncle Sam depends on them for steady, definite results, and that they will continue to carry on the work with increasing success, to the end that Lowell can hold up its head with other cities when the final results shall be counted."

Some of Lowell's suburban neighbors are proving that they are behind Uncle Sam in his W. S. S. campaign. The figures for the current year up to Sept. 1 for some of the towns adjoining this city are as follows: Chelmsford, $22,047.34; Westford, $17,659.38; Tyngsboro, $2,964.54; Tewksbury, $2,964.54.

You may keep the home fires burning, you may pack your troubles, too, but our soldiers' safe returning needs a different song from you; for your money must keep singing, let its voice sound loud and clear; keep the War Stamp sales ringing, for the notes our men can hear; for they mean we are supporting every struggle with the foe; so the stamps must keep reporting just the news they want to know. Yes, the dollars you've been loaning have bought cannon, bombs and guns; but the War Stamps keep them groaning—with your message for the kins. And the more we help, by spending on Thrift Stamps now and again, the sooner we'll see war's ending—hence the War Stamps shield our men. You may keep the home fires burning, you may pack your troubles tight, but 'tis savings we are learning, that will sing to win the fight. So stop the war, and win it, yes, by buying U. S. S. RICHMOND C. SNOW, United States Fuel Administration.

THIS INGENUE SLEUTH CAPTURES THEM WITH A SMILE

You could tell, couldn't you, that she's not a detective by merely looking at her? Detectives are mysterious, suspicious persons who always wear their suspiciousness on their features, as every law breaker knows. That's what has fooled many of them about Miss Adele Miterman, ingenue sleuth in the Pacific coast immigration service, who ferrets out illegal entrants and enemy aliens coming into port. She disarms and captures them with a smile. Sherlock Holmes and Miss Watson were really very crude workmen in the realm of detection.

REFUSED TO REGISTER

Anarchist Convicted of Evading the Draft in Exactly One Minute

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Francisco de Reibes of Beverly, arrested for evading the draft, was found guilty in exactly one minute today after he had declared in federal court that he was an anarchist and would not register, even if he were given another chance. The juryman did not leave their seats. Judge Morton sentenced Reibes to one day in jail after which he will be turned over to immigration authorities for deportation to Italy as an undesirable alien.

LOWELL BOY MAKES GOOD IN NASHUA

William F. Sullivan, a former resident of this city, was recently endorsed for state senator by both republicans and democrats in Nashua, N. H.

Mr. Sullivan, who is the son-in-law of Supt. Robert Thomas of the Lowell water works, was at one time employed in the water department in this city. A few years ago he went to Nashua to live with his family and shortly afterward he secured the position of superintendent of the Nashua water works department. A short time ago, the former Lowellian made up his mind to enter politics and his popularity was such that his candidacy for state senator was endorsed by both parties.

BOOKS FORWARDED TO BOYS OVER THERE

Over 1000 books, which have been donated by local citizens, have been forwarded overseas from the Lowell library, Frederick A. Chase, city librarian, stated today. These books are given to the boys in most cases, shortly before they embark on the transports for the other side, and when they arrive in the cantonments there, the books are sure to provide entertainment for some of the lonesome boys who are longing for something which whistles of home.

The following summary will show the extent and far-reaching scope of the library war service, and what it does to provide entertainment and instruction for our boys over there:

The American Library association has been designated by the government as the agency for supplying reading matter for soldiers, sailors and marines, overseas and on this side.

The library war service of the American Library association seeks to place in the hands of every member of our fighting forces the book he needs when he wants it, whether he wishes to read for recreation or to fit himself to be a better fighter or a better American, to help him win success after the war.

Library war service supplies books and magazines, through military and naval officers, the Red Cross, Y.M.C.A., K. of C., Y.W.C.A., Jewish welfare board, war camp community service and Salvation Army, for the use of the men of the army, navy and marines. It places libraries on warships, transports and government cargo ships. Two hundred and fifty vessels have libraries; there is a deck library on every transport.

It buys educational and technical books to meet the demand of the men for "Books that Help."

It maintains library service in military and naval hospitals.

The work of the American Library war service to date can be summarized as follows:

41 library buildings in operation.
43 large camp libraries established.
143 hospitals and Red Cross houses supplied.
243 librarians maintained in the service.
315 small military camps and posts equipped with books.
350 points overseas supplied with books.
406 naval and marine stations supplied with libraries.
1547 branches and stations located in recreation huts, barracks and mess halls.
600,000 books purchased, largely technical.
1,030,453 books shipped overseas.
2,011,510 gift-books placed in service.
5,000,000 gift-magazines distributed.

RAISIN CROP IS RUINED BY RAIN

FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 4.—Untimely rains in this section of the San Joaquin valley have ruined a large percentage of the raisin crop which was in process of drying in the vineyards. Hundreds of thousands of trays today are lying in the fields with the blackened remains of what were once partially cured raisins. In scores of vineyards it is authoritatively stated the loss is complete.

German Flanks in Smashing Attacks—Great Gains

Are Reported Everywhere

(By The Associated Press)

Northeast of St. Quentin the British today are reported as fighting in the open country beyond the Hindenburg line after having pushed ahead five miles since Monday. From Lens northward and from Rheims eastward to the Argonne, the allies continue to bend back the German flanks in smashing attacks.

Bitter German Resistance

The breach driven through the German defenses south of Beaurevoir is on a front of five miles. To the north the British are plunging forward east and southeast from Le Cateau while on the south the French are attacking successfully between Sequehart and Lesdins. The German resistance is bitter, but there has been no letup in the strong allied pressure.

In the fighting in this area Thursday, Field Marshal Haig's men captured 400 prisoners.

To Take Cambrai and Laon

With the British in the open country northeast of St. Quentin and the cavalry and tanks pouring through the breach, the German positions about Cambrai and Laon will become most precarious. Through the opening in the line Marshal Foch would be able to throw troops to take both Cambrai and Laon in the rear.

British Press on West of Lille

West of Lille, the British continue to press the Germans eastward while extending their line south of Lens to Mericourt, where a good advance also has been made. Between Lens and Arras, the British have moved forward an average of more than three miles on a 20-mile front and east of the Bois Grenier are within six miles of the outer walls of the fortress of Lille. Meanwhile the British and Belgians in Flanders are widening the salient east of Ypres, which threatens the German positions on the coast and the network of railroads west of Ghent.

Retirement in Lille Salient

There are no indications that the Germans have halted their retirement in the Lille salient. The enemy is still several miles west of the Dettle canal which runs from north of Arras through Lille to north of Lens and which probably will form part of the German defense system before Lille. It is not probable the Germans will give up Lille without heavy fighting.

Americans in Big Smash

Around Rheims and east of the Suippe General Berthelot and Gouraud are drawing closer the sides of the German salient east of Rheims. American troops have joined the French in their operations east of the Suippe and have assisted in the advance northwest of Somme-Py, capturing the strong positions of Blanc Mont and the Meuse farm. Further east the French have taken Orfeuil and Bémont Chateau. North of Rheims, the French are working their way across the Aisne canal. It would seem that unless the Germans withdraw from the Champagne salient they are in danger of being caught in a trap between the armies of Berthelot and Gouraud.

Austrians in Retreat

In Albania the Austrians are reported retreating in disorder now that their base at Durazzo has been destroyed by entente warships. American submarine chasers sank two Austrian submarines during an attack on Durazzo in which supplies for the Austrians were destroyed.

Big Blow to Austrians

American, British and Italian warships have destroyed the Austrian naval base at Durazzo, Albania. This sensational exploit, which was carried out on Wednesday, seems to have reduced the Austrians to one Continued on Page Three

AN IMPOSTER SECURES CLOTHES AND MONEY

Some unauthorized person has been reported to the police as visiting the relatives of Lowell men in the national service and on the pretense of wishing to aid them to get their soldier relatives home, has been able to secure clothing and money.

Yesterday morning a man in civilian clothes, about 25 years old, five feet eight inches in height, visited the home of Mrs. Edmund Maille, 13 Winter street, and told Mrs. Maille that her son had been discharged from service overseas with Co. K of the 103d regiment. He said that the soldier would be home Saturday night or Sunday morning at the latest.

He then continued his story to the effect that the government could not afford to allow discharged soldiers to wear their uniforms home, so for that reason he had been authorized to get the civilians clothes of the soldier and bring them to him.

Mrs. Maille believed the stranger's tale and her credence was accentuated Continued on Page Ten

Lowell doctors reported 127 new cases of influenza at the office of the board of health up to noon today, bringing the total to date to 2738. Thirteen more deaths were reported, making a total of 88.

At the same hour yesterday 233 new cases had been reported and for that reason indications point to a decline in the epidemic. The authorities believe that continued cold weather will have a salutary effect on the disease.

With the exception of brief services in the Catholic churches, the city will be closed down tight Sunday. The Lowell federation of churches voted last evening to recommend that all the churches which are members of the organization—which includes practically all the Protestant churches of the city—omit all services on Sunday.

FIX CLOTHING PRICES

Goods Men

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Prices and distribution of practically all articles of wearing apparel are to be controlled by the war industries board. Regulations issued prescribing certain fixed prices for shoes constituted only the first step in a general policy for price control of clothing.

This was disclosed yesterday by Chairman Baruch of the board in an address at a special meeting of the National Retail Dry Goods association. Referring to the putting into effect of the agreement between the board and the shoe industry, Mr. Baruch said:

"After that will have to come the regulation and distribution of most all of the things which you gentlemen have to deal with. I don't want you to say it can't be done, because it must be done. It is unthinkable that only the man with the longest pocketbook can get the things that he needs."

The dry goods retailers were called upon by Chairman Baruch to take the product of "the manufacturer, who, to some extent, has his prices regulated and limited amounts allocated to him," with the determination to distribute it "in some fair and equitable way, seeing that, as far as possible, each individual gets his share and gets it at a price that is fair."

Normal Profits "Fair Price"

"When it comes to the question of a fair price," Mr. Baruch continued, "that is very difficult to answer. I should say, roughly, that a fair price is a price something like the normal profits in normal times. I know you will all say that these are abnormal times. They are, and we have got to do abnormal and new things."

To meet the request that representatives be named to confer with the war industries board in matters of distribution and price control, the association appointed a war service committee composed of William Mann, Chicago; George W. Milton, Boston; H. J. Tilley, Philadelphia; S. W. Heyburn, New York; F. H. Rike, Dayton, O.; Oscar L. Webber, Detroit, and Francis Kilguff, La Salle, Ill.

Though no details of the plan to be followed in controlling clothing prices have been announced by the board, it is believed that the general policy adopted in fixing the prices of shoes will be followed. Standard prices for standard grades of men's and women's suits, hats and other articles of clothing probably will be established by agreement with manufacturers and retailers.

More Details of Shoe Plan

By the agreement reached by the board and the shoe industry, additional details of which were made public yesterday, the program and styles of shoes under the regulated price plan will conform to that announced by the board in June, whereby both styles and colors were restricted. A number of manufacturers already have started work on the standardized grades. To prevent loss to manufacturers of high-priced shoes, the agreement provides that shoes retailing for more than $12, the maximum price fixed, which already have been manufactured, may be sold until June 1, 1919. After that date it will be impossible to buy ready-made shoes for more than $12. For shoes of the type usually worn in the summer months the maximum price will be $11.

Prices of children's shoes which were not announced yesterday will be as follows:

For the Class A, or highest grade, boys' misses and youths', $6.50 to $7 and $8; little girls', $5 to $6; infants', $4 to $5, and babies', $2 to $3.50. For the medium and low-priced grades in the four divisions the prices will be accordingly.

U. S. SOLDIERS ARE
HARVESTING CROP

CAMP DIX, Wrightston, N. J., Oct. 4.—The soldiers are harvesting the crop from the 200-acre demonstration garden planted last spring by the national war garden commission. They are counting 200,000 ears of sweet corn and 450,000 pounds of potatoes as well as weighing 451,000 pounds of hay and measuring up 60,000 pounds of string beans.

The soldier-farmers gave a harvest luncheon, Lieut. Bonner took great pride in showing a field of broom corn from which the reclamation service will make about 2000 brooms. Ask Mrs. Housewife if this is important and she will say yes for brooms are now over the dollar mark at the corner store.

Indications here are that the war department will do big things next year now that this demonstration garden has "made good" with a crop valued at $25,000.

FRENCH SOLDIER THE MOST UN-

THANKFUL PATIENT

BEHIND THE ALLIED LINES, Oct. 4.—Even though suffering, French soldiers emerging from the other in the numerous hospitals to the rear have never been known to fail to bestow upon the operating surgeon the French offer of thanks by a sentimental "Merci."

American physicians have been astonished at the amazing regularity with which the poilus show their gratitude for their services. After the most painful undertakings and the most critical operations, the "Merci" is never forgotten when the soldiers of France "come to."

"The poilu is an exception when it comes to undergoing medical and surgical treatment," said an American physician. "He is the most uncomplaining and in the same degree the most thankful patient in the hospitals."

65 CENTS AN HOUR FOR LONGSHOREMEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Forty-five thousand longshoremen in New York, Baltimore, Boston, Norfolk and Newport News were granted an eight-hour day, an increase of 15 cents an hour for regular day work and an increase of 25 cents an hour for overtime by a decision of the national labor adjustment commission made public here today.

The decision, which affects only longshore labor in connection with transatlantic vessels and cargo repair men, and which is made effective as of Oct. 1, denies to the longshoremen their demands for $1 an hour with a $2 hourly rate for overtime. They will receive 65 cents an hour for regular day work and $1 an hour for overtime. Regular work was defined as that done between 8 a. m. and noon on weekdays and between 1 and 5 p. m. on all weekdays but Saturday.

The decision also provides that the men shall be hired in regular gangs before 5 p. m. Saturday, when ordered out for work beginning Sunday morning, and that when men so ordered out do not begin work, except when they refuse because of weather conditions, they shall be paid for two hours at the prevailing rate.

It was also ordered that all differentials in rates of pay and all other terms and conditions at the port named shall be maintained according to agreements now in force.

It was announced that a decision affecting longshoremen serving coastwise vessels would be made public tomorrow when demands of shippers for an eight-hour day and an increase from $2.25 to $6 a day would also be decided.

Longshoremen engaged in overseas shiploading at the port of Boston, are disappointed with the wage findings of the commission, but are pleased with the granting of the basic 8-hour day, which is a reduction of one hour from their present work day shift.

plans are under way for a public demonstration for Mr. Winslow. He already has received a congratulatory letter from President Wilson. Mr. Winslow conducts a Red Cross auxiliary.

HUN RESERVES

Kaiser Hurls General Reserves Into Great Battle on St. Quentin Front

Fierce Counter Attack Fail to Halt Advance of the Allied Armies

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Germany is now throwing in general reserves into the battle on the St. Quentin front. This accounts for the stiffening resistance there and also along the German left flank and marks the beginning of the last phase of the great battle.

Notwithstanding violent counter attacks by the enemy, the allies continue to make gains which although local are none the less important, as they have a cumulative effect on the center of the line.

British armies commanded by General Byng and General Rawlinson continue to press the enemy hard. General Debeney, east of St. Quentin, is slowly pushing the Germans back toward the upper Oise valley. General Berthelot is continuing his advance north of Rheims and has now occupied the whole Aisne line from Vailly to Berry-au-Bac.

Principal interest along the front to the east centers about the operations conducted by General Gouraud in the Champagne sector. Reinforced by the Americans, he has pushed forward until he is now within six miles of Vouziers junction, a base of great importance and is 25 miles from the great railroad connecting the German army with Germany. He is also solidly established at Chalence, which assures eventual junction with the Americans on the other side of Argonne forest. He has added 3000 to the 13,000 prisoners taken since Sept. 26.

Better still are the results along the northern sectors of the battle front. The German retreat over a 17-mile line in the Armentieres section was accelerated yesterday. The enemy is now well east of Armentieres and Lens and the mining region of Bethune is completely cleared.

KEEP HUNS ON THE RUN

Feeling That Foch Will Not Permit Enemy to Rest This Winter

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES IN FRANCE, Oct. 4.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Marshal Foch is the only man who knows just what move he is planning for tomorrow or next week or next month, but there is growing in the fighting armies a feeling that the German is not going to be permitted to rest this winter.

Fight in good weather and dig in for bad has become almost an accepted principle in this war. Men trained in the theory of war prior to 1914 and in its practice since have agreed every year to the uselessness of attempting to drive the enemy from its trenches once the rain and sleet and snow set in, but there are indications that the initiative taken by the allies in July will be retained regardless of bad weather.

If Marshal Foch calls upon his army groups to continue jumping at the Germans they will and they will do it as they did in the early part of the war for, in addition to the reinforcement that America has provided, there is a spirit revived. The French are fighting with a confidence restored and the British are going in with greater enthusiasm than had been apparent for many months. They are not merely "carrying on." They are attacking away like one does when he knows there is another one right by his side hitting just as hard.

The Germans are not exhausted. They are not so badly fed. Their clothing is not bad and they probably have plenty of ammunition notwithstanding the enormous stores they have abandoned. But there is something wrong and men who have commanded troops in the recent Franco-American-British offensives are inclined to believe it is the realization by the people of Germany of the hopelessness of keeping up the fight against a foe who obviously is growing stronger instead of weaker.

German newspapers, official and semi-official documents and private letters that occasionally come to the hands of the allied troops no longer contain sneers regarding the American assistance. It is recognized that the American army cannot be disposed of so easily.

Many women who have thin blood and whose nerves are unstrung complain of a sensation around the heart that they describe as "smothering." It is an alarming symptom of anemia, or thin blood, and disappears when the blood is built up, as is shown in the following case:

Mrs. E. P. Maxfield of No. 51 Chestnut street, Rochester, N. H., had a general decline in her health due to overwork. She was under a physician's care but received no lasting help until she used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mrs. Maxfield says: "I had a general breakdown several years ago and thought I would never get over it. I was dragging around, tired all the time and fainting often. My stomach was affected and my heart fluttered so that it would nearly choke me."

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me by a friend who had been helped by them. After I had taken three boxes I could see an improvement, my strength returned and my general health was better. I have given the remedy to my son and it has entirely corrected a nervous twitching to which he was subject."

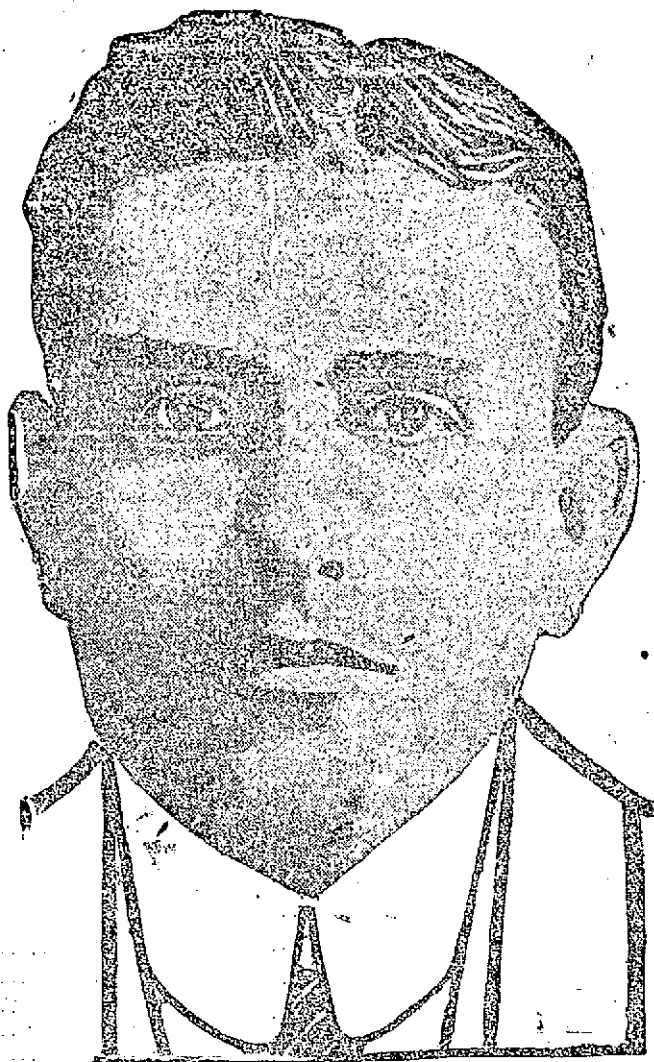

Debility is not a disease of any one organ. It is a general condition of unfitness. It must be met by a remedy whose good results will be quickly generalized throughout the entire system. In fact, it must be corrected by building up the blood which, when rich and red, carries renewed health and strength to every part of the body.

Debility is not a disease of any one organ. It is a general condition of unfitness. It must be met by a remedy whose good results will be quickly generalized throughout the entire system. In fact, it must be corrected by building up the blood which, when rich and red, carries renewed health and strength to every part of the body.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic, not a stimulant. They build up the blood and have transformed thousands of sick, groggy, irritable, tired and nervous people into active, energetic, capable, efficient men and women. They will help you too.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Price 50 cents. Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free book on the blood.—Adv.

Haig's army plunged through the east line of the formidable Hindenburg system yesterday. This assault seems to have been a blow at a vital spot in the enemy's defense. Terrific efforts made by the Germans to halt the British were fruitless. British cavalry and tanks reached the open country back of the enemy's front.

Further successes at this point would shake the whole German line from Douai to Rheims. The enemy, so far as known, has no other positions in that region as formidable as those captured during the last week by the allies. Directly behind this front are railroads which are vital to the enemy forces fighting further to the south.

French Advance on Rheims
Near Rheims, General Berthelot's army has made new progress and the time seems not far distant when the city will be freed from German artillery for the first time since 1914. This advance by the French has a close relation to that of the British around St. Quentin, as well as on operations further east in Champagne. Some military experts believe that this drive is of greater strategic value than any other now going on in France.

French Success in Champagne
General Gouraud's army in Champagne has at last cleared the western gate of Grondre gap, which runs north of the Argonne forest. Chalence has been taken and the Germans west of that village have been forced to give more ground.

East of the Argonne forest, the American forces facing the Kriemhild-Saarlouis line appear to be held up by the desperate defense of the enemy. This may be only temporary, however, as the nature of the country has made it difficult to move up heavy artillery.

TRAIL OF RETREATING BULGARS

SALONIKI, Thursday, Oct. 4.—Burning villages marked the trail of the retreating Bulgarian army in Macedonia, according to telegrams received here from the front. Bodies of slain civilians were found in the smoking ruins at many places by the advancing allies. Advances state that this work of destruction surpassed even that which has been reported from districts in France and Belgium from which the Germans have been driven.

MISSION TO SOFIA

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Emperor William sent a military mission to Sofia as soon as the situation there was reported to him, according to the Neuesten Nachrichten of Munich. This mission, it is said, has placed German and Austrian troops at strategic points along the principal Bulgarian railways. Bulgarian deserters reached a point within six miles of Sofia, according to a Zurich despatch to the Journal, but were driven back by Bulgarian contingents.

AUSTRIAN NAVAL BASES

ROME, Oct. 4.—American, British and Italian warships have destroyed the Austrian naval base at Durazzo and the warships anchored there, according to an announcement made by Premier Orlando.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—In the leveling of the fortifications and depots at Durazzo Wednesday, the entire squadron, according to a Central News despatch from Rome, destroyed much material for the Austrian army in Albania.

ADVANCES FOR FRENCH AND

AMERICANS IN CHAMPAGNE

PARIS, Oct. 4.—French troops in the St. Quentin region have advanced east of Lesdins, says the war office statement today.

North and northwest of Rheims, the French have increased their gains somewhat and improved their positions in the region of Bethune.

American and French troops in Champagne have made further advances northwest of Blanc Mont and Meuse farm.

BRITISH PUSH ON AND TAKE MORE HUN PRISONERS
LONDON, Oct. 4.—British forces pursuing the retreating Germans in the Lens region, have reached the railway east of Lens, Field Marshal Haig announced in his official statement today. To the southeast the British have made progress between Oppy and Mericourt.

More than 4000 prisoners were taken yesterday by the British in their operations north of St. Quentin.

The point of the British wedge in the region north of St. Quentin had been pushed at the end of yesterday's fighting to the high ground a mile northeast of Sequehart. The British are holding this ground, having repulsed a counter attack.

WAS FOUND DEAD
William King, a native of Cape Town, South Africa, was found dead in a room at the old St. James hotel, 513 Middlesex street, late yesterday afternoon. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker Peter H. Savage.

Dr. T. B. Smith, medical examiner, viewed the body and he attributed death to pneumonia brought about by influenza. Very little is known of the man outside that his name is

URIC ACID IN THE SYSTEM

BY LEE H. SMITH, M. D.

Uric acid is now generally recognized as the cause of more diseases than was heretofore believed. When the kidneys are out of order uric acid accumulates within the body in super abundance. The disordered kidneys do not filter the poisons out of the blood, as they ought to do, and so the poisons remain in the blood and float around until they find a place to lodge, in form of urate salts. The thing to remember is that you may have rheumatism in any part of the body—you may have pains anywhere—your back may ache and your head may be dizzy—but the trouble is not where the pain appears. The trouble is in the kidneys, and what is the first thing to do? You must get that excess uric acid out of your system, which can be done by taking Anuric Tablets, the splendid remedy which Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has put on sale in the drug stores at a low price. Anuric Tablets (made double strength), when taken into the system, as medicine, have the peculiar power of dissolving the uric acid deposited there. Drop a bit of sugar or salt into hot water, and it will disappear. In precisely the same way do these Anuric Tablets dissolve uric acid. Of course, after ridding the system of uric acid, it may return again unless you eat the right foods and live the right kind of life, but Dr. Pierce will advise you fully on proper food and correct living if you write and ask him. He makes no charge for such advice. Take Anuric Tablets today, by all means, and get that uric acid out of your system. Don't, don't, but the matter off.—Adv.

Grand Opening

Mme Caron's New Store

512-514 Merrimack St.

The ladies of this city and suburbs are invited to call at the well known department store, formerly Pelletier's, 512-514 Merrimack street, under the management of Mme. Amedee Caron. An entire new stock of millinery and dry goods, and everything to be seen in a large and up-to-date establishment, will be found here. The ladies will find a display that will make it well worth a visit. The store has been refitted and redecorated and a carefully selected stock of the latest of this season's millinery and furnishings will be shown. Do not miss the grand opening Today and Tomorrow. Everybody invited. 512-514 Merrimack street. S. & H. Green Stamps given here.

"EDDIE" MARTIN DEAD

Globe Reporter Stricken

While Caring for Wife,
Who Died Wednesday

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Edward F. Martin, valued and popular member of the Globe editorial staff and successor to the late Timothy H. Murnane as American league baseball reporter, died at 4:53 yesterday afternoon at the Massachusetts General hospital of pneumonia. He became a patient at the institution Wednesday and the news of his death was a shock to his friends. His wife died early Wednesday morning of the same disease.

Mr. Martin was taking his vacation after his season's work when his wife was stricken with influenza at their home, 1748 Columbia road, South Boston. Devoted and attentive to his young bride, "Eddie" contracted the malady while ministering to her, and only relinquished his care after he became critically ill and was forced to take to his bed. Conscious and brave until he passed away and then consented to being removed to a hospital for treatment.

He appeared to respond to the hospital treatment, but yesterday afternoon his condition became alarming.

Enjoyed Wide Popularity

Though but 34 years old, "Eddie" Martin enjoyed a wide popularity. Modest and retiring, he fairly radiated good humor and wit, but was always thoughtful and considerate of others. Of his career, in writing a sketch of himself, in 1906, for a souvenir book, he said:

"Edward F. Martin, born in Boston (South End), Feb. 23, 1884, the son of the late Capt. Edward F. Martin of the Boston fire department and Mary E. Martin (nee Ford). Educated at the Lincoln grammar and South Boston high schools. Became an employee of the Globe Nov. 30, 1900. For about a month was employed in the news counters' room, but on Jan. 1, 1901, was designated state house messenger, working in that capacity while the legislature was in session during the years 1901 and 1902.

"In the fall of 1902 was assigned to the night desk as clerk, remaining there until June 27, 1903, when the appointment as a member of the day city staff was received.

"In September, 1903, was assigned to criminal court work, in addition to receiving the permanent assignment as fire headquarters reporter. Only outside interests are my connection with the South Boston High School Alumni club and Pere Marquette council, 271, K. of C."

The sketch, written 12 years ago, now serves as an obituary notice, except that it is incomplete. His activities in the Knights of Columbus resulted in his being elected successively recorder, chancellor, deputy grand knight and finally two terms as grand knight of Pere Marquette council.

Filled Important Posts

His newspaper successes included his being assigned to the important posts of day and night police headquarters reporter, and his acquaintance in the police and fire departments was extensive. It was said of "Eddie" that he enjoyed an intimate acquaintance with nearly every fire and police official in Boston. Prior to the death of the veteran "Tim" Murnane, "Eddie" became his protégé, and an apt one he proved. Blessed with a wonderfully retentive memory, in addition to an attractive personality, he was popular among baseball men from the outset, and his original style won him the distinction of being assigned to "cover" the last two world's series.

At the time of his death he was secretary of Boston's chapter, Baseball Writers' Association of America.

He was married to Della Mulkern, a popular South Boston young woman, Nov. 5, 1916. He is survived by his mother and two brothers, John of Brighton and James R. of the Globe mailing room.

Double funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Martin will take place at St. Eulalia's church tomorrow morning. It was intended that funeral services for Mrs. Martin should be this morning, but because of the death yesterday of her husband it was decided to have services for both at the same hour.

MIRON, NOTED SWIMMER, DEAD

ABINGTON, Oct. 4.—Henry J. Miron, long-distance swimmer of national fame, died at his home, Chapel street, this city, late yesterday afternoon. He had been sick but a week with pneumonia.

Miron was born in Abington 31 years ago and as early as 1903 was well known throughout the district in which he lived as the marvel in swimming. He gained fame when he made a new record in the swim from Charlestown bridge to Boston Light in 1916. In this race he defeated several prominent swimmers, although he was but 18 years old.

At this time he attracted such wide notice that the officials of the "L" street baths had a movement on foot to send him to England to swim the English channel. This plan was abandoned when the war broke out.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Miron.

LOCK UP BASEBALL UNTIL AFTER THE WAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Major league baseball, insofar as it concerns the National league, will be officially terminated at the annual meeting of the association to be held in this city on Dec. 10. At the gathering the senior organization will formally wind up the business affairs of the season just closed and enter upon a hiatus which will remain undisturbed until such time as international affairs appear to warrant a revival of the professional end of the national game.

This, at least, is the intention of the magnates at the present time and nothing short of a most sensational change in the war status within the next two months will cause a shift in the plans of the league. It requires a long period of preparation and much detail work, prior to the opening of each pennant race, and it is recognized that in the present unsettled state of baseball affairs it would be impossible to renew the operation of the circuit without ample time in which to formulate arrangements. A declaration of peace coming late next spring would prove of little value to the big league clubs, according to the opinion of prominent magnates.

It has been pointed out that the players of the various teams would be scattered to the four points of the compass; that some of the baseball parks will have been adapted to other forms of business; that problems would arise during the readjustment period which have never confronted baseball managements and that the best policy will be to make haste slowly. General opinion appears to support the idea that a new and better order of professional baseball will come forth at the proper time but that much of this advantage would be lost if the big leagues rushed blindly back to the game at the first hint of an opening.

It is understood, however, that the magnates will not tie their hands by any definite statements or arrangements but will leave the affairs of the organization in such a fluid state that business can be resumed at the proper moment with as slight a jar as possible. The office of the league will be continued and Sec. Heydler will, in all probability, be re-elected to his present position with full authority to act for the league in all matters which have heretofore been in the hands of the president as well as the other elective officers of the league.

Baseball as played indoors during the winter months in the United States is proving remarkably popular among the allied soldiers in France. It is played, of course, out of doors, but the large indoor hall is used and the rules of indoor baseball adhered to. It seems to be an easier game as well for the British soldiers to learn than the more scientific and technical outdoor baseball. It is quickly learned and its calibre is not too high to admit an amateur. The English soldiers find that any good cricket player possesses sufficient qualifications to feel at home in a few innings.

On athletic fields and aerodromes all over France, one may see scores of British, Canadian, Australian and American officers and men playing indoor baseball with a vim and eagerness never displayed at cricket.

"Indoor baseball knocks cricket into a cocked hat," declared the star cricketer of one of the Guards Regiments the other day. Probably the quicker action, the wider inclusiveness of the game, and the laughs it arouses among the players and spectators—to say nothing of the rooting, appeal more to the soldier in France than the more serious and sedate game of cricket, and the equipment is simpler and cheaper.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

Marie J. Laviole, of Manchester, N. H., came to this city yesterday in search of excitement and she found just what she wanted and probably a little more, for this morning she was arraigned in court on a charge of drunkenness. When Marie arrived in Lowell, so it was reported in court this morning, she was under the influence of liquor and her hobby seemed to be a sight-seeing trip through the city, so she hired a taxicab and ordered the chauffeur to drive through the "town." The driver followed instructions closely and when Marie's joy ride was completed he presented her a bill of $3.75, but Marie refused to pay with the result that she was sent to the station on a charge of drunkenness. This morning she promised to foot the taxi-man's bill and in order to give her a chance to make good the court continued her case until tomorrow morning.

Carlo Sulpigni and Annie Evans admitted their guilt to a statutory offense and both were ordered to pay a fine of $15. Harold Charles and Eva C. Gardner, a young couple still in their teens, who came here from Burlington, Vt., a few days ago and lived here as man and wife, were released this morning on condition that they return to their respective homes at once. The girl was arraigned in the juvenile court, while the boy was arraigned in police court.

Nicholas Laroie denied his guilt to a complaint charging him with the larceny of a watch and chain valued at $37 from Emmanuel Papadellis and his case was continued until tomorrow morning. Melvin C. Peacock for operating his automobile last Sunday without having in his possession his registration card was ordered to pay a fine of $2.

Albert Lajoie was arrested last evening on a charge of drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor and this morning he denied his guilt. His case was continued until tomorrow morning.

Cases of drunkenness were disposed of as follows: Frank Rynne, 5 months in jail; Patrick Burke, $5; John Bonenfant, continued until tomorrow morning; Daniel Moriarty, $10; John J. Finnegan, suspended sentence to the state farm.

Albert L. Bendergest, a boy, who was arrested in connection with the assault upon Solomon Gaultin with intent to commit robbery, was arraigned in the juvenile court and he was held for the grand jury in the sum of $300.

AUSTRIANS IN ALBANIA ROUTED BY ITALIANS

ROME, Oct. 4.—Italian troops in Albania began an energetic advance on Tuesday in the sector between the Adriatic and Osum, the Italian war office announced yesterday.

The Italian columns in the evening had occupied the village of Fieri and the line of the Semani from Sterbasi to the Metall bridge and several heights.

The Austro-Hungarian forces are retreating rapidly and are burning their depots. The Italians are approaching Berat. They have captured a number of prisoners and a huge quantity of war material.

The situation in Albania holds out possibilities of decisive events soon. The Austro-Hungarian forces now are compelled to hold the line from the Adriatic to Lake Ohrida by themselves, the Bulgarian divisions under Gen von Steuben being no longer available.

The text of the communication follows:

"In Albania Tuesday our troops began an energetic advance in the sector between the sea and Osum. In the rapid advance, overcoming the resistance in enemy parties, our columns occupied in the evening the village of Fieri, the line of the Semani from Sterbasi to the Metall bridge and the heights between Janica and Buvalica, and those at Ziton to the left of Osum.

"We are approaching Berat. The enemy is retreating rapidly in an attempt to avoid pursuit, and is setting fire to his depots. We have taken prisoners and a large quantity of material in opposing the Austrian left wing.

ASK FOR WILSON PEACE

Austrian Deputies in Uproar as Socialists and Czechs Discusses Peace

VIENNA, Oct. 4, via Basel, Switzerland.—Discussion of the government's declaration and the question of peace has begun in the Austrian chamber of deputies.

The socialist deputies demanded peace on the following bases:

The creation of a league of nations. No economic warfare.

No annexations.

The restoration of Serbia, Montenegro and Belgium.

Revision of the treaties of Bucharest and Brest-Litovsk.

A settlement of the eastern questions on the basis of nationalities.

The regulation of the Polish question by the Polish constituents.

The establishment of autonomy for each nation in Austria-Hungary.

M. Stank, a Czech deputy, caused an uproar in the chamber by violently attacking Germany. He reaffirmed the solidarity of the Jugo-Slavs, Poles and Czechs and declared that the only means of reaching peace was to accept President Wilson's 14 points.

The sitting ended with the introduction of a motion demanding an international congress of peace to settle the Polish and international questions.

APPOINTED CHAPLAIN

Malden Priest Has Three Brothers in Service

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Rev. John E. Killion, who recently returned from the Philippines, and who has been acting pastor of St. Bridget's church in Malden, has been appointed a chaplain in the United States army. He will immediately be assigned to one of the training camps.

He has three brothers in the service, and yesterday, his mother, Mrs. Hannah B. Killion, of 130 Russell street, Malden, added a fourth star to the family service flag. The other sons are Capt. Edward L. Killion, 25 years old, now in France with the 312th Regiment; First Lieut. Thomas S. Killion, 31 years old, now in France, serving in the labor department; and Capt. William V. Killion, 29, who is stationed at Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va.

Rev. Fr. Killion was ordained to the priesthood 13 years ago. All the sons were born in Malden.

What "Slow" Accounts Mean

"SLOW" ACCOUNTS mean something more than the mere matter of delay in receiving payment of bills.

THEY MEAN DUPLICATION OF EFFORT, the maintenance of records and additional officework that would be unnecessary if such accounts were paid within the reasonable specified time.

BUT MOST OF ALL they mean that labor which might be devoted to necessary tasks essential to the comfort, convenience and efficiency that you derive from your telephone service, is wasted on what should be unnecessary tasks.

AT THIS TIME IT IS DESIRABLE that unnecessary labor be eliminated as much as possible so that the output of necessary labor may be increased.

Subscribers who pay their telephone bills promptly help to conserve labor at a time when the conservation of all labor is a national necessity.

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength). Take this home and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmit used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired result. Preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.—Adv.

ter 500 copies had been circulated that changes be made in references to the reasons for the United States entering the war, but aside from this there was no word of criticism from anyone "until the National Security league wished to make a political attack upon Mr. Creel."

Senator Lodge said he desired to correct any misstatements he had made but renewed his attack on the book. One of his advertising circulars, he said, read:

"Did the Germans warn the passengers on the Lusitania?"

"The answer is in the book. I understand," he continued, "if that is not by indirection or by implication a defence of Germany in one of the very most villainous things she has ever done, and that is saying a great deal, then I cannot understand what an extraordinary sentence means."

"The book is now being reviewed for sale by the Review of Reviews company and these circulars are going everywhere."

"It seems to me very strange that a book of that sort should have no inhibition placed upon it when the secretary of war most wisely has excluded from the soldiers' libraries in camps, books which certainly are no more objectionable than this."

Miss Frances Kelly, the 18-year-old daughter of the late chief of police of Jersey City, who went out for a horseback ride early in July, has just returned. Riding her horse all the way, in three months she has visited every county in New Jersey to sell War Savings Stamps, and she has sold $10,000 worth.

An oil well being driven in West Virginia has been drilled to a depth of 7343 feet, and is now the deepest in the world. The depth of this well exceeds the height of Mt. ## FRESNOY TAKEN

British Forces Break Through the Entire Hindenburg Defense System

Entire German Positions North and South of St. Quentin Gravely Menaced

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN ST. QUENTIN SECTOR, Thursday, Oct. 3.—(By The Associated Press.)—British forces broke through the entire Hindenburg defense system in the neighborhood of Fresnoy today. As soon as the break had been made, cavalry forces went through, being followed closely by "whipper" tanks and armored cars.

According to reports which are considered reliable, the village of Fresnoy itself was taken soon afterward.

Allied airplanes which have been flying low over the country in the rear of the Hindenburg line report that there are only one or two thinly held and hurriedly built trench lines in front of the advancing British.

This is a perfect cavalry country, and with this force free behind the enemy's lines, the entire German positions north and south of St. Quentin are gravely menaced.

After the cavalry and tanks had dashed into the open country behind the Hindenburg line, infantry and masses of machine gunners poured through the break. This force is taking positions and the Germans who have held this line in the defensive system are in danger of being cut off.

The enemy appears to be in full flight north of the break in the line. Allied patrols have penetrated further into Cambrai, from which the Germans seem to be withdrawing.

There was fighting of the most desperate character before the last line of the system was smashed. Fresh troops which had not been in the earlier fighting here were poured into the battle. Prospect hill, a strong enemy position, was taken by storm. An immense number of Germans was

HAIR COMING OUT?

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a small bottle of Dandruff at any drug store for a few cents, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After several applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff.

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! Is Tongue Coated, Breath Feverish and Stomach Sour?

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation, poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full direction for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

"I SUFFERED SEVEN YEARS"

Was Eventually Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I suffered for seven long years with a lame back, irregularities and pain. I had one physician after another but they did me no good. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and gave it a trial and in a short time I felt benefited and am now feeling fine, and without weakness or pain. Many of my friends have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and been helped by it."

—MRS. MARGARET NESS, 1846 E. Hazzard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Women who suffer from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, necrosis, backache, sideache, headaches or "the blues," should not rest until they have given this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. The letters constantly being published from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

killed during the fight. Many trenches were turned into shambles in less time than it takes to tell it.

During the afternoon the Germans delivered a terrific counter attack against Gouy and La Catelet. Unconfirmed reports say that they gained slightly here, but their advance was short lived. New British attacks were launched and desperate fighting is still in progress.

Prisoners from 10 German divisions and 41 battalions were captured today. Regiments which came into the line from Flanders and Verdun had been identified.

Last available reports are to the effect that the advancing British troops are 6000 yards beyond the Beaurevoir line.

GIRL AND FIANCE DEAD

Brockton Young Woman Went to Camp Upton to Nurse Soldier Sweetheart

BROCKTON, Oct. 4.—Learning her fiancé was seriously ill with pneumonia, Miss Naomi Barnett, 26, of 35 Plymouth street, went to Camp Upton, L. I., to nurse him, but when she arrived she was stricken, and within 48 hours both succumbed to pneumonia.

Jacob Julian, 24, of 19 Otis street a limited service draftee who left Brockton only a month ago, was the soldier. He was attached to the 6th Company, Depot Brigade, at Camp Upton. The young couple were to have been married before he started for overseas duty, for which he had volunteered. Miss Barnett died first and her fiancé died a half-hour later. Relatives are planning a double funeral in Brockton. Mayor Gleason, Dr. Holmberg and Dr. Barrett of the board of health and Mrs. H. L. Bridges, in charge of the Brockton nurses, at noon yesterday declared the epidemic was abating and that for the first time in many hours the calls were well caught up.

Sixteen Deaths Reported
All the doctors report the number of serious cases very few, indicating the general public has been educated to the need of extreme caution in every case of illness.

Sixteen deaths were reported officially to the board of health during the past 24 hours, a slight decrease. The number of cases in all the hospital and emergency wards has decreased. The State Guard orderlies are finding few old cases which have developed serious symptoms.

Word was received yesterday afternoon from Senator Weeks and Congressman Olney that more aid was on the way to Brockton. Seven of the nine members of the Visiting Nurses association have become ill and two nurses who volunteered their services, Miss Constance M. Campbell of Montreal and Miss Nellie MacLennan of Providence are critically ill with influenza. The Brockton hospital has a whole ward of nurses who are ill.

The great need for volunteer workers to go into homes where persons are ill and in the hospitals was again emphasized yesterday after Mayor Gleason's appeal to the schoolteachers failed to produce volunteers. The teachers said they were willing to aid in any task, but refused to go into the homes, giving reason in most cases they had been warned they would be forced to get new boarding houses.

Society Girl Aids Doctor
One young society woman, Miss Gladys Hall, aided the doctors in the different homes.

All the Brockton factories may be closed and thoroughly fumigated, it was reported yesterday. It is expected the edict will be given Saturday, when all of them have the half holiday. The board of health yesterday afternoon closed all soda fountains. All street cars are daily disinfected.

Four doctors who came to Brockton yesterday were Drs. Davis of Marshfield, Hammond of Hanover, N. H.; Emerson of Boston and Waddle, who came from Ohio. Dr. Scholz of Seitate arrived at midnight.

CANADIAN FORCES MOW DOWN ATTACKERS

WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES ON THE CAMBRAI FRONT, Wednesday, Oct. 2.—(Canadian Press.)—Beyond question, the battle around Cambrai has been the most savage and sustained in which the Canadians have ever engaged. Only the utmost heroism and tenacity of the infantry, including battalions from Quebec, Central Ontario, western Manitoba and eastern and western British Columbia, enabled them to hold the position which has been driven into the heart of the enemy's defenses, in the face of wave after wave of counter-attacks by overwhelming numbers.

All day long, the Canadian artillery, machine gunners and riflemen had targets such as have seldom been offered to them. The slaughter went on from dawn to dark Tuesday.

The Canadian casualties are heavier in the recent operations than in the battles of the previous seven weeks before Amiens and Arras, and when they went through the Queen-Becancourt line. So far, they have attacked and beaten the enemy out of his prepared positions when he had a superiority in men of three to one and much greater than that in machine gunners. The enemy fought with the utmost resolution, and the gray waves leaping over each other in destruction recalled the bitter fighting of 1915 and 1916, when the enemy morale was at its highest.

VOLUNTEER NURSES WANTED

Volunteer assistants are needed at this time, to relieve the suffering in the cases of gripe which are prevailing in and around the city, and those who have taken the course in home nursing would be of special help. Some young women who are familiar with the care of the sick and who have taken this course have already offered their services, but it is impossible to locate every one, as many addresses are not available and it is difficult to get in touch with these people. It is requested that they respond and if unable to devote their entire time to this work, they may be able to give at least a certain number of hours each week, and lighten the tasks of the overworked district nurses. Half-day intervals, beginning either at 8.30 in the morning or at 1.30 in the afternoon, will be gratefully accepted, and if one can give several half-days a week, so much the better. Those who feel desirous of putting their practical knowledge at the disposal of the public good in this emergency are asked to register at once at the Lowell Guild on Dutton street.

A druggist at New London, Conn., had a display of bay rum in his window. Some French sailors, now there, seeing the word "rum" and not noticing the "bay," bought several cases of the liquor and drank a lot of it, with disappointing results. When they had recovered somewhat from their illness, the druggist, who had been congratulating himself on his large sales, had to buy all that was left of his bay rum back again.

N. E. LIBERTY LOAN

TOTAL $143,687,000

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—New Englanders subscribed $22,598,000 of Fourth Liberty loan bonds yesterday, making the total for the district to date as announced by the Federal Reserve bank today $143,687,000.

The campaign committee was somewhat disappointed that the returns again fell below the $25,000,000 daily average which must be reached if the entire quota of $500,000,000 is to be subscribed by the district.

Of the day's total, Massachusetts subscribed $2,598,000; Connecticut, $2,573,000; Rhode Island, $2,534,000; Vermont, $1,148,000; Maine, $982,000; New Hampshire, $466,000.

The number of individual subscribers represented was 35,558, making in all 115,138.

The detailed totals by states follow: Maine, $7,557,000; New Hampshire, $4,629,000; Vermont, $4,461,000; Rhode Island, $8,073,000; Connecticut, $26,455,000; Massachusetts, $92,507,000.

Boston's total for the day was $6,184,000, and N. Penrose Halliwell, chairman of the committee, said that the big problem of the campaign lay in this city itself.

Two subscriptions of a million dollars each, one from the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., which already had subscribed a large amount, and the other from the New England Cotton Yarn Co. were announced today.

Up to noon, 50 cities and towns in New England had sent word that they had over-subscribed their quotas. Maine led the list with 28, Massachusetts 23, New Hampshire 21, Massachusetts 12 and Connecticut. The claims of 29 were verified by the committee and honor flags awarded.

Maine's new arrivals in the honor group were Belfast, Sanford, Winterport, Wilton, Dexter, Madison, Clinton, Jackson, Monroe, Merrill, Amity, Troy, Thomdike, St. George, South Thomaston and Swanville.

Hallowell was the latest Massachusetts town to go over the top and in New Hampshire, South Hampton was added to the list.

SEN. LODGE REPLIES TO SEC. M'ADOO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Republican leader and member of the finance committee issued a statement today in reply to Secretary McAdoo's letter to Chairman Simmons in which the senator urged prompt action on the revenue bill.

Pointing out that excluding time taken up by the woman suffrage controversy, the committee had only six working days on the bill before Mr. McAdoo's request arrived, Senator Lodge said:

"The committee without exception are as anxious to hasten the revenue bill as the secretary, but we cannot perform impossibilities. The bill was four months in the ways and means committee and the house.

"We shall do the very best we can, but the bill is an enormous one. The secretary himself did not approve the enormous rates placed by the house upon excess profits and war profits; they are so large that it seems inevitable they will tend to reduce profits to a point which will dry up the sources of income taxes as applied both to corporations and individuals and leave the business organizations of the country in a position where they will have little money for dividends, no money for proper reserves, and their funds to take Liberty bonds will be so depleted as to have a very serious effect on placing the loans."

Gen. Blue Would Close All

Schools, Churches, Theatres, Etc.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The only way to stop the spread of influenza is to close churches, schools, theatres and public institutions in every community where the epidemic has developed, in the opinion of Surgeon General Blue of the public health service.

"There is no way to put a nationwide closing order into effect," he said today, "as this is a matter which is up to the individual communities. In some states, the state board of health has this power, but in many others it is a matter of municipal regulation. I hope that those having the proper authority will close all public gathering places if their community is threatened with the epidemic. This will do much towards checking the spread of the disease."

Dr. Blue said that Delaware, which yesterday was recorded among the three eastern states free of the disease, now had reported an epidemic. All public gatherings have been forbidden there and the schools, theatres and churches ordered closed.

"Our call for physicians has been generously answered," he said, "but it will be necessary for us to extend that call to localities far removed from the districts in which the disease is raging. The call will be extended as soon as it is necessary for us to have the services of more physicians."

Fuel Administrator Garfield took up with Dr. Blue today a request by Governor McCall of Massachusetts, that restrictions on the use of automobiles on Sundays be withdrawn in Massachusetts so the people could get out for plenty of fresh air and sunshine.

removed at any time, but scatter it immediately. There must be no fresh cuts visible, as marked contrasts result from it between the light and dark surfaces, the latter appearing as deep shadows on the ground. Do not change natural shapes. Positions in hills and embankments must not change the form of hill or embankment. Use the roads, hills, embankments, slopes, sunken roads, edges of woods, to greater extent."

Regarding resting columns of troops, location and nature of halting places for troops on march, the document sets forth:

"It is best to distribute the columns irregularly under trees. In villages keep close to the houses, walls, enclosures of gardens and hedges, but if possible, with irregular distribution. The best side is always the north side of houses and walls, on account of the shadows. In small courtyards, the wagons are lined up one beside the other, and tarpulins joined in order to make a roof. This appears as a smooth and very natural surface on the photograph, which does not attract the enemy's attention."

"In broken country, seek the protection of the ground; the north side of embankments, hollow roads, hedges, etc. When there is no cover, irregular distribution is required."

"Even at night, make more use of tracks, which are generally dark; the columns can then with difficulty be observed by airplanes. On the other hand, columns on roads which appear light can be seen even at night. Infantry columns will be divided into small groups distributed in depth and advance along the shady side of roads. When airplanes use light projectors at night, keep in the shade of trees or buildings."

The article ends with this general rule: "When surprised by airplanes either by day or by night, use all natural shade provided by trees, embankments, houses, etc., and remain motionless."

Letters From Lowell Soldiers

Capt. James Brosnan of the local police department has received an interesting letter from his son, James, who is now serving on the U.S.S. Mt. Vernon, the vessel which was recently torpedoed. He encloses a special order signed by Secretary of War Baker, in which the latter commends the crew of the Mt. Vernon for their splendid conduct during its debacle. Brosnan has also written to his brother in Lowell and both letters are reproduced below:

Sept. 12, 1918.

Dear Father: I am having a fine time over here. The officers are doing everything they can for us and they are the best bunch in the navy. Don't worry about me. I am having a wonderful time. I am in the best of health and hope everyone at home is the same. You can see what the secretary of war thinks about us from the enclosed order.

Your son, JIM.

Dear Gus: I suppose it was an awful shock to the people at home to hear that our ship got hit. It was only a chance shot, but it got us. The commander of that submarine must have come to the surface and when he saw our ship just closed his eyes and fired. We were so large a target that he couldn't miss us at the distance we were from him.

Don't get the idea that we were asleep; the lookouts saw him as soon as he came up and he got a warm reception. You know it is a lot different shooting at a periscope about the size of a broom handle sticking out of the water than it is shooting at a ship 700 feet long. The paper gave a full account of the accident. I suppose it was nothing more than an accident because we were going faster than a submarine can travel on the surface. This one was submerged. The people over here gave us credit for bringing in our ship. Some of the fellows saw the whole thing all the way through. I didn't, but I felt it. It felt like the South Lowell explosion.

Tell all my friends that I was asking for them. If everything goes well I expect to get home when we get back to God's country. I am in the best of health and hope you are the same.

Your brother, JIM.

NEW HUN CHANCELLOR

Maximilian Named Prussian Secretary—To Announce Program Tomorrow

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 4.—Prince Maximilian of Baden has been appointed German chancellor, says an official announcement received from Berlin.

Deputies Groeber, Centerist, and Scheidemann, majority social democrat, have been appointed secretaries of state without portfolio.

The official statement adds that Prince Maximilian also has been named Prussian foreign secretary. He will announce his program at a full meeting of the reichstag on Oct. 5.

The official title of the chancellor is president of the Prussian council of ministers, Prussian minister of state, Prussian minister of foreign affairs and imperial chancellor. Prince Maximilian succeeded Count von Hertling, who was appointed chancellor last Nov. 3, in succession to Dr. Georg Michaelis.

Adolf Groeber is one of the leaders of the Centerist party. Recently he formed the main committee of the reichstag, he criticized the government and attacked Count von Hertling, the leader of the Centerists. In the reichstag in March, 1918, he defended Germany's methods of making peace with Russia at Brest-Litovsk.

Philipp Scheidemann is vice president of the reichstag and the leader of the majority social democrats. He with his wing of the party, while nominally opposing some of the government's war policies, has swung to the government's aid whenever the German arms seemed to be in the ascendancy. This was notably the case when after the passage of the "no annexations and indemnities" resolution of July, 1917, the majority socialists acquiesced in the negotiation of the notorious Brest-Litovsk treaty. Although anything but an international socialist in practice, he has been active through international socialist agencies, in efforts to aid Germany's cause by helping her peace offensive as much as possible. He has been called a tool of the Pan-Germans.

The office of Prussian minister of foreign affairs is distinct from that of imperial secretary for foreign affairs, which has been held by Admiral von Minke, who resigned last week with Count von Hertling.

A party was also held in his honor at his home where his friends wished him success and Godspeed.

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

Subscriptions Officially Reported to Treasury Reach Total of $727,383,950

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Liberty loan subscriptions officially reported to the treasury reached a total early today of $727,383,950, or $100,000,000 more than was included in last night's report. Yesterday's returns still are incomplete.

Oregon "Over the Top"

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 4.—Oregon's quota of $2,708,150 in the Fourth Liberty loan has been subscribed, and Portland with an apportionment of $10,323,421 today claimed the honor of being the first city of its class to fill its allotment.

Montana Exceeds Quota

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 4.—Montana's quota of $16,000,000, has been subscribed to the Fourth Liberty loan.

Eleven counties of the 43 in the state were yet to be heard from.

New York's Total
NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—An overnight increase in Liberty loan subscriptions of $31,572,300, was reported today. At 10 a. m., $215,219,060 had been officially pledged. This is far under the average that must be maintained if the second reserve district is to subscribe its quota.

Two hundred and fifty members of the stock exchange sought subscriptions from some 7000 men and women listed as financially able to increase their holdings. At the same time 3000 women started a spirited drive for $20,000,000 in the Fifth avenue business district.

MAY LIFT BAN ON SUNDAY MOTORING

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—On account of the epidemic of Spanish influenza in Massachusetts, James J. Storrow, New England fuel administrator, following suggestions made by Governor McCall, last night asked United States fuel Administrator Garfield to lift the ban against the use of automobiles on Sunday. The purpose of the request, Mr. Storrow explained, is to allow owners and users of cars to get out into the fresh air and also to relieve congestion of railroad and trolley cars, which are dangerous sources of infection.

"EYE FOR EYE" POLICY

French Would Destroy as Much Property as the Germans Do

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The French national committee in charge of the reparation and restoration of war damage, a dispatch from France yesterday says, has issued a declaration demanding that the allied governments invoke the law of retaliation against Germany.

The declaration says while the law is repugnant to the nations fighting for the triumph of justice and liberty, it is the only one that will make an impression on the German mind. All governments which participate in the crusade are asked to resolve to destroy town for town, village for village, church for church, castle for castle and property for property.

Meanwhile diplomats here are discussing the probable form and extent of the policy of retaliation to be followed if the Germans keep to their habit of laying the country waste as the retreat goes on. The state department is still mum about the ultimatum to Germany promising to match every

HUN TREACHERY

As Yanks Came Near, Huns Dropped Hands and Hurling Grenades—Paid for It

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Thursday, Oct. 3.—(By the Associated Press)—When New York troops captured the village of Abri-St. Louis on Friday, they were made victims of an act of German treachery, which has been investigated by army authorities. As the New Yorkers swept into the village, a number of Germans came out of their hiding places with uplifted hands and were supposed to have surrendered. When the Americans came nearer the Germans suddenly dropped their hands and, seizing hand grenades, threw them with deadly effect, killing and wounding a number of the New York boys.

The survivors retreated and told the story. Then more New York troops went forward. They were armed with flame throwers and gas projectors and filled the village with flame and gas until not a single German escaped.

Two concrete emplacements for big guns were discovered west of Varenne when New York troops advanced along the eastern edge of the Argonne forest a few days ago. The guns had been removed but engineers believe that they were Austrian 305's.

The emplacements were 100 yards apart and apparently were built more than a year ago. A railroad had been built leading up to them and this enabled the enemy to remove the guns, ammunition and everything of value.

French and American heavy artillery battered the enemy positions throughout the entire region along this front, and it is believed that the Germans made haste in removing the big guns as soon as they saw that a serious attack was impending.

Big guns were scattered through the Argonne forest and from day to day have been taken by the advancing New York soldiers. Among them were two 150's and several 77's. The forest has been thoroughly searched for these guns by the American troops.

Many of the roads leading from the Argonne forest to Montfaucon and to Melancourt have been found to be barred by concrete pillars as a precaution against the operation of allied tanks. At safe distances behind these pillars anti-tank gun positions have been found. These in many places were built of concrete. The pillars have all the appearance of having been built recently. In many places the wood frames for holding the concrete in place not having been removed. These concrete positions were, for the most part, behind the main line defensive positions through which the Americans broke during the present drive.

SEMINARY AS HOSPITAL

Emergency Health Committee Accepts Cardinal O'Connell's Offer

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—The emergency public health committee has accepted Cardinal O'Connell's offer of St. John's seminary in Brighton and will establish a convalescent hospital for male patients there. The young men of the seminary will enlist as lay nurses and Dr. William H. Devine, ex-Surgeon General of Massachusetts, and now head of the medical department of Boston's public schools, has consented to give up immediately his private practice and to seek relief from all his other public duties in order that he may become administrator of the new hospital.

Chairman Henry B. Endicott of the emergency public health committee believes the establishment of such a hospital fills an important need in Metropolitan Boston. The regular hospitals are crowded and they have been able to accept only a small proportion of the patients applying for beds, largely because many patients who have passed the crisis of the disease have not been strong enough to return to their homes.

Ideal Site for Hospital

The establishment of a convalescent hospital at St. John's Seminary, which stands near the crest of the Lake-st. hill, and is, in the opinion of all medical advisers, ideal, both in situation and construction, for the care of convalescent patients, will permit the removal of many male patients from the regular hospitals at an earlier date than has hitherto been possible and the consequent reception of many new patients at these hospitals.

Mr. Endicott has sent the following letter to Cardinal O'Connell thanking him for the offer:

UPSETS SENATE RECESS

McAdoo Warns Members

Adjournment Will Imperil

War Finance

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Plans of congress to adjourn for a month over the November elections drew a warning yesterday from Secretary McAdoo. "I am waiting in deep solicitation,"

said Mr. McAdoo, in a letter to Chairman Simmons of the senate finance committee, "to ask your co-operation and that of the committee on finance in averting a grave peril in the successful financial conduct of the war. I cannot disguise nor refrain from directing your attention to the fact that failure promptly to report and pass the new revenue bill will disorganize and endanger the national finance."

Upsets Adjournment Plans

Mr. McAdoo's letter caused the finance committee to take immediate steps to expedite its work of revising the house draft of the revenue measure and upset plans announced to the senate yesterday for an adjournment

of congress for a month, beginning Oct. 20.

In his letter to Senator Simmons Mr. McAdoo pointed out that the present war tax bill became operative one year ago today and said that essential revenues would be lost, as well as time required by the treasury in administering the new law and by the public to familiarize itself with it by delay on the pending measures.

Upon receipt of Mr. McAdoo's letter Chairman Simmons and the senate committee agreed to work with all possible speed, but the chairman said he did not see how it is possible to report the bill before Oct. 25, even if then. He added that plans for senate adjournment yesterday until Monday and house leaders planned to begin today a series of three day recesses until the $7,000,000,000 army emergency appropriation bill is reported, probably about Oct. 14.

The senate also plans similar recesses until the army budget is passed. To expedite revision of the revenue measure the senate finance committee yesterday decided to meet daily at 10 o'clock, earlier than usual, cut short the luncheon period and work later each day. Even with this program Chairman Simmons said much time will be required for consideration, not only of committee amendments, but also important revisions suggested by the treasury department. Considerable progress was made on

Series of 3-Day Recesses

The adjournment program was announced in the senate yesterday by Majority Leader Martin, but he said it was framed on the assumption that the revenue bill could not possibly be disposed of before the elections. The senate adjourned yesterday until Monday and house leaders planned to begin today a series of three day recesses until the $7,000,000,000 army emergency appropriation bill is reported, probably about Oct. 14. The senate also plans similar recesses until the army budget is passed. ## WOUNDED SOLDIERS RETURN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—During the week ending Sept. 27, 654 sick and wounded soldiers from the American Expeditionary Forces were landed in the United States, the war department announced yesterday.

LARGEST AMERICAN FLAG IN HISTORY

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—What is said to be the largest American flag in the world, was hung today in the rotunda of the Grand Central terminal to advertise the Liberty loan. It measures 96 by 180 feet. Its stripes are six feet wide and its stars five feet across. Almost a mile of bunting went into its manufacture, and 250 miles of thread. It weighs 500 pounds.

SENSITIVENESS CAUSES

"SHELL SHOCK"

(Special to the Lowell Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Oct. 4.—Few soldiers suffering from what is popularly known as "shell shock" contract the affliction by the nervous jar produced by shell detonation. They become victims more by reason of sensitiveness than by any disturbance caused by the roar of big guns. This statement was made today by Dr. George M. Kline, director of the division of mental hygiene in discussing the question.

"The term 'shell shock' is a misnomer," said the doctor. "The proper name for the ailment is 'war neuroses.' Very few of the boys brought to base hospitals from the front suffering from this disorder contracted it by reason of the detonation of big guns. Of course this helped to a degree but the real cause for their being incapacitated lies in their weak nervous organization."

"Were a study to be made of each case it would be found that many of the victims had suffered from nervous disorders before entering the army. It follows that when they went to the front line trenches the tense excitement, the uncertainty of life, the long hours of activity, the absence of sleep and similar causes sapped the nervous vigor of the soldier and made him an easy prey to neuroses."

Dr. Kline pointed out that many men are in the army who are susceptible to this affliction. "When a registrant tells the examining draft physician that he has been subject to nervous disorders the man is sent to camp just the same, because the officials may believe that he is faking," said Dr. Kline. "This is true of course only in the case of a man whose looks seem to indicate that he is in good health. It is difficult for the physician to determine at once whether his claim to nervousness is bona fide. Not until the soldier is in the front line trenches does it develop that his nervous organization is unsound."

The division of mental hygiene is actively at work completing plans for the taking care of Massachusetts soldiers who may return with "strung nerves." Dr. Kline states that they will receive the most scientific treatment known and he believes that virtually all can be restored to normal health within a comparatively short time.

STRIKING COLUMBUS DAY PROCLAMATION ISSUED

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Gov. McCall yesterday afternoon issued the following Columbus day proclamation:

"Chapter 473 of the general acts of the year 1910 provides in order 'To commemorate the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus, the 12th day of October shall hereafter be a legal holiday and shall be known as Columbus day.'

"In view of the striking significance of the holiday the present year I deem it most fitting to direct especial attention to it by a proclamation. There are few anniversaries in human history which make a stronger appeal. It recalls the courage and faith of the great admiral who could not be deterred by the ridicule of his associates nor daunted by the terrors of unknown seas."

"It suggests the enrichment of human life which was made possible by the revelation to the peoples of Europe of a vast new continent, fitted to be the home of great nations and where the genius of mankind could develop free from the trammels of those political and social traditions which weighed upon the life of the old world."

"Columbus day, always so significant, was never more so than in the present year. On the banks of the Plave and in battles fought on the heights of the Alps the countrymen of Columbus are giving new proof that the courage and steadfastness which marked his character are the heritage of the Italian people."

"In the conflict which they are waging they are supported by the states which have grown up on the continent which Columbus discovered, and which nobly illustrate in their history the great causes for which they are now contending. The hosts of our country, the veterans of Canada, the battleships of our great southern neighbor, the republic of Brazil—all alike the offspring of the new world—have added their strength to that of Italy and the other allied nations of Europe in the war for the preservation of their own existence, the maintenance of a life of ordered liberty among the nations and the spread of democratic institutions throughout the world."

AUTO LICENSES ARE RESTORED

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Oct. 4.—The highway commission has restored the automobile license of Herbert M. Smith of Lowell. Smith was involved in an accident Sept. 7 which resulted in the death of James Papalagos of Lowell. The commission found that the accident occurred without serious fault upon the part of Smith.

Arthur Sivigny of Lowell was notified that his license would be returned. He was involved in an accident August 3 in which Mary E. Brown of Lowell was killed. The commission was of the opinion that Sivigny was not to blame.

Pay Enough for Clothes

You may expect your clothes to cost more this fall than they did a year ago; but so does everything else. The main thing to consider isn't "How much do they cost?" but "How much do I get for the money?" That has always been the main thing in buying clothes anyway.

Copyright 1918 Hart Schaffner &amp; Marx

You can judge for yourself what happens to merchandise when cost of production rises. Some makers do all they can to keep the price down, with the result that the quality gets pretty bad.

Hart Schaffner & Marx make all-wool clothes; You know you're getting the value you pay for in such clothes. They offer the true economy of assured quality—

"SOLDIER QUEEN" WEPT

Queen Marie in Tears When Rumanian Army Was Demobilized by Hun Order

PARIS. — (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Queen Marie, Rumania's heroic "Soldier Queen," wept when the gallant Rumanian army was demobilized by order of the Germans, but she declared that it would not be for long, that Rumania would fight again.

The disbanding of the army of 300,000 soldiers was one of the stern measures forced upon Rumania by the terms of Germany's humiliating and uncompromising peace treaty. Emperor William of Germany gave Ferdinand of Rumania just one month in which to strip his army of all its power.

In a great open stretch of land at the foot of the rugged Carpathian mountains, not far from the Austrian frontier, the queen, accompanied by the king and the royal family, reviewed the regiments of officers and soldiers who had fought so bravely during the 18 months that Rumania faced the four formidable foes that surrounded her.

As each division passed along the line of march, there were repeated demonstrations, shouts of acclaim, and many marks of affection on the part of the troops for their beloved queen, whom they revered with a devotion almost as fervid as that shown by the French soldier for the memory of Joan of Arc.

On the way to the review every inhabitant of the villages through which the queen passed gave her a demonstration so overwhelming and spontaneous that she herself acknowledged later that it was the greatest single tribute she had received at the hands of the people since the beginning of the war. There could be no doubt even in the mind of the firmest pacifist that Rumania's fighting queen had the loyal and wholehearted support of the entire population in her struggle to stave off a humiliating peace with Germany.

As the men who had fought on the sanguinary field of Marasesti, which is the Gettysburg of Rumania, marched by, each bearing on his breast the coveted "Michael the Brave," medal for gallantry, the queen broke into tears and, turning to the king, who stood beside her, said, in a voice that betrayed deep emotion:

"What a tragedy that this magnificent army must lay down its arms! But, please God, it shall not be for long. Germany by her might and brutality may subdue, but she cannot crush the spirit and will of my soldiers. With God's help, we will fight again, and I pray that my soul will never rest until the honor of the country is vindicated before the eyes of our allies."

YANKS STUDY GERMAN
Want to Be Able to Speak Language When They Arrive in Berlin

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES IN FRANCE, (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Many American soldiers in France have taken up the study of the German language. Some say they are eager to talk to the German prisoners, and others explain that they desire to be prepared to speak German when they reach Berlin. Nearly every American company has one or more individuals who speak German, more or less, and the boys study German during spare moments. After two or three months in France many American soldiers are able to speak some French.

REV. PETER C. QUINN DIES OF PNEUMONIA

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—The Rev. Peter C. Quinn, pastor of St. Paul's church, Roxbury, for more than a year, died yesterday after a 10 days' illness with pneumonia, following an attack of influenza resulting from a cold he contracted while visiting sick parishioners.

Owing to the prevailing epidemic the funeral will be private. Requiem mass will be celebrated Saturday morning in the church, but the other arrangements have not yet been completed.

Fr. Quinn was born in Somerville. While still a child his parents moved to the west and of Boston, where young Quinn spent his boyhood days and attended the schools of that district. He became a parishioner of St. Joseph's church on Chambers street, and became acquainted with Cardinal O'Connell, who at that time was attached to that church. The friendship continued through life. He had been selected by Cardinal O'Connell a number of times to do special work in the archdiocese of Boston.

CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

Col. Gaston Spent $1856.—Other Candidates Report

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Representative J. Weston Allen of Newton yesterday filed with the secretary of state a statement of his expenditures in his unsuccessful campaign for the republican nomination for attorney general. He spent $1856, Col. William A. Gaston reports aggregate expenditures by him of $1856 in his contest for the democratic nomination for governor. The colonel reports that $1000 of this went to the democratic state committee and $250 to the Democratic club of Massachusetts.

Gov. McCall filed returns for his expenses in connection with his short-lived candidacy for United States senate. His three items are $9 for printing, $5 for telephone, correspondence, etc., and $50, which he says his manager reported he had spent for him. He adds the statement that he is advised by counsel that no return is required of him under the law because he did not file any nomination papers and was not a candidate at the primaries. But the national law is not so clear, and in order that there might be no question, he filed the return.

DR. RAND PRAISES THE CONVOY SYSTEM

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Dr. Benjamin Rand, philosophical librarian at Harvard, who has just returned from his fourth consecutive summer abroad, declares that the convoy system of guarding ships has made the high seas comparatively safe for allied craft.

"Of the numerous devices now employed to free the seas," he says, "the depth bomb used by the destroyers and airplanes is probably the most effective."

Effect of Depth Bomb
Some idea as to the power of the depth bomb may be gleaned from the following narrative of Dr. Rand: "I was standing upon the deck of a transport one day in the danger zone. The ship reeled as if it had been struck by a torpedo. Below decks the shock was even greater and there was a rush of soldiers from their quarters in the holds. Such was the effect upon a ship in a convoy of a depth bomb dropped by an American destroyer at probably a thousand yards distance. It was easy to surmise the damage done to the German submarine, the periscope of which had been sighted close by. The shell of such a craft would be smashed beyond hope of escape.

"Soon other bombs were dropped in quick succession to make sure of the U-boat's complete destruction. A year ago, before depth bombs were in general use, the American destroyer which accompanied a ship through the war zone, after discharging several shots, ran down a submarine before the enemy craft had a chance to discharge a torpedo.

Convoys Effective
"Next to the sight of the grand fleet, which I visited last year, my wonder and admiration were evoked by scenes witnessed in the protection of a convoy of troopships. It is due to the effectiveness of such protection that only one troopship and a few hundred lives have been lost in the transport of more than a million and a half of American troops.

"The control of the sea is based upon the eternal vigilance and the naval superiority of the allied powers. Indeed, it may be said that the Germans are not born to the sea, and it would be impossible for such a race to become its masters."

Dr. Rand accompanied a shipload of American soldiers this summer from the port of their departure in America until they reached the front lines in France. Besides seeing the grand fleet last year, he visited the English front in Flanders.

CORSETS

Are Essentials

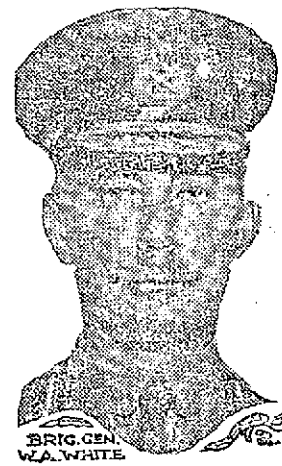

It is interesting to note that the British Minister of Munitions has ruled that corsets are essential to the health and endurance of women workers.

That a properly fitted corset is as essential to health and comfort, as it is for a modish, graceful figure, makes its selection highly important. Recognizing this, our corsetieres have provided models for every figure and every purpose—and will assist you in determining your individual requirement.

The Power Behind the Tank is America's determination to see it through

To win is a Yankee trick. Never in the pages of history has America known defeat. Always, as now, the invisible and invincible power of Right has been with us.

Oh yes, America will see it through!

We are a Nation of Americans, not *American's

Think what that boy of yours is doing "over there." Think how much more he's going to do when he knows that over here you are doing your share.

Did he run or tremble at his call to duty? Oh no, that is not an American's way. He went right into the thick of the fight with a smile on his face and a song on his lips. Yes, that boy of yours is an American all the way through. You're proud of your boy? Make him proud of you.

"NOT A NATION" By Lucy Jeanne Price

They said that we were not a nation:
Just a medley from various lands;
No national heart and no national soul;
With no hope and no wish to join hands.

Then the word blared forth to the country:
"Close ranks! For the flag of us all!"
And the faith that brought us together
Shone out at the Colors' call.

One cry came back from the people,
From Latin and Norman and Slav:
"America! Freedom is threatened!
"Take all that we are and have."
"We know what we sought when we came here;

"What we're working for, every one,
"And that work has bound us together,
"It will hold 'till eternity's done."
"We give you our lives and our dollars;

"We will work; we will fight; we will die;
"For the faith that has builded a nation
"From the four winds of earth, and the sky."

STRIKE TAKEN TO COURT

2500 Buffalo Carmen Quit—
Car Paralysis Will Continue Four Days

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 4.—The strike of 2500 employees of the International Railway company, which has completely tied up the city and interrupted street car system along the Niagara frontier, was taken to court yesterday afternoon.

The indications last night were that the court process would require at least four days, and that in the meantime the paralysis of street car traffic would continue. Not a car moved yesterday on any branch of the system.

The court proceedings were begun by Ledyard P. Hale, chief counsel for the public service commission. Under mandamus Justice Marcus issued an order requiring the International to show cause why it should not give the car service as required by its franchise.

BULGARIA ASKED AID OF PRESIDENT WILSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Stephen Parnicoff, the Bulgarian minister, yesterday made public the text of the message from his government asking the good offices of the United States in obtaining an armistice. The message was delivered to Secretary Lansing last Monday, just after news of the signing of the armistice between the allies and Bulgaria had reached the state department. The text, signed by Premier Malineff, is as follows:

"Kindly transmit to the president of the United States and to the secretary of state, Mr. Lansing, in Washington, the following:

"The Bulgarian nation and government were constrained to enter into the general conflict after they had exhausted all peaceful means possible for coming to an understanding with their neighbors and for realizing their race reunion. This fact Bulgaria reiterated in her note of Sept. 20 last in answer to the peace proposition of Count Burian, given out on Sept. 14.

"If the ideas of the president of the United States are crowned with success and if their realization is that sought for, no more in the old conception of methods of action, but in the path pointed out by the honored president of the American republic for the establishment of a new order of things guaranteeing freedom and justice among the nations, Bulgaria, which feels that the idea and the cause for which she is struggling find place side by side with the principles in behalf of which America interfered in this war, is glad and ready to follow that path in order to secure the fulfillment of justice desired by her.

"Having this in view, therefore, the Bulgarian government turns to the friendly president of the republic of the United States with the request that

Gas in the Stomach Is Dangerous

Recommend Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart. It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisulphate of Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and heat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid, and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisulphate of Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion. For sale at Liggett's Fike-Jaynes' drug store and other leading druggists.—Adv.

WHY WE DO THIS

Never in the history of New England has such a distinctive, dignified and high-grade publicity contest been offered, especially emanating from one of the largest exclusive Piano Houses in the East. The fact that this far-reaching publicity contest is launched by this old established concern stamps it immediately as one of the squarrest propositions ever offered, and its magnitude precludes any possibility of legitimate criticism. It is a well-known fact that high-grade advertising is the life of up-to-date business methods in any line of commercialism. We want the good people of this vicinity to better know Lord & Co., their fine pianos and their many saving facilities to the buyer. We want to increase our sales this year, and for this purpose we have set aside a large fund for advertising purposes, to bring this house to the attention of every home, old and new.

It is a well-known fact that high-grade advertising is the life of up-to-date business methods in any line of commercialism. We want the good people of this vicinity to better know Lord & Co., their fine pianos and their many saving facilities to the buyer. We want to increase our sales this year, and for this purpose we have set aside a large fund for advertising purposes, to bring this house to the attention of every home, old and new.

Never in the history of New England has such a distinctive, dignified and high-grade publicity contest been offered, especially emanating from one of the largest exclusive Piano Houses in the East. The fact that this far-reaching publicity contest is launched by this old established concern stamps it immediately as one of the squarrest propositions ever offered, and its magnitude precludes any possibility of legitimate criticism. We are taking this means to reward you for your work in placing our name before the piano purchasing public of New England, to celebrate the instantaneous success of our new 1918 Models of Grand Player-Pianos and Upright Pianos. See that your answer is mailed or brought to our store.

YOU WILL BE NOTIFIED OF YOUR SUCCESS

All piano manufacturers and dealers have different ways of advertising. Some employ great artists, some use expensive magazine advertising, while others use teachers to persuade people to buy, paying them commissions. We, however, believe that the best advertising is a satisfied customer.

REMEMBER! This Contest Positively Closes Friday, October 11th, at 5 P. M. RUSH YOUR ANSWERS!

Gas in the Stomach Is Dangerous

Recommend Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart. It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisulphate of Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and heat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid, and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisulphate of Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion. For sale at Liggett's Fike-Jaynes' drug store and other leading druggists.—Adv.

ment were constrained to enter into the general conflict after they had exhausted all peaceful means possible for coming to an understanding with their neighbors and for realizing their race reunion. This fact Bulgaria reiterated in her note of Sept. 20 last in answer to the peace proposition of Count Burian, given out on Sept. 14.

"If the ideas of the president of the United States are crowned with success and if their realization is that sought for, no more in the old conception of methods of action, but in the path pointed out by the honored president of the American republic for the establishment of a new order of things guaranteeing freedom and justice among the nations, Bulgaria, which feels that the idea and the cause for which she is struggling find place side by side with the principles in behalf of which America interfered in this war, is glad and ready to follow that path in order to secure the fulfillment of justice desired by her.

"Having this in view, therefore, the Bulgarian government turns to the friendly president of the republic of the United States with the request that

ONE BARREL OF FLOUR LIMIT TO HOMES

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—A. C. Ratschsky, assistant food administrator for Massachusetts, in response to many inquiries from housekeepers who desire to buy flour in quantities greater than the 24½ pound limit, which was until recently the allotment for a family, yesterday announced that the restrictions by which the dealers are limited to a two months' supply of flour are not imposed on consumers.

"As much as a barrel may be bought by a family," he said. "As to the amount of flour which may be purchased," said Mr. Ratschsky, "the administration has preferred to set no hard and fast limit. It requests only that consumers should purchase in moderate amounts consistent with economy of delivery, and should in every case use at least one pound of substitutes with each four pounds of flour.

"The prohibition against hoarding means that people should not accumulate more than they have been accustomed to in peace times. In order to prevent speculation and the withholding of vital supplies from us, it has been necessary to limit all dealers to a two months' supply, but this limit does not apply strictly to householders. They may buy a barrel, with the necessary substitutes, at a time, but should not buy more unless the establishment is a very large one.

"More important than ever now is economy in the use of flour. The crop of 1917 was exhausted almost to the last bushel before the new harvest became available, but the present prospects are that, if the American people live strictly up to the 80-20 program, and, in addition, make the usual amount of cornbread, with little, if any, wheat flour, there will be a margin of safety to carry over against a possible shortage in the next crop."

At the conclusion of the reception, he greeted each woman, expressing his appreciation of her visit.

SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE

The directors of the Lowell Social Service League, Inc., held their regular monthly meeting at the office, 81 Merrimack street, Wednesday, Oct. 2, at 4.30 p. m., with Judge Fisher presiding. Reports of the September work were received, showing the varied problems referred to the league concerning people of different races, different sections of the city and different paths in life. Three directors were named to serve with four other members of the organization to nominate directors. The annual meeting of the league will be held Wednesday, Oct. 9, at 4.30 p. m.

They came to express their thanks for his address to the senate earlier in the week and for all his efforts toward adoption of the woman suffrage constitutional amendment resolution.

What he said will not be printed because the gathering was private and it was generally understood that his remarks were not to be given out, but it can be said that he expressed his views of the senate's rejection of the resolution in terms which have attracted the world's attention to his rhetoric.

Giant Efforts of Enemy to
Tide of Battle

Germans Are Fighting With
Along the Western Front

LONDON, Oct. 4.—News from all sectors of the western front tells of giant efforts by the enemy to stem the daily advancing tide of battle. The Germans are putting in their best troops and according to all reports are fighting with the energy of desperation. Still there is not a sign of any great retreat, except the withdrawal in the Flanders sector, where the British have occupied Armentieres and Lens and are closely pressing the retreating enemy. The recapture of the great French coal region affords great satisfaction here.

In the Sequehart-Bony sector the allied breach in the Hindenburg system was extended today and the fighting reached the outskirts of Mont Brehan, where Australian units with tanks are operating. The importance the Germans attach to the retention of this portion of the line is indicated by the Frankfort Gazette, which states that in order to prevent a frontal break-through between Cambrai and St. Quentin, General Von Boehm's army has been made so strong that it is equivalent to a complete army group. The Gazette declares "there is danger along the whole western front."

It cannot be long before an important enemy retreat from the Hindenburg line is bound to happen, according to the universal military opinion here. In the meantime the Germans are putting forth enormous efforts. They are counter attacking heavily and the battle is swaying back and forth in deadly grapple.

NON-ESSENTIAL INDUSTRIES

That many Lowell men and women who are now engaged in some of the various non-essential industries will soon become part of the country's munitions organization, is the belief of Cornelius F. Cronin, the local "help wanted" man. Mr. Cronin further states, according to directions recently issued to him, that in his opinion the government intends to increase the munition output, and to this end, every available man and woman will be expected to do their bit.

In some cities a census of men and women not engaged in what is essentially war work has already been begun. The reason for this seems to be that the government has begun to prepare for the time when thousands of munition workers will be inducted into the service, and when it will be necessary to know just where others who can take their places may be found.

PAUL J. HARTLEY
MADE SERGEANT

Word has been received by relatives of Paul J. Hartley, formerly of 15 Floyd street, that he has been promoted to sergeant since arriving "over there."

Sergeant Hartley left Lowell in September, 1917, with the second quota from Division 3 for Camp Devens. Later he was transferred to Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga., where he was promoted to corporal. He sailed overseas with his unit, Co. M, 325th Infantry, in April, and received his second promotion during the summer. In a letter recently received here, Sergeant Hartley says that nothing that has been written gives a real idea of the fearlessness, bravery and courage of the American boys.

Sergeant Hartley was formerly foreman for the Sharp Ice Cream Co. in Lowell. A younger brother, Joseph E. Hartley, enlisted last December in the Quartermaster Corps and is now in France.

LOWELL SOLDIER
WOUNDED IN ACTION

Private Aubrey Major Bearsto, Fifth Canadian Regiment of 27 Penn avenue, this city, was wounded Sept. 29 while in action in France, according to information which has been received by his wife. The wounds are in the head and are due to gunshot.

Private Bearsto enlisted in the Canadian forces last January in Lowell and after preliminary training in Canada, went overseas in February. He is 24 years old and had previously been employed as a coal teamster for the Lowell Co-operative Co. Besides his wife, Edith, he has a small child.

Mrs. Bearsto received a letter from her husband a week ago in which he said that his unit had been busy in combat with the Huns.

You'll be surprised to know that macaroni can have such a delightful taste if you use Warner's Macaroni.

Besides its appealing flavor it is the most wholesome and healthful macaroni you can buy.

Warner's MACARONI

Made pure and clean from finest Durum wheat in a modern factory. Its yellow color is the gluten in the grain and denotes unusual quality.

Warner's is a superior macaroni that costs you no more than other brands. Ask your grocer for it.

The U. S. Food Administration has permitted the return to normal conditions in the manufacture of macaroni, therefore, there is no further need of abstinence in its use.

PAYNE WHITNEY
ENLISTS IN ARMY

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Payne Whitney, of this city, a son of the late William C. Whitney, secretary of the navy under President Cleveland, and a younger brother of Henry Payne Whitney, has enlisted as a private in the army and will report at Camp Lee, Va., next week.

Mr. Whitney is a director of many banks and trust companies here. He was graduated from Yale in 1898, and from Harvard Law school in 1901.

FRENCH SOON TO GET

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The German retreat from the Hindenburg line was in full swing yesterday, according to French, Belgian and British thrusts at vital points. While official reports told only of the evacuation of Armentieres and Lens, officers here confidently expected that this phase of the withdrawal must be expanded to the south under the threat of the British push northeastward from their lines between the Scarpe and Cambrai.

With the evacuation of Lens, the enemy's hold on the great coal region of northern France is loosened. Nothing has been received as yet to show whether the mines have been fired, but it is regarded as certain that during the years of German occupation the great fuel storehouses below the surface have been worked to the limit.

As evidence of the complete confidence with which the allied leaders have viewed the future ever since it became certain that the United States would succeed in getting a great army to France for the fighting this year, it is now known that re-occupation of the Lens coal fields has been definitely agreed on for some months in computing fuel needs and supplies. There also are indications that American coal-mining units, equipped with the most up-to-date machinery, even with the means of fighting possible fire in the workings will be ready to enter the mines as rapidly as the armistice force the enemy beyond them. General Pershing's forces, no doubt, will get some part of their coal this winter from this source, relieving the shipping situation to an extent.

The force that compelled the German leaders to order the evacuation of the Lens-Armentieres front, undoubtedly, in military opinion here, was the wholly unexpected rush in Belgium in which the Belgian army itself, under command of its soldier-king, formed the spearhead that broke the way for swift expansion of the victory by French and British forces. There appears to be little doubt now that King Albert will be able to re-establish his capital on Belgian soil this winter, although officers here are unwilling to predict as yet just how far the enemy will be forced back. Much depends on the weather.

Standing on the flank of the German communication system from Armentieres to the immediate vicinity of Courriel Gen. Plumer's 2d British army is now believed to hold the key to a wide stretch of territory now in enemy hands. The wide, but rather shallow pocket which is forming between this line along the Lys river and the British forces just beyond the Scarpe to the south includes the most thickly settled area through which the battle lines pass on any part of the front and the numerous towns and villages offer the enemy great opportunity for slow withdrawal and the machine gun rear guard action.

The evacuation of Lens foreshadows the early fall of Donat, already closely pressed from the south. It is now clear that the grand strategy of Marshal Feoh contemplated pinching the enemy out of the whole Lille-Donat sector and the abnormal quiet that has prevailed along the Lens front up to now is explained. The supreme commander is today realizing the full success of that plan.

SAID HE WAS A
GOVERNMENT AGENT

Mrs. Tessie O'Brien of 399 Worthen street was very much mystified yesterday afternoon, when she received a visit from an unknown stranger in civilian attire, who represented himself as a government agent and informed her that her son, who is serving with the American forces overseas, would arrive home this Saturday. The unknown showed a badge and stated that he came from Washington. He also told her that her son would receive his discharge papers soon after his return.

Mrs. O'Brien has had no reason to believe that her son was on his way back and is inclined to think that this obliging gentleman with his government connections is very much of a fraud. Although his purpose does not seem clear, it is a safe assumption that the government is not using this means to give out information.

ANOTHER WILSON COUP

It was through President Wilson that the united command was forced upon the allied powers and without which they never could have beaten Germany.

The president has now succeeded in bringing about a similar pooling of the resources of the allies in food, money, ships, raw materials and munitions. It had come to light that there was wasteful competition going on among several of these powers in the matter of raw material and that in other cases, there might have been a great saving as for example in the use of shipping and transportation agencies by having a central body to determine first, the needs of the various belligerents, and second, the general resources at command to meet those needs. Thus there will be perfect co-ordination of effort by the associated governments so as to furnish centralized control in the inter-allied councils covering war, shipping, munitions, food, finance.

These are intended to deal with the economic and industrial phases of the war so that each power may be benefited wherever necessary by the resources of all the others and that there shall be no waste of effort due to duplication in the various allied nations. If England furnishes a surplus of aeroplanes, under the new arrangement, they will be shared with other belligerents who cannot make them such as Belgium and Italy. If the United States turns out long range guns more readily than any of the other powers, these guns may be distributed along the various fronts wherever General Foch may advise. If the United States has a surplus of wheat, of sugar or other foodstuffs, these will be allotted among the other belligerents according to their respective needs. So with raw materials, ships and money. It might be supposed that the United States would be the loser by such an arrangement, but such is not the case. There are many necessary war materials that the United States can get more readily from the other powers than by having them shipped across the ocean. In this way too, the available tonnage may be used for other essential purposes.

Just as the united command enabled the allies to produce better results so this arrangement will enable them to make the best possible use of their industrial and economic resources so as to keep all the powers firmly in line and prevent any from weakening or flinching reasons for making a separate peace.

This arrangement is one of the most far-sighted and statesmanlike yet proposed in the war. It offers a degree of security that could be reached in no other way. It is another of those very brilliant moves by which President Wilson has proved himself to be the leading statesman and the most accomplished executive of the entire world.

GERMANY MUST PAY

In view of the fact that Germany is burning all the cities and towns she is forced to evacuate, it is proposed that the allies shall pledge themselves to take reprisals by destroying an equal number of German cities and towns of like importance. That would be one method of punishing Germany for her ruthless destruction; but it would be repulsive to the allies to commit such deliberate destruction in a spirit of revenge. Why not notify Germany that for any future ruthlessness of this kind, she will be held strictly accountable at the final reckoning at the end of the war, and made to pay in territory if not in money? Belgium, France and other nations that have suffered from this fiendish ruthlessness authorized by Germany, should be compensated for their loss by Germany. How long will it require the Germans to make reparation for the devastation they have spread wherever they went in France and Belgium?

Death to the Kaiser would be a slight punishment for all the crimes he has authorized; but if he be not put to death, he should at least be consigned to prison for the remainder of his miserable life. The treatment accorded Napoleon in St. Helena would be too good for him; but there can be no real return in Germany while there is a single shred of the Hohenzollern dynasty left. It must be swept away so that the German people may be free to work out their own national destiny.

For them the new freedom will come as a heavenly gift, releasing them from the bondage of militarism and the perditional slaughter resulting from the wars precipitated by the ambition of the Prussian war lords for extending their domain.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE

We expect that the question of woman suffrage will come up soon again in the United States senate and that then the amendment will be carried. It is somewhat surprising that the senators should hold out against the appeal of the president for the passage of the amendment as a war measure. The opposition may be divided into three classes. The first comes from the south, where there is an honest prejudice against enfranchising colored women. The second is largely located in New England where some of the senators hold that suffrage is a matter that should be dealt with separately by the states, and that the federal action proposed would be an infringement upon state rights. The remainder of the opposition is based upon the republican assumption that President Wilson is influenced by political motives in coming out in favor of the amendment at this time. This view is taken by the hide-bound republicans who are incapable of seeing anything higher than political trickery in the president's war policies. It should be plain enough that to make the work safe for democracy, the nations engaged in that undertaking, should set a worthy example of democracy in the administration of their own governmental affairs. England has granted woman suffrage as a matter of justice to women who are now very largely engaged in doing the work formerly done by men. For the same reason President Wilson believes that the women of the United States should be granted the right to vote on political questions same as the men.

It is to be hoped that after a little illuminating discussion, there will be a sufficient number of the opposing senators converted to the suffrage side to make the necessary two-thirds vote and thus pass the amendment. If it were submitted to the country, it would probably be carried in every state of the union.

PRICE OF SHOES

The government hereafter will fix the price of shoes throughout the country. The price limit will be from $3 to $12. It seems that in some parts of the country the price of shoes had reached the extraordinary figure of $20. To prevent profiteering of this kind, the government has stepped in to control the prices and when the new price schedule takes effect the lowest price at which shoes can be sold, even on the bargain counter, will be $3, while the highest cannot exceed $12. Between these limits there is latitude enough to suit almost everybody.

Most people thought the government would seize the packing houses in order to control the meat supply, but apparently there is some good reason for holding off on this step. The prices of meat, butter and eggs have begun to soar and before winter is over they will have gone beyond the ability of the average citizen to pay.

THE LOAN

The Liberty loan campaign is progressing steadily and the various agencies at work have no reason to be discouraged. Many of the states have already completed their allotted quota but the Bay State is not in that distinguished category. Usually in such campaigns there is a perceptible lull after the boom of the opening guns has died away, but in a few days, the enthusiasm will again come to the front with encouraging results. This is a campaign in which everybody who can spare the money should subscribe. It is a patriotic duty that devolves upon every man and woman to buy bonds to the extent of their financial ability. In this way alone can a complete victory be won by exceeding the allotted quota before the end of the campaign.

WILL STAND BY LONG

It is in order to commend the loyalty of Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan to the democratic party as shown by his course in turning to support the democratic nominee, Mr. Richard H. Long, although in the primaries he fought vigorously and confidently for Col. Gaston. Were he a mere selfish wire-puller, he would sulk in his tent and vote for the republican candidate, but Mr. O'Sullivan is not that kind of a democrat. He has pledged his loyal support to Mr. Long during the campaign so that the hopes of the Boston Herald and some other republican agencies for a democratic split in Lowell will thus be frustrated. There is no reason why Mr. Long should not carry Lowell by a sweeping majority.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

The nearest that the boyhood "crime" of defacing a perfectly respectable brick wall by drawing chalk pictures on it, ever came to be excusable, in my opinion, is in the examples of "boy art" to be seen on some of the brick walls here in our city. First the boy artist has lathered—and goodness only knows when he could do it without being seen—this legend, "Boy bonds and swat the . . . . Then comes a long line directing the eye of the passerby down to where the artist has drawn a picture unmistakably German in all its features, and a pretty good likeness at that. To complete his effort, the boy always draws a loop coming out of the German's mouth and inside the loop you read, "The world is mine." I noted three or four of these brick wall drawings on Bridge street yesterday.

I watched a crap game over at First street dump Wednesday afternoon and more than anything else, I hope the woman who now has charge of the Lowell Boys' club, in the absence of her husband who is fighting for his country in France, and the man who is in charge of the boys' department at the Y.M.C.A. will read what is described here. Among others responsible, I regard it as being up to these two persons in particular, to get after these boys and, in the manner known to, and the art practiced by experts who thoroughly understand boy nature, take such measures as will head these boys away from the path that leads towards their being arrested as petty gamblers in future years and having their parents visiting this office to see if The Sun will keep the boys' names out of the paper after they have appeared in police court.

There were five boys in the party, all good and intelligent American boys and I probably wasn't their fault that they could find nothing better to do than shoot craps on the dump field that afternoon. First I learned that it is their habit to visit the dump in-self, all five of them, and hunt for brass cartridge shells. They make a long and diligent hunt for these, as cartridge shells, being brass, represent a money value of from 10 to 15 cents a pound and can be converted into cash at the junk man's. Of course it is self evident that while they are looking for empty and discarded cartridge shells on the dump they are exposed to whatever disease germs may be lurking among the city's refuse deposited there. But these boys had pennies to put down in the crap game and I noticed they played it as if they were experts. It seems a little vigilance on the part of the parents, the police or somebody else might turn these boys to some form of amusement that would not lead directly to the gambling habit.

I have noticed that many autoists making the mistake of driving up Wilder street, after passing the intersection of that street and Broadway, in the past two weeks have found that they had to turn around and retrace their way back to Broadway. The reason for this, I learn is, that although the Wilder street bridge has been under repair for some time, and at the present stage is unsafe for travel, there has been no move as yet to post a "bridge closed" sign at the nearby corner, which would save much inconvenience. The contractor or somebody else has evidently slipped up on this little matter of detail.

"SMILEAGE" SENT BUDDY WILL TICKLE HIM

WASHINGTON, October 4.—Seats for the shows cost from 15 to 50 cents, and in order that the families and friends of the men in service as well as the theatrical profession may help to make camp life pleasant "smileage" has been instituted—those books of coupons costing $1 or $5 which may be bought in almost any community in America and sent to the man in camp where he presents them for admission at the Liberty Theatre.

Two of the recent calls for smileage come from Lieutenant Elmer McFadden, chaplain of the 14th Field Artillery at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, who states that there are 150 men in his regiment deserving smileage; and from the Red Cross director at Camp Greene, who asks that 4000 smileage books be sent for distribution to convalescent soldiers.

Enthusiastic over the patriotic and social service to be rendered, the Tobacco Salesmen's Association of America is conducting an elaborate smileage drive in New York City, under the

News From Camp Devens

SPANISH INFLUENZA CASES DROP

AT CAMP DEVENS—ONLY 55 NEW CASES REPORTED

CAMP DEVENS, Oct. 4.—Grippe epidemic deaths in camp hospitals dropped to 14 yesterday, a decrease of 19 as compared with the last official report. Medical officers now believe they have the situation well under control.

Pneumonia developed in 25 soldiers in the hospitals and 53 new cases of influenza were reported for treatment. New Englanders on the official death list yesterday were Joan E. Clonston, Winston, Vt.; Thomas E. Moses, Fitchburg; Edward B. Wilson, Peabody; Karl R. Milliken, Dorchester; (Gideon F. Roy, Winslow, Me.; Arvid C. Johnson, Monson, Me.; Arthur W. Ashby, East Machias, Me.; Leslie J. Wright, South Pomfret, Vt.; George W. Knight, Carmel, Me.; Dennis Hogan, New Britain, Conn.; Verdi E. Whitcomb, Bethlehem, N. H.; Amel Hassan, Providence, R. I.; William Hussey, West Ossipee, N. H.; John G. Ladd, South Brookville, Me.; Michele Fumarella, Fairhaven, Vt.

British Officer Weds

Capt. Willowby de W. H. Bradley, ordered to England to join his regiment, the 3d Wiltshires, hastened to Brookline to wed Miss Elizabeth Clark, whom he won in a courtship during his station here as gas defense instructor. Miss Clark was a visitor at the Maj. Willard house and was introduced to the British officer by the hostess at the Willard.

Capt. Bradley was attended by his British comrades here, Maj. Day and Hodson and Capt. Clark, Stevenson and Finch, members of the military mission. Capt. Bradley's home is Bristol Grange, Bristol, Wiltshire. He wears the star of 1914 decoration, was gassed once, and once wounded.

The Browning heavy machine gun classes opened yesterday on the combat range for the officers and non-coms, who will later serve as instructors. The guns worked perfectly at a short range of 30 yards and made a louder noise than the other type of machine gun.

Maj. Gen. McCalm witnessed an assault on a strong point yesterday by a combatant platoon trained under direction of Col. George L. Byrns. The bombers, grenadiers, riflemen and scouts wore red, yellow, blue and green brassards to distinguish each specialist.

Believe Widow in Error

Although officers at division headquarters wish to wait for a comparison of the finger prints on record at the surgeon general's office, Washington, of Private Horace D. Stringer of Plymouth, and those taken from the body sent to Plymouth for burial, there appears to be little chance that the remains were other than of this private. Mrs. Stringer was at her husband's bedside when he died and he was the only one to die in his ward within four hours. His charged appearance is attributed to the mistake of his widow in believing the wrong body had been forwarded.

Maj. Harrison M. Duffill of Boston, assistant division quartermaster, went to Washington to attend the Army War college staff officers' course. He will rejoin the division later.

Two additional blankets issued to soldiers will be rolled in a poucho and looped over the pack, this method having been approved at an inspection this noon. Maj. Gen. McCalm, Brig. Gen. Woodward and staff, and field officers, inspected pack arrangements demonstrated by 50 soldiers.

TO SUSPEND THE PUBLICATION OF THE HARVARD CRIMSON

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 4.—The Harvard Crimson, a daily paper, published by the undergraduates at Harvard university, announced in today's issue that publication would be suspended under the present management. The decision followed an order from Col. Charles A. Williams, commanding officer of the Student Army Training Corps prohibiting members of that organization from having any connection with a college publication. All but two of the Crimson's staff plan to become members of the military unit. It was announced that efforts will be made to resume publication later under conditions compatible with Col. Williams' order.

The Illustrated, a monthly, will also suspend after one issue, it was stated. The Lampoon, a bi-monthly, and the Advocate, plan to continue.

ENFORCE ORDER CLOSING ALL SALOONS IN PENN.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—Orders of the state health commissioner closing every saloon and place of amusement in Pennsylvania, were enforced today in an effort to check the spread of influenza.

Virtually every large industrial establishment in the metropolitan district of Philadelphia, one of the greatest centers of war activity in the world has been affected. Thousands of employees in the Delaware river shipyards have been stricken and more than 400 men at the great Hog Island yard alone are off duty for this reason.

Grippe Abating

of St. Patrick's church, said this afternoon that the Catholic churches would have to be closed Sunday morning but that doors and windows would be open wide so that the services will take on more or less of an outdoor atmosphere. They will be of the briefest character possible. Mayor Thompson said today that he expected the isolation hospital in Vermont avenue would be opened for influenza patients Monday morning. Everything is in readiness for the reception of patients with the exception of a few minor details. Beds were sent to the buildings today and the charwomen at city hall have volunteered their services to Mayor Thompson to get the building in shape for occupancy. Coal has been put in the basement, heating and lighting fixtures are in first rate condition and all that is needed is a word from His Honor to open the building.

The mayor said this morning that he wanted to thank the local hospitals publicly for the splendid cooperation they have given in the influenza emergency. They have postponed many surgical cases, except those where it was a matter of life and death, so that they might make more room for grippe patients. Every available inch of space has been opened up willingly by the hospital authorities and their own patronage has in many cases been overlooked in the interest of the common good.

Mayor Makes Statement

Mayor Thompson this afternoon made a statement concerning gatherings at homes where death has occurred. His Honor requests that such gatherings be confined to the immediate relatives of the deceased as a health measure in view of the present epidemic. The statement follows: "Owing to the seriousness of the health situation in Lowell at the present time, I feel it to be most important that all gatherings at homes where death has occurred be confined to the immediate relatives of the deceased. This is strictly a health measure and our health as a community is of paramount interest in these times. The board of health and all physicians agree with me in the making of this request and ask that I make it with the greatest possible emphasis. I trust that this request will be lived up to strictly until such a time as influenza disappears from this city and vicinity as a whole."

"PERRY D. THOMPSON, Mayor of Lowell."

The Red Cross

Robert F. Marden, president of the local chapter of the Red Cross, received a telegram today from James Jackson, head of the New England division, in which he suggested that school teachers be asked to act as nurses' aids during the epidemic in those communities where the schools are closed. The telegram follows:

Robert F. Marden, American Red Cross, Lowell.

Influenza situation growing where schools are closed would be a different sort from your for money must keep singing, let its voice sound loud and clear; keep the War Stamp sales a-ringing, they're the notes our men can hear; for they mean we are supporting every struggle with the toe; so the stamps must keep reporting just the news they want to know. Yes, the dollars you've been loaning have bought cannon, bombs and guns; but the War Stamps keep their growing—with your message for the Hun. And the more we help, by spending, on Thrift Stamps now and again, the sooner we'll see war's ending—hence the War Stamps shield our men. You may keep the home fires burning, you may pack your troubles tight, but 'tis savings, we are learning, that will sing the fight. So stop the war, and win it, yes, by buying War Stamps.

RICHMOND C. SNOW, United States Fuel Administration.

He leaped ahead of his guards in the passageway and ran into the trial chamber, slamming its door so hard in the faces of his pursuers that one of them was stunned. Then he scaled the iron prisoners' pen, hurried through the court room to the corridor and there, walking calmly to the street, through throngs of persons going in and out of the building, down a long flight of steps at the main entrance and disappeared.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.—The regular meeting announced for this evening at the First Baptist church will not take place and all services at this church announced for Sunday will also be omitted.

ARE YOU GOING DEAF? DO YOU Gasp For Breath?

Our specialty is treating deafness and head noises and vertigo, freeing clogged nostrils and hearing loss places in the breathing tubes. We have devised twenty-eight years in the treatment of this class of ailments and now by the discovery of complete and effective treatment of deafness and head noises without using instruments in the ear tubes.

THE NEW SYSTEM Of Deafness and Bronchial Treatment by Electricity

8 Visits For $5

If you suffer with clogged nostrils, discharging nostrils, are going deaf, or have head noises, or discharging ears, or have had throat or head, stomach, or gasp for breath and suffer from these other distressing symptoms of asthma, we will be pleased to have you call at our office. It will cost you nothing for an examination, and if you begin treatment this month you will receive complete relief of all diseases of the throat, nose, ears, and sinuses of a catarrhal nature, whether the disease be in the eyes, ears, nose, throat, bronchial tubes, or stomach.

FRENCH COMPOSER HEAD OF BOSTON SYMPHONY

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Henri Rabaud, a distinguished French composer and musician, has accepted the conductorship of the Boston Symphony orchestra for the season 1918-19. This announcement was received today by the Symphony trustees in a cablegram from the Ministry of Fine Arts in Paris, which said also that Mr. Rabaud would sail immediately so as to be here early in November.

For the past five years, Mr. Rabaud has been one of the principal conductors of the Grand Opera in Paris and has also done much concert work. Among his orchestral compositions, the Second Symphony and "La Procession Nocturne" are regarded as works of high importance, while his operas "Marouf" and "La Fille de Roland" have had much success.

BUY THRIFT AND WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Lowell people are still buying thrift and war savings stamps, as the figures for the month of September will show. During that time the post office reports sales to the amount of $5,375.40. This makes the grand total for the year very close to the half-million mark, $455,104.40 being the exact amount to Oct. 1.

The figures for September are slightly below those of the preceding month, when $52,214.38 was recorded for the month's work. James F. Owens, chairman of the Lowell W. S. S. committee, speaking in regard to this falling off, said: "September is usually a dull month in all lines of business, due probably to so many people being on their vacations. I think we shall eclipse these figures during the month of October. With the glorious news of our boys' splendid successes coming daily to us over the wires, I think we will all be found ready and willing to see that the government does not lack funds to keep them well clothed and fed, as they go forward over there for freedom and democracy."

"I hope that the local W. S. S. clubs, of which we have several in the industrial and munition plants throughout the city, will bear in mind that Uncle Sam depends on them for steady, definite results, and that they will continue to carry on the work with increasing success, to the end that Lowell can hold up its head with other cities when the final results shall be counted."

Some of Lowell's suburban neighbors are proving that they are behind Uncle Sam in his W. S. S. campaign. The figures for the current year up to Sept. 1 for some of the towns adjoining this city are as follows: Chelmsford, $23,047.34; Westford, $17,659.38; Tyngsboro, $2,964.54; Pawtucket, $2,964.54.

You may keep the home fires burning, you may pack your troubles tight, but our soldiers' safe returning needs a different sort from your for money must keep singing, let its voice sound loud and clear; keep the War Stamp sales a-ringing, they're the notes our men can hear; for they mean we are supporting every struggle with the toe; so the stamps must keep reporting just the news they want to know. THIS INGENUOUS SLEUTH CAPTURES THEM WITH A SMILE

THIS INGENUOUS SLEUTH CAPTURES THEM WITH A SMILE

You could tell, couldn't you, that she's not a detective by merely looking at her? Detectives are mysterious, stern-looking persons who always wear their suspiciousness on their features, as every law breaker knows. That's what has fooled many of them about Miss Adeleene Myternan, ingenious sleuth in the Pacific coast immigration service, who ferrets out illegal entrants and enemy aliens coming into port. She disarms and captures them with a smile. Sherlock Holmes and Tired Watson were really very crude workmen in the realm of credulity.
